Governor's Tax Program Whittled By Compromise

Corporation Levy Latest To Get Slash

Nipped From 96 To 64 Million Before Passage By Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Compromise has whittled the big tax program now roaring through the Legislature to the point it will fall some 42 million dollars below Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's goal.

The latest compromise cut the proposed tax increase on corporation franchises from 96 to 64 millions before the Senate passed the bill 17-15 Thursday in a surprise move.

DiSalle told newsmen he wants to review both the needs of the state and the estimates of revenue from tax increases already on the move in the Legislature. He added he isn't ready to discuss it yet, but there may be a possibility the corporation franchise tax might produce more money than originally figured.

Two of the five-member Senate contingent of rebellious Democrats broke ranks to put over the bill which has had the Senate on pins and needles for weeks. It was a ruckus over the franchise tax which brought on the lights-out rhubard a week ago Wednesday.

Senate Taxation Committee Chairman Stephen R. Olenick (D-Mahoning) reported he persuaded Sen. Julius J. Petrash (D-Cuyahoga) to compromise on the franchise tax at breakfast Thursday. Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese (D-Cuyahoga), another of the rebellious five, decided to go along with Petrash—and the deadlock on the big tax bill was broken.

Two of the mavericks held fast and joined all 13 Republicans in opposing a three-mill tax on the book-value of corporations. Present tax is one mill. Until the compromise, Senate Democratic leaders had the tax pegged at four mills. The House-approved version set the tax at two mills.

Democrats who joined the Republican opposition were Sens. Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry and Ray T. Miller Jr. of Cleveland. The fifth rebel, Sen. John J. Corrigan (D-Cuyahoga) was absent.

The quick action on the franchise tax wound up the legislative week, but next week senators probably will be confronted by another major taxation measure—the sales tax revision bill. That, after a series of compromises, is calculated to bring in 34 millions in new revenue in the next two years.

DiSalle told newsmen he is in no position to forecast the source of any more revenue to meet the

Concession Over Berlin Due By Reds

May Recognize West Right To Maintain Garrisons In City

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko reportedly has hinted in secret talks that the Soviet Union may be willing to concede the rights of the Western allies to maintain their military garrisons in West Berlin indefinitely.

This is said to be one reason why U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other top Allied diplomats persist in thinking the Big Four conference may yet produce an East-West agreement on Berlin leading to a summit meeting.

The unguarded, underlying optimism apparently was not shaken by Gromyko's flat refusal Thursday to begin detailed negotiations to insure the free flow of Western traffic between West Berlin and West Germany.

The Western ministers asked for a guarantee of free access to West Berlin as a test of Soviet willingness to reach a compromise agreement in the Berlin crisis.

Gromyko said he would give the requested assurance if the West agreed to convert West Berlin into a demilitarized free city — a proposal the Western Allies have rejected because it would leave West Berlin defenseless.

The foreign ministers interrupted their informal private negotiations today for another of the formal, speechmaking sessions which have served mainly as propaganda forums.

Gromyko requested the formal meeting. Western diplomats speculated that he was marking time, waiting for instructions from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on what if any concessions to make to the West.

The development which seems to have impressed the Western ministers most during the week-long series of secret meetings has been that Gromyko talked at times as if the present Western position in Berlin might be maintained.

One highly placed informant said Gromyko showed some flexibility which did not appear in earlier public debates. He engaged in discussions, this informant said, which clearly implied that Moscow might agree on terms not yet indicated "to the maintenance of all Western rights in Berlin."

For Iron Grip On Policy

Adenauer Changes Mind, Will Stay As Chancellor

BONN, Germany (AP) — Konrad Adenauer Thursday night reversed his decision to step upstairs to West Germany's largely honorary presidency and decided to keep his iron grip on the country's policy by carrying on as chancellor.

Adenauer called an emergency meeting today of members of Parliament from his Christian Democrat Party to tell them of his surprise decision. A stormy session was indicated.

The 83-year-old government chief apparently changed his plans because he could not dictate his successor as chancellor. He favored quiet, unassuming Finance Minister Franz Etzel but a majority of the party supported the more aggressive Ludwig Erhard, who as vice chancellor and economic minister guided West Germany's amazing postwar recovery.

Erhard, now visiting the United States, was "most surprised" by Adenauer's change of plans and declined comment, a spokesman at the German embassy in Washington said.

"He just hasn't got enough information to make any comments," an aide explained. But Erhard reportedly had no intention of cutting short his visit to the United States and hurrying home.

The Christian Democrats' chief parliamentary whip, Will Rasner, said that Adenauer decided to stay as chancellor because he felt he could not be replaced as the government leader during the present international situation.

Some of Adenauer's followers openly grumbled that they could not figure out what new international factors had arisen to call for his abrupt about-face.

Only last week Adenauer had said he had no intention of reversing his decision to seek the presidency. He also said he hadn't decided on a successor but would pick one in full cooperation with his followers.

The opposition Socialists heaped scorn on the whole affair. They said it showed how mixed up the Christian Democrats were about the succession to Adenauer.

Warns Government Faces Trouble

Ike Soon May Ask Boost In Rate Ceiling On Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says the government will be in trouble if it can't compete for money with realistic interest rates.

His comments added fuel to speculation that he soon may ask Congress for an increase in the interest rate ceiling on government bonds.

Fatter interest rates would make U.S. bonds more attractive in the tight money market.

In an extemporaneous talk Thursday to members of the Society of Business Magazine Editors, the President said:

"In this time of great prosperity, every kind of economic activity is seeking new money.

America — the federal government — has to compete in the market place on selling our bonds which have to be sound."

He added: "If the United States government is not to be in a position to compete with every business and every worthwhile economic activity for money in managing our 285 billion dollar debt, we are going to be in trouble, particularly if we are denied the right to bid on a business basis —that is at realistic interest rates."

The present interest limit of 4¼ per cent on government bonds was set in 1918. No hints have been given on what new limit might be asked — if one is asked at all.

There has been considerable speculation that the administration soon would ask higher interest rates on U.S. bonds and a higher ceiling on the national debt. Eisenhower said Wednesday at his news conference that no decision had been reached on either possibility.

A higher debt ceiling would cover foreseeable Treasury borrowings this fall when tax collections lag.

The present 288 billion dollar debt limit is temporary. Unless it is increased again, it automatically drops to 283 billion at the end of this month. There have been reports the administration will ask a new debt limit of 290 to 295 billions.

Water Plant Gets Alert For Phenol 'Taste'

The city water department was alerted Thursday afternoon in a telegram from the State Health Department at Columbus that a strong "slug" of phenol dumped into the Mahoning River at Youngstown by accident Wednesday will show up soon in the Ohio River, the main water source for most riverfront towns all the way to Cairo.

With the advance warning, the filtration plant in Klondyke will be able to treat the city's water supply with additional amounts of activated carbon — to remove the strong medicinal taste and odor it produces — and with sodium chlorite, which literally "burns" the phenol out of the water by an oxidization process.

The steps the water department will take to kill the phenol taste were described today by Chemist Donald T. Duke, who received a warning telegram yesterday from Fred H. Waring, chief sanitary engineer of the Ohio Health Department. When the strong phenol taste appears in the river here, East Liverpool will be expected to notify the State Health Department so the word can be relayed to other communities downstream.

Beaver County communities will be affected as the phenol moves toward East Liverpool. The Mahoning River empties into the Beaver River, which flows into the Ohio at Rochester - Bridgewater.

Waring's telegram advised Duke that a pipe line break at a Youngstown steel mill allowed the phenol to enter the Mahoning River. He said the concentration is 600 parts per billion, which Duke called a "strong slug." An amount as small as 50 parts per billion is strong enough to cause a strong taste in water, he added.

"Advise if and when you detect in your water supply," Waring's telegram added.

The phenol slug's movement will be comparatively slow because the river is in pool stage and its forward movement is not rapid, Duke pointed out. Combined with the chlorine normally used to treat

Flying Granddad Breaks Solo Nonstop From Africa

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The flying granddad, Max Conrad, says he learned on his record non-stop flight from Africa to California that:

"Mint tea makes me ill."

A tired but happy Conrad said it with a grin Thursday after the 56 hour 38 minute, 7,638-mile hop from Casablanca, Morocco.

But it was no joke, he admitted, when he took a swig of the tea and became nauseated over a lonely expanse of ocean near Cuba.

"I didn't take any food — only a thermos of coffee and tea," said Conrad, who makes his living delivering airplanes around the world. "The Arabs put mint in the tea and it became rancid. Boy, I was sick."

But Conrad, 56, recovered and piloted the single engine light plane into Los Angeles, via Corpus Christi and El Paso, Tex., and Phoenix, Ariz.

"I had 18 gallons of gas left and I could have made it to San Francisco," he said. "But I heard everyone was waiting for me in L.A., so I came on in."

The first thing Conrad did after taxiing his little plane across the expanse of runway was ask for a drink of water. "Oh, boy, this is good," he said, taking a long gulp.

Then he ducked into a telephone booth and broke the news of his arrival to his daughter, Molly, 21, at the family home in San Francisco. He also has six other daughters, three sons and two grandchildren.

Conrad, who made the flight as a promotion stunt for the plane's manufacturer, said the most dangerous moment was takeoff.

"The plane was loaded with 500 gallons of gas," he said. "I got it off after 4,500 feet of runway, and still had about 1,000 feet to spare. (A normally loaded plane of this type—the Piper Comanche-takes less than 1,000 feet to take off.)

He had originally set El Paso for his goal. But he continued on, far exceeding the 6,856-mile old record that W. L. (Pat) Boling set from Manila to Pendleton, Ore., in 1958.

Conrad was a band leader before he learned to fly at Denver in 1927. He is also a song writer and frequently composes while ferrying planes about the world.

"But I didn't compose any song on this flight. I usually whistle out the tune, but this time that darn tea left me too thirsty to pucker."

Mass Killer's New Date For Execution Due

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The setting of a new execution date for Charles Starkweather, admitted slayer of 11 persons, rests today with the Nebraska State Supreme Court.

The court was to be in session and Attorney General C. S. Beck planned to ask the seven judges to act swiftly in setting the new death date.

The doors of the federal courts slammed shut on Starkweather Thursday when three judges of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals turned down his appeal for a hearing on his request for a writ of habeas corpus.

The federal judges also refused to extend a stay of execution granted Starkweather May 22 so that he might bring his application before the appeals court.

His father, Guy Starkweather, who was instrumental in winning the stay of execution, said he did not know what, if anything, might be attempted next in Charles behalf.

Starkweather was convicted of first degree murder in one of the 11 slayings he has admitted. His partner on a murder tour in January, 1958, 15-year-old Caril Ann Fugate, is serving a life term for her part in the same slaying.

Weirton Boy Shot

WEIRTON — Larry Kester, 13, is in "satisfactory" condition today at the Weirton General Hospital with a gunshot wound of the left leg received when a .22-caliber pistol discharged accidentally while he was playing in the woods Thursday afternoon. Police said the youth apparently thought the pistol was empty.

Seventh Hospital Hit By New York Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)—The strike of nonprofessional employes against hospitals here spread today to a seventh, the Flower & Fifth Avenue Hospitals.

Local 1199 of the Retail Drug Employes Union posted pickets outside the hospital in upper Manhattan.

The union said that Flower & Fifth Avenue hospitals went back on a contract agreement. It said the agreement had provided for union recognition, arbitration and grievances, wage increases and a no-strike pledge.

The strike against the first six hospitals started four weeks ago in a move to win union recognition, which the hospitals refused.

The struck hospitals have continued operating with volunteer and substitute workers.

Hamilton City Council Passes Pay Tax Plan

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — City Council passed an ordinance for a one per cent city income tax Thursday night by a 4-3 vote.

The tax becomes effective Oct. 1 and repeals the present 14 per cent utility tax.

Steelworkers' Goal Is 'Fair,' Board Claims

Says Union's Policy Flexible, Reasonable In Pact Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP)—The executive board of the United Steelworkers of America says the policy of the union is to be "flexible and reasonable" in contract negotiations in the basic steel industry.

The union's goal is a "fair, equitable and honorable settlement" before the industry contract expires June 30, the 33-member board declares.

The union's position was stated in a resolution adopted unanimously at a special meeting of the board Thursday.

"There is still time to negotiate a fair settlement," a union statement said.

Negotiations are continuing here. Failure to agree on a new contract by the June 30 deadline would almost certainly bring a strike by 500,000 union members.

Industry leaders said privately that the union's emphasis on reasonableness was at odds with its demands, which they called "Astronomic."

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp., issued a statement denying that the companies might make a last-minute pay increase offer to prevent a strike.

The industry has been calling for a one-year freeze on wages and employe benefits as a step toward preventing an inflationary spiral.

The union has been demanding a substantial pay increase, which has not been specified, publicly at least. It also seeks a cut in the 40-hour work week and other benefits.

Sanitary Firm Grants IBOP General Boost

A new working agreement signed with the American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corp. provides for general pay increases and other concessions adding up to a 9-cent hourly package for employes in 6 plants, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today.

The one - year agreement, effective June 1, covers workers in American Standard plants at Tiffin, Kokomo, Ind., Torrance, Calif., Trenton, N. J., New Orleans and Toronto, Canada, the union announced.

Hourly workers will receive a 4 per cent boost based on an average of $2.10 hourly. Piece - rate workers will get an 8 - cent hourly raise. Both the hourly and piecework boosts will be applied on top of previously negotiated "inequity adjustments," which means that about 16 per cent of the hourly rates in higher brackets will be boosted from 17 to 30 cents an hour.

The contract also calls for improvements in the insurance, hospitalization and welfare programs, the IBOP announced. The health and welfare program, negotiated on a two-year basis, provides for X-ray and therapy treatment for employes and their dependents, with the company and the union dividing the cost equally. Early retirement insurance coverage is provided for workers who retire or become disabled before 65.

Meanwhile, the IBOP has opened negotiations at New Castle with officials of the Universal - Rundle Corp., another sanitary ware manufacturer, covering a health and welfare plan for the company's plants at New Castle, Camden, N. J., Relands, Calif., and Hondo, Tex. Wage contract negotiations are on separate plant levels. The present three - year contract expires on Aug. 1.

Three Boys, Two Girls

Five Named From County To Attend Forestry Camp

They are Betty Loudon of Hanoverton, Mary I. Smith of East Liverpool R. D. 2, John Isenschmid of Hanoverton R. D. 1, Sanford Hill of Lisbon R. D. 5 and Tom Rudebock of Leetonia R. D. 1.

The selections were announced by Don Myers, assistant agriculture extension agent, at the county office in Lisbon.

The East Liverpool Review and Salem News are Brush - Moore papers in Columbiana County.

Under the plan, Brush-Moore pays $25 of the $30 camp fee. Eligible youths must be between the ages of 15 and 17.

While at camp, the youngsters will learn of forest management, wood utilization, reforestration in classes and laboratory periods conducted by professional foresters and conservationists.

The camp is held annually by the Ohio Forestry Association. It promotes the interest of young people, through education in a unified multiple use of forests, development of water supplies, application of sound management and development of adequate wildlife and recreational values.

Approximately 120 young people will attend.

A competent staff includes experienced school administrators, professional foresters, board of health - approved cooks, a Red Cross-trained water front director and a resident registered nurse.

Moscow Radio Claims Talks Are Successful

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio said today the foundation for successful negotiations has been laid at the Geneva conference.

At the same time the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda suggested the next few days may decide what results can be expected from the Big Four foreign ministers meeting.

"Contrary to gloomy forecasts by certain U.S. politicians and commentators, we in the U.S.S.R. believe Geneva talks can bring positive results," Moscow radio said in an English - language broadcast.

Timber Pierces Car After Fence Collision

A 66-year-old Lisbon man missed possible death or serious injury by just 4 inches this morning when his auto left Route 30 and ploughed through a fence.

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol said Edward E. Hartford, 322 E. Lincoln Way., became dizzy while driving, losing control and veering off the highway.

The auto smashed some 84 feet of fence near the Crockery City Farms at 9:30 a. m. and a wooden beam pierced the windshield and struck the seat only four inches from where he was sitting, but he was unhurt.

Extensive damage resulted to his 1959 model auto, which came to rest in a ditch along the roadway.

Neff Accused Of Kickbacks

Former Party Head In Beaver Under Fire

HARRISBURG — Auditor General Charles C. Smith today called for the suspension of Samuel G. Neff from his state post while the Justice Department investigates State Department of Highways operations in Beaver County.

In a 55-page formal report to Gov. David Lawrence, Smith said the former Beaver County Democratic chairman solicited political contributions from highway equipment contractors.

"From all the information obtained," said the report, "it appears that Neff was the originator of the plan established whereby all persons renting equipment to the department of highways were forced to pay a minimum of 5 per cent of the gross earnings, 'ostensibly as a political contribution,' to his personal organization."

Neff, a former state senator, is manager of the state workingmen's insurance fund at a salary of about $12,000 a year. Until last year, he also served as Beaver County Democratic chairman.

Concession Over Berlin Due By Reds

May Recognize West Right To Maintain Garrisons In City

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko reportedly has hinted in secret talks that the Soviet Union may be willing to concede the rights of the Western allies to maintain their military garrisons in West Berlin indefinitely.

This is said to be one reason why U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other top Allied diplomats persist in thinking the Big Four conference may yet produce an East-West agreement on Berlin leading to a summit meeting.

The unguarded, underlying optimism apparently was not shaken by Gromyko's flat refusal Thursday to begin detailed negotiations to insure the free flow of Western traffic between West Berlin and West Germany.

The Western ministers asked for a guarantee of free access to West Berlin as a test of Soviet willingness to reach a compromise agreement in the Berlin crisis.

Gromyko said he would give the requested assurance if the West agreed to convert West Berlin into a demilitarized free city — a proposal the Western Allies have rejected because it would leave West Berlin defenseless.

The foreign ministers interrupted their informal private negotiations today for another of the formal, speechmaking sessions which have served mainly as propaganda forums.

Gromyko requested the formal meeting. Western diplomats speculated that he was marking time, waiting for instructions from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on what if any concessions to make to the West.

The development which seems to have impressed the Western ministers most during the week-long series of secret meetings has been that Gromyko talked at times as if the present Western position in Berlin might be maintained.

One highly placed informant said Gromyko showed some flexibility which did not appear in earlier public debates. He engaged in discussions, this informant said, which clearly implied that Moscow might agree on terms not yet indicated "to the maintenance of all Western rights in Berlin."

For Iron Grip On Policy

Adenauer Changes Mind, Will Stay As Chancellor

BONN, Germany (AP) — Konrad Adenauer Thursday night reversed his decision to step upstairs to West Germany's largely honorary presidency and decided to keep his iron grip on the country's policy by carrying on as chancellor.

Adenauer called an emergency meeting today of members of Parliament from his Christian Democrat Party to tell them of his surprise decision. A stormy session was indicated.

The 83-year-old government chief apparently changed his plans because he could not dictate his successor as chancellor. He favored quiet, unassuming Finance Minister Franz Etzel but a majority of the party supported the more aggressive Ludwig Erhard, who as vice chancellor and economic minister guided West Germany's amazing postwar recovery.

Erhard, now visiting the United States, was "most surprised" by Adenauer's change of plans and declined comment, a spokesman at the German embassy in Washington said.

"He just hasn't got enough information to make any comments," an aide explained. But Erhard reportedly had no intention of cutting short his visit to the United States and hurrying home.

The Christian Democrats' chief parliamentary whip, Will Rasner, said that Adenauer decided to stay as chancellor because he felt he could not be replaced as the government leader during the present international situation.

Some of Adenauer's followers openly grumbled that they could not figure out what new international factors had arisen to call for his abrupt about-face.

Only last week Adenauer had said he had no intention of reversing his decision to seek the presidency. He also said he hadn't decided on a successor but would pick one in full cooperation with his followers.

The opposition Socialists heaped scorn on the whole affair. They said it showed how mixed up the Christian Democrats were about the succession to Adenauer.

Steelworkers' Goal Is 'Fair,' Board Claims

Says Union's Policy Flexible, Reasonable In Pact Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP)—The executive board of the United Steelworkers of America says the policy of the union is to be "flexible and reasonable" in contract negotiations in the basic steel industry.

The union's goal is a "fair, equitable and honorable settlement" before the industry contract expires June 30, the 33-member board declares.

The union's position was stated in a resolution adopted unanimously at a special meeting of the board Thursday.

"There is still time to negotiate a fair settlement," a union statement said.

Negotiations are continuing here. Failure to agree on a new contract by the June 30 deadline would almost certainly bring a strike by 500,000 union members.

Industry leaders said privately that the union's emphasis on reasonableness was at odds with its demands, which they called "Astronomic."

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp., issued a statement denying that the companies might make a last-minute pay increase offer to prevent a strike.

The industry has been calling for a one-year freeze on wages and employe benefits as a step toward preventing an inflationary spiral.

The union has been demanding a substantial pay increase, which has not been specified, publicly at least. It also seeks a cut in the 40-hour work week and other benefits.

Sanitary Firm Grants IBOP General Boost

A new working agreement signed with the American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corp. provides for general pay increases and other concessions adding up to a 9-cent hourly package for employes in 6 plants, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today.

The one - year agreement, effective June 1, covers workers in American Standard plants at Tiffin, Kokomo, Ind., Torrance, Calif., Trenton, N. J., New Orleans and Toronto, Canada, the union announced.

Hourly workers will receive a 4 per cent boost based on an average of $2.10 hourly. Piece - rate workers will get an 8 - cent hourly raise. Both the hourly and piecework boosts will be applied on top of previously negotiated "inequity adjustments," which means that about 16 per cent of the hourly rates in higher brackets will be boosted from 17 to 30 cents an hour.

The contract also calls for improvements in the insurance, hospitalization and welfare programs, the IBOP announced. The health and welfare program, negotiated on a two-year basis, provides for X-ray and therapy treatment for employes and their dependents, with the company and the union dividing the cost equally. Early retirement insurance coverage is provided for workers who retire or become disabled before 65.

Meanwhile, the IBOP has opened negotiations at New Castle with officials of the Universal - Rundle Corp., another sanitary ware manufacturer, covering a health and welfare plan for the company's plants at New Castle, Camden, N. J., Relands, Calif., and Hondo, Tex. Wage contract negotiations are on separate plant levels. The present three - year contract expires on Aug. 1.

Moscow Radio Claims Talks Are Successful

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio said today the foundation for successful negotiations has been laid at the Geneva conference.

At the same time the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda suggested the next few days may decide what results can be expected from the Big Four foreign ministers meeting.

"Contrary to gloomy forecasts by certain U.S. politicians and commentators, we in the U.S.S.R. believe Geneva talks can bring positive results," Moscow radio said in an English - language broadcast.

Mayor's Race Marks Vote In Cumberland

Incumbent, 2 Others In Contest; 4 Posts In Council At Stake

NEW CUMBERLAND—A three-way race for mayor will highlight the town's non-partisan election Tuesday.

Voters also will elect four councilmen from a field of eight and decide on renewal of a municipal levy used to finance the fire department, Community House and playgrounds.

The mayoralty candidates are headed by incumbent Albert (Jakie) Fuccy, 44-year-old operator of a hauling and excavating firm who is seeking his fifth consecutive term.

Mayor Fuccy will be opposed by Sam Minesinger, a Ridge Ave. confectionery operator, and Bill Yorko, employe of the Crescent Brick Co.

Salary for mayor is $225 a year, although the money has never been accepted by Mayor Fuccy.

Seeking Council posts are Raymond L. Bailey and Bennie A. Parr, First Ward, four-year term; Elmer Swearingen and Jesse A. Cullen, Second Ward, four - year term, and Jacob W. Baxter and Joseph M. Burskey, two-year unexpired term, and Walter P. Shekey and Welty M. Vulgamore Jr., Third Ward, four-year term.

The levy is for another three years, expiring in June 1962. It raises approximately $2,800 annually. Sixty per cent of the funds is used for the fire department and the remainder for the playgrounds and the town center.

The levy rates on each $100 assessed valuation are Class 1 property, 5 cents; Class 2, 10 cents; and Class 4, 20 cents.

Polling places and workers for the three wards are: First Ward, Squire John D. Herron's office, Mary Lohr, commissioner, Elsie Grant and Mary Reynolds; Second Ward, Brown's Insurance office, Gussie Rice, commissioner, Mildred Morrison and Grace Wycoff, and Third Ward, Lillie Crissinger's residence, Connie Bennett, commissioner, Hilda Patterson and Alice Manypenny.

Timber Pierces Car After Fence Collision

A 66-year-old Lisbon man missed possible death or serious injury by just 4 inches this morning when his auto left Route 30 and ploughed through a fence.

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol said Edward E. Hartford, 322 E. Lincoln Way., became dizzy while driving, losing control and veering off the highway.

The auto smashed some 84 feet of fence near the Crockery City Farms at 9:30 a. m. and a wooden beam pierced the windshield and struck the seat only four inches from where he was sitting, but he was unhurt.

Extensive damage resulted to his 1959 model auto, which came to rest in a ditch along the roadway.

Corporation Levy Latest To Get Slash

Nipped From 96 To 64 Million Before Passage By Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Compromise has whittled the big tax program now roaring through the Legislature to the point it will fall some 42 million dollars below Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's goal.

The latest compromise cut the proposed tax increase on corporation franchises from 96 to 64 millions before the Senate passed the bill 17-15 Thursday in a surprise move.

DiSalle told newsmen he wants to review both the needs of the state and the estimates of revenue from tax increases already on the move in the Legislature. He added he isn't ready to discuss it yet, but there may be a possibility the corporation franchise tax might produce more money than originally figured.

Two of the five-member Senate contingent of rebellious Democrats broke ranks to put over the bill which has had the Senate on pins and needles for weeks. It was a ruckus over the franchise tax which brought on the lights-out rhubard a week ago Wednesday.

Senate Taxation Committee Chairman Stephen R. Olenick (D-Mahoning) reported he persuaded Sen. Julius J. Petrash (D-Cuyahoga) to compromise on the franchise tax at breakfast Thursday. Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese (D-Cuyahoga), another of the rebellious five, decided to go along with Petrash—and the deadlock on the big tax bill was broken.

Two of the mavericks held fast and joined all 13 Republicans in opposing a three-mill tax on the book-value of corporations. Present tax is one mill. Until the compromise, Senate Democratic leaders had the tax pegged at four mills. The House-approved version set the tax at two mills.

Democrats who joined the Republican opposition were Sens. Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry and Ray T. Miller Jr. of Cleveland. The fifth rebel, Sen. John J. Corrigan (D-Cuyahoga) was absent.

The quick action on the franchise tax wound up the legislative week, but next week senators probably will be confronted by another major taxation measure—the sales tax revision bill. That, after a series of compromises, is calculated to bring in 34 millions in new revenue in the next two years.

DiSalle told newsmen he is in no position to forecast the source of any more revenue to meet the

Three Boys, Two Girls

Five Named From County To Attend Forestry Camp

Five Columbiana County youths —three boys and two girls—will attend the Ohio Forestry Association's summer camp at Tar Hollow State Park June 21-27.

They are Betty Loudon of Hanoverton, Mary I. Smith of East Liverpool R. D. 2, John Isenschmid of Hanoverton R. D. 1, Sanford Hill of Lisbon R. D. 5 and Tom Rudebock of Leetonia R. D. 1.

The selections were announced by Don Myers, assistant agriculture extension agent, at the county office in Lisbon.

They will attend the camp under scholarships offered by Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., in memory of the late William H. Vodrey of East Liverpool, the newspapers' secretary-treasurer, who was an active conservationist.

The East Liverpool Review and Salem News are Brush - Moore papers in Columbiana County.

Under the plan, Brush-Moore pays $25 of the $30 camp fee. Eligible youths must be between the ages of 15 and 17.

While at camp, the youngsters will learn of forest management, wood utilization, reforestration in classes and laboratory periods conducted by professional foresters and conservationists.

The camp is held annually by the Ohio Forestry Association. It promotes the interest of young people, through education in a unified multiple use of forests, development of water supplies, application of sound management and development of adequate wildlife and recreational values.

Approximately 120 young people will attend.

A competent staff includes experienced school administrators, professional foresters, board of health - approved cooks, a Red Cross-trained water front director and a resident registered nurse.

Neff Accused Of Kickbacks

Former Party Head In Beaver Under Fire

HARRISBURG — Auditor General Charles C. Smith today called for the suspension of Samuel G. Neff from his state post while the Justice Department investigates State Department of Highways operations in Beaver County.

In a 55-page formal report to Gov. David Lawrence, Smith said the former Beaver County Democratic chairman solicited political contributions from highway equipment contractors.

"From all the information obtained," said the report, "it appears that Neff was the originator of the plan established whereby all persons renting equipment to the department of highways were forced to pay a minimum of 5 per cent of the gross earnings, 'ostensibly as a political contribution,' to his personal organization."

Neff, a former state senator, is manager of the state workingmen's insurance fund at a salary of about $12,000 a year. Until last year, he also served as Beaver County Democratic chairman.

Tax

237-million-dollar general revenue taxes goal he says must be met to balance the budget. On the basis of the 116-million-dollar gasoline tax increase already in effect, most of the highway needs have been met.

There has been speculation that a one-per cent tax on utilities might be sought to help bridge the general-fund gap, but DiSalle had no comment on it.

The general fund taxes already enacted or on the move add up to 195 millions in the next two years, including a 40-million-dollar liquor price increase by executive order.

One of these—a 7-million-dollar increase in the parimutuel tax—went into effect today with DiSalle's signature.

The 2½-hour Senate debate on the franchise tax produced oratory and fireworks, as usual. Republican efforts to send the bill back to committee and to cut the increase back to two per cent were defeated narrowly.

Senate Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) pointed out no new major taxes were enacted in his 16 years in the Senate—until now. He added:

"If the governor can't get along with that (the taxes already enacted), it would be a good idea to elect another. This or any legislature can't find enough money to satisfy the tax spenders."

But Sen. Ross Pepple (R-Allen), even though he later voted against the bill, shot back:

"I think the present governor deserves credit for the courage to ask new taxes. As a result of the no-new-taxes policy, we find ourselves in debt more than 650 million dollars from bond issues. We should have had a pay-as-you-go program and built roads and mental hospitals slowly, rather than through wasteful 'crash programs.'"

Freshman Sen. John C. Smith (D-Montgomery) got into the debate with:

"It is easy to come here and sit for 16 years and not vote new taxes; it is painful to support new taxes. But there is a need for more money and it is our responsibility to do something about it."

Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas), who personally handled the bill on the Senate floor asserted:

"We are long overdue in getting our heads together and doing what we ought to do as men around here."

Sen. Lowell Fess (R-Greene) and Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Lorain) objected to the fact no hearings were held and no questioning of tax officials permitted after the Senate committee increased the franchise rate approved by the House. Said Fess:

"I have never seen such rough, ramrod tactics."

Caplinger was arrested at 8:15 p. m. Thursday in Liverpool Township by Constable Richard Barnes.

Three other drivers forfeited $109 in bonds today.

Decus C. Green of Canton forfeited two $31 bonds — one for reckless driving and another for operating an auto without a driver's license. He was arrested on Route 30 at 12:55 a. m. today by the State Highway Patrol. Joseph E. Williams, also of Canton, forfeited a $31 bond on a charge of driving without a license. He was cited on Dresden Ave. at 5:32 a.m. today.

Carroll Zane Mills, 531 Jefferson St., Newell, forfeited $16 on a reckless driving charge. He was cited at 6 p. m. Thursday on E. 5th St.

Mrs. Max Dickinson

LISBON — Mrs. Hannah Elizabeth Dickinson, 83, of 433 N. Market St. died at 8 a. m. today at her home after an illness of several years. She was the wife of Max Dickinson.

Born Dec. 18, 1876, in Burslem, England, a daughter of Adam and Mary Anne Berrisford, she spent most of her life in this vicinity. She was a member of the First Christian Church and the Pythian Sister and its Past Chiefs Association.

Mrs. Dickinson was married June 17, 1903, and her husband survives in the home, along with a son, Jay Dickinson of Chagrin Falls and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home by the Rev. William Spangler. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Tax

237-million-dollar general revenue taxes goal he says must be met to balance the budget. On the basis of the 116-million-dollar gasoline tax increase already in effect, most of the highway needs have been met.

There has been speculation that a one-per cent tax on utilities might be sought to help bridge the general-fund gap, but DiSalle had no comment on it.

The general fund taxes already enacted or on the move add up to 195 millions in the next two years, including a 40-million-dollar liquor price increase by executive order.

One of these—a 7-million-dollar increase in the parimutuel tax—went into effect today with DiSalle's signature.

The 2½-hour Senate debate on the franchise tax produced oratory and fireworks, as usual. Republican efforts to send the bill back to committee and to cut the increase back to two per cent were defeated narrowly.

Senate Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) pointed out no new major taxes were enacted in his 16 years in the Senate—until now. He added:

"If the governor can't get along with that (the taxes already enacted), it would be a good idea to elect another. This or any legislature can't find enough money to satisfy the tax spenders."

But Sen. Ross Pepple (R-Allen), even though he later voted against the bill, shot back:

"I think the present governor deserves credit for the courage to ask new taxes. As a result of the no-new-taxes policy, we find ourselves in debt more than 650 million dollars from bond issues. We should have had a pay-as-you-go program and built roads and mental hospitals slowly, rather than through wasteful 'crash programs.' "

Freshman Sen. John C. Smith (D-Montgomery) got into the debate with:

"It is easy to come here and sit for 16 years and not vote new taxes; it is painful to support new taxes. But there is a need for more money and it is our responsibility to do something about it."

Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas), who personally handled the bill on the Senate floor asserted:

"We are long overdue in getting our heads together and doing what we ought to do as men around here."

Sen. Lowell Fess (R-Greene) and Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Lorain) objected to the fact no hearings were held and no questioning of tax officials permitted after the Senate committee increased the franchise rate approved by the House. Said Fess:

"I have never seen such rough, ramrod tactics."

Man Given Penal Term In Manslaughter Case

LISBON — Richard S. Smith, 24, of Homeworth was sentenced to 1-20 years at the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp Thursday afternoon when his request for probation was refused.

Smith pleaded guilty to second degree manslaughter Jan. 19, and requested probation, after he was involved in a fatal accident Dec. 6, 1958.

Smith was driving north on the Lake Placentia Rd. and failed to stop at the junction of Route 62 and struck a car in which Francis J. Carey, Salem metallurgist, was killed.

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Sid Caesar has been signed to a long-term, exclusive contract with the CBS television network, to star in a series of one-hour comedy shows with Audrey Meadows, starting Oct. 21.

Drunk Driving Count Faces 2

Two men who pleaded innocent to drunken driving charges today in Municipal Court are scheduled for hearings Saturday at 9 a. m. before Judge George L. Brokaw.

They are Robert David Phillips of New Cumberland, R. D. 2, and John E. Caplinger, 718 Central Ave.

Phillips was arrested at 10:30 p. m. Thursday on Pennsylvania Ave. by Patrolman Floyd K. Heddleston, who reported he observed the defendant's car swerving from the center line to the curb and back again to the center lines as he drove along Elizabeth St. and Pennsylvania Ave.

Caplinger was arrested at 8:15 p. m. Thursday in Liverpool Township by Constable Richard Barnes.

Three other drivers forfeited $109 in bonds today.

Decus C. Green of Canton forfeited two $31 bonds — one for reckless driving and another for operating an auto without a driver's license. He was arrested on Route 30 at 12:55 a. m. today by the State Highway Patrol. Joseph E. Williams, also of Canton, forfeited a $31 bond on a charge of driving without a license. He was cited on Dresden Ave. at 5:32 a.m. today.

Carroll Zane Mills, 531 Jefferson St., Newell, forfeited $16 on a reckless driving charge. He was cited at 6 p. m. Thursday on E. 5th St.

A hearing had been scheduled today for Bob W. Hazelet, 536 Campground Rd., and Gene Raymond Fultz, 540 Campground Rd., both charged with reckless driving after their arrest May 22 by Liverpool Township Constable Clifford Owens. However, an indefinite continuance was granted after Fultz advised the court he was called out of town by the serious illness of a relative.

Meanwhile, Kenneth W. Hescht, 29, of Glenmoor, forfeited a $16 bond Thursday afternoon on a reckless driving charge. He was cited at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday on W. 8th St.

Our Affair On Missiles, Greece Informs Russia

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Greece had told the Soviet Union the question of establishing missile bases in this country is strictly a Greek affair and any outside pressure is inadmissible.

The Greek Foreign Ministry also rejected a Soviet suggestion that Greece quit the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Gromyko Carries Out His Assignment

The question of what the Allied foreign ministers expected from their Russian counterpart at Geneva becomes more pressing as time runs on with nothing to show for it.

The theory that Premier Khrushchev was so anxious to have a summit meeting with President Eisenhower that he would let Andrei Gromyko make some important concession to get it is dying on the vine. There is still time for a concession, but it is not clear what the Soviet premier could get from a summit meeting with the American president that he will not be able to get without one.

He has achieved all the international prestige that could be hoped for by having it known in every part of the world that the major nations of the world are looking to him for some cue about their next move.

He has advertised in every capital on earth that the No. 1 man in the Soviet Union is credited by his corresponding numbers in other governments with the power of war and peace, which means in these thermonuclear days the power of life and death.

He has demonstrated beyond any shadow of doubt to the people of Russia and the governments dependent on Russia for survival that he, Nikita Khrushchev, is in every way the equal of his famed predecessor, Joseph Stalin.

It may well be that something will happen at Geneva to send everybody home in a gala mood of relief because of the happy outcome of what had turned into a frustrating meeting.

It might even turn out that Gromyko, famed for his dour appearance and manner, has been carrying on a masquerade all this time and there will be a happy climax, with singing and dancing.

But no one expects it, because the conference at Geneva has made it plainer than it was before that the Soviet Union knows how to use a conference to deepen the impression that it has won and knows how to hold the initiative in international relations.

It is willing to talk and even to be magnanimous about forgetting the deadlines it has set. But it is not willing to make concessions—and that may be what it was mainly interested in demonstrating.

Four Of Our Mice Are Missing

The Air Force's bad luck in putting mice into orbit and bringing them back alive is no joking matter, least of all for the earnest young men who are watching every detail of these early experiments in space exploration. Two years from now, they will be the "mice."

But the four black mice that disappeared mysteriously after Wednesday's launching, along with the missile that was supposed to bear them aloft, are at least bemusing, if not actually amusing.

No one ever can know what happened to them. The unsuccessful outcome of the experiment in which they involved is a matter for educated conjecture. But the official conjecture that the missile and the mice burned up before they could be located in outer space does not bar an unofficial conjecture that they may be safe and sound somewhere—the first earth beings to reach outer space.

At this very instant, the indefatigable bureaucrats who presumably will be found everywhere in the universe may be interviewing these earthlings and trying to interpret every squeak and nuance.

That recovery capsule which was supposed to plummet back to earth may have been recovered, instead, by the crew of a flying saucer cruising in outer space. It may be undergoing analysis in scientific laboratories, to determine its composition and the logic of its strange design.

But it's the behavior of the passengers that is of immediate concern. As the first emissaries in space from the earth, they have a great responsibility. Generalizations will be built on the way they hold their heads and wiggle their tails. There is no way to be sure their hosts "out in the great beyond" will understand that they are of a lower order — little more than vermin.

There's always the possibility that their hosts might be little more than vermin, themselves — spatial supermice that would greet four earthling mice like long lost relatives and jump to the conclusion that mice are the cream of the earthling crop.

Graduates: Shake Well Before Using

Each year when mountains of advice to members of graduating classes pile up on rostrums, the sight and sound of so much wisdom appalls the skeptical segment.

We hasten to explain "skeptical segment."

It is that part of every commencement audience which does not respond favorably to what is being said, particularly when the speaker's idea is to make it appear that the road ahead is fraught with dangers and hazards.

This is the prelude to telling the commencers that if they will benefit by the experience of those who have passed that way before they will do thus and so and be the better for it. The bright hope is, of course, that by doing thus and so they will be free from turmoil and trouble, stress and strain and so on and so forth.

That is when the "skeptical segment" gags.

The turmoil and trouble, the stress and strain and even the "so forth" are all part of the game. A life without them would be as bland as unseasoned macaroni. Furthermore, no good adviser knows how to eliminate them anyway, because for the most part they don't exist, except in his own mind.

He conjures them up to make living seem more arduous than he has found it to be, with the purpose of adding stature to himself as one of its hardy survivors.

The truth is, graduates, there is no special trick to living. Keep breathing. Try to take things one at a time. Cross no bridges until you come to them. Beware of trying to fill inside straights and people trying to sell a dime's worth of something for a nickel. You, too, may be a success story some day without ever knowing what you did to deserve it.

That's why everybody congratulates you at commencement time. It's a lark from now on. It's the first 18 years or so that are the hardest. The rest come easy.

Plenty To Do

With summer vacations at hand for many youngsters, programs already are under way to provide wholesome, entertaining activities during the interlude between now and the next term of school.

The YMCA Camp, the Presbyterian Beaver Creek camp, Vacation Bible schools and other forms of recreational and educational value will become available shortly.

There's no need for a parent to become agitated to the point of panic when the kids clamor: "What is there to do?"

There's plenty to do—and in the proper channels. All that's needed is a living room discussion by Mom, Dad and the kids as to what form the "doing" will take.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Gentlemen of the class of 1959: The world awaits you with skepticism, curiosity, hope and the question, "Will you promptly accept the golden opportunities offered or take time out to grill the company about retirement, take home pay and pension rights?" You have been educated for positions of advantage in the American way of life.

You are at the point to demand shorter hours, longer coffee breaks and the right to bring your hi-fi set to the office. Opportunity knocks at every man's door.

Do not hang a "Don't Disturb" sign on your door just because you made the football team and appeared on "Youth Wants To Know."

THESE FOUR YEARS have been the most important in your life. If I am wrong sue me. Your teachers have labored hard with you, and they look at it. They have struggled to give you better minds. And it has driven them out of their own heads. You have your sheepskins. Be fair to the sheep that gave it. You possess degrees. Do not be misled by the fact that Jimmy Hoffa, Dave Beck, Elvis Presley and comedians making $100,000 a year had none.

THERE IS A CLEAR CALL for you. It may be from a bugle, a draft board, a Gallup poll man or some Cape Canaveral scientist offering you a place in a nose cone. The important thing is to be ready for anything in a world that has become a psychopathic case. As dean of this college I give you this advice: Watch the lights, do not pass a truck on the right, throw no beer cans from a sports car window and do not leap at a big league offer as a bonus pitcher.

Your arm is apt to go after the first 10 years. Your Alma Mater wishes you the best possible office hours, fortitude, good luck and the ability to make a swift decision as between aspirin and bufferin. There is one certainty, gentlemen: You will encounter unprecedented traffic jams. In such situations remember it's what's up front that counts.

MAYOR WAGNER of Gotham has called in all special auto tags for "honorary" deputies, etc., and ordered all but a few city officials to turn in their Cadillacs and other expensive cars for cheaper ones. This will force pubic servants to journey from mistake to mistake like common folks. . . .

Eyebrow-raising in the country reached a new high when John L. Lewis on TV refused to express any disapproval whatever of Jimmy Hoffa and declared racketeering, misuse of funds, etc., in labor unions should be the concern of agencies "opposing sin," not a concern of labor leaders!

The question "Which comes first, chicken or egg?" is being replaced by "What difference does it make? The egg farmer comes last." Eggs are selling so low that poultrymen are quitting by the hundreds, saying government support prices are the only solution. It costs so much to raise a hen and get an egg that the whole operation seems a "turkey."

Jack Paar has won four day week. (Two under par for Paar.)

A man is being held in New York for "cattle rustling." Maybe his defense will be that he was just giving an audition for a part in one of the many "westerns."

IN AN INTERVIEW with Harmon Killebrew, Ike was not so much interested in how he put a ball over the fence but how he kept it straight.

Harvard and M.I.T. professors appearing before congressional committee urged a tax on "frivolities" as the only solution to national debt. They included lipsticks, high-heeled women's shoes, liquors, smokes and 40-cent banana splits. Presumably they would list Bermuda shorts, dancing lessons, boats, spinning reels and even four-decker strawberry shortcake. Imagine a world in which spinning reels and even four-decker strawberry shortcake. Imagine a world in which budgets have been balanced but all fun and glamor eliminated!

Hey, One Of 'Em Moved!

Has John L. Turned His Back?

By Victor Riesel

There are some who believe that the legendary John Llewellyn Lewis has turned his back on those who need him as easily as he turned a phrase on those who needled him during that national TV show the other day.

Victor Riesel

As always those who need the man the miners love to call "The Champ" are the women and youngsters who walked mournfully behind their dead men. The men found peace at last in the earth which killed them but which now gives them surcease from having to wrench a living from its bowels.

Twelve such men died in the swirling, muddy waters of the raging Susquehanna River on the morning of Jan. 22. The river ripped open the crust of the Port Griffith pit of the Knox Coal Co., near slag-heaped Pittston, Pa.

And intertwined with the veins of those tunnels was the life line of part of the Apalachin crime combine.

THAT LINE was strung by one of the crime convention delegates —Nick Alaimo, friend and partner of Russ Bufalino, another who supped at the Apalachin cookout.

For years, Alaimo was a hard-fisted official of the United Mine Workers Local 8005 in that area. The local covered the Knox mine. Alaimo, who spent some of his time between crime conventions running a dress shop and other allied interests, was duty bound to care for the men who went down in the pits for their daily bread.

As a union committeeman, it was his duty to see that all safety regulations were observed. Yet a Pennsylvania state commission probed the pit and found safety laws had been violated.

Recently Alaimo was indicted by a federal grand jury, charged with taking $30,755.21 from the Knox Coal Co. without rendering any service. This is a violation of the Taft-Hartley law. He was convicted on 34 counts. The scuttlebut was that he had taken the money for "keeping labor peace."

JOHN LEWIS suspended Alaimo. Lewis also suspended one August J. Lippi, president of the Mineworkers District No. 1—hard coal.

Mr. Lippi, one of the United Mine Workers executive board, also doubles as president of the First National Bank of Exeter, Pa. He refused to answer probers' questions on l'affaire Alaimo.

There are other probes of the region now being pushed by the union, federals and some state authorities, it is reported. John Lewis moved to keep his union clean of the mob and those who refuse to cooperate with him.

As usual, John L., hurler of Jovian insults in public duels with men his own size, moved without fanfare inside his own union. But in public last Sunday, he refused to discuss the infiltration of thugs and mobsters into the labor movement.

The impression he gave was that this infiltration is merely the imagination of an hysterical pack made up of newsmen, Senate probers and federal and local law agencies. He said he would not join that pack.

Lewis' grand scale scoffing has hurt the anti-crime coalition, some of whom have been injured more deeply than even Lewis' barbs can cut. One of those is Charles Zimmerman, the crusading vice president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

ZIMMERMAN was slugged in Miami Beach by a blackjack-wielding gorilla two weeks ago at the close of the union's convention.

The McClellan committee, which John L. has been assailing, has been probing the assault.

A few days ago Bob Kennedy's investigators flew into the anthracite coal corner of Pennsylvania where muscle is harder than the fuel mined. The probers were seeking the assailants of Mr. Zimmerman or clues leading to the thugs behind the battering which put five stitches in his skull.

Mr. Zimmerman has been bucking the mob for 15 months with a special strike. This walkout is aimed at forcing tough-protected dress firms to pay the same wages as do legitimate employers.

The probers questioned Nick Alaimo and Russ Bufalino. You'll hear more of this from the McClellan racket busters in mid-July.

John Lewis, loved and respected by many, hasn't made it easier to fight back. Who is the pack, Mr. Lewis?

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I ran across one of those little stories in the news today that tell more about what is going on in the world than the big stories. It was an announcement by the French government that it would go ahead with tests of its nuclear weapons regardless of anything that might be done by the Big Three.

Every country on earth today, including the little ones, must be keeping an eye on the nuclear "equalizer," a word applied in my younger days to the ordinary revolver.

We should not forget, either, that big countries, like Red China and India, also are aware of the possibilities of the "equalizer."

You are too young to realize what the revolver meant to our country. It was small. It could be concealed. It was not expensive, compared with rifles and shotguns. All of a sudden, anyone who could get his hands on a revolver was the equal of everybody else in firepower.

To this day, the problem this created has not been solved. Proposals to ban revolvers have been uniformly turned down. Laws to control their use have been systematically violated and resisted.

The underworld, which always has been with us and always will be, never had a better break. The same weapon that was a tool of virtue in the hands of a law-enforcement agent became a tool of terror in the hands of a baddie.

I am not suggesting an invidious comparison between baddies and Frenchmen, but no one can deny that possession of a nuclear bomb by some nation on mischief bent would blow all preconceived ideas about international balances of power sky-high.

Come to think of it, possession by our United Nations associates, the Russians, has blown all preconceived ideas about power balances sky-high. I am inclined to say to the French, "Voila! Stick with it." What's good enough for Nikita is good enough for Pierre.

It might be worthy of a Nobel Peace Prize candidate to propose that every country that can raise the money should be equipped with a nuclear equalizer. That would take in Switzerland as well as Japan and Ghama and Israel as well as Egypt and Pakistan.

Naturally, such an idea would be rejected by the people who already have the weapon. But isn't it just a matter of time until sharpies get their hooks on the know-how and the wherewithal and bootleg nuclear bombs? It always has been that way before. Sharpies are still bootlegging revolvers. Whenever there's a revolution in Latin America, it means someone had to bring in the guns, not only revolvers but super-equalizers like machineguns and high-powered rifles.

Sooner or later, the Nuclear-Blast Club will cease to be an exclusive organization, as we intended it to be when we founded it in the last year of World War II. Remember how shocked we were when we learned that Russia had qualified for membership without our consent? Thereupon, we had to invite England to become an ex post facto charter member, if I may use such an expression. And now France is qualifying for membership. Tomorrow it may be Red China. Who can tell? Or it might be Japan, which would figure out how to make its equalizers at one-tenth the cost of ours.

We have settled down to summer here. The wheat is headed out and the farmers who got their corn in early are discouraging weeds. The air is full of the sound of forage cutters, and raspberries are as big as a small baby's thumb. Your aunt has switched to shorts, the peonies are prolific and the tomatoes are starting to blossom. Did I ever tell you about Hal Riley's young wife, who had heard about pinching off blossoms to make things grow better and pinched off all the tomato blossoms? Poor little gal; she never lived it down.

Your aunt is well, I am passable, and we hope you are no worse off then we are. Regards to the family. Cotton Corners UNCLE GEORGE

From The Ashes

Tokyo is a phoenix among capitals. It has risen from the ashes of World War II fire raids to become possibly the largest and fastest-growing city in the world.

Geographers generally agree that the 500-year-old Japanese metropolis has surpassed London and New York. The estimated populations are, respectively: 8,774,000, 8,251,000 and 7,795,500.

However, varying dates of census taking, heavy movements of people, explosive birthrates and differing concepts of metropolitan limits make it almost impossible nowadays to compare accurately the populations of the great cities.

Size notwithstanding, Tokyo has the dubious honor of being the world's most congested capital. It lacks the open spaces of comparable cities. Many streets are narrow and winding. And the city is growing at a rate of 300,000 a year.

Tokyo is bursting at its seams, spilling patternless and unchecked across the low, surrounding countryside. The huge concrete buildings and television towers planted so solidly in downtown Tokyo contrast, with the disorderly march outward of suburbs. The city is largely built of wood.

The national capital region has a radius of about 65 miles. It takes in 3 counties, 23 wards and 8 autonomous cities. The complex is administered by a governor and the 120-member Metropolitan Assembly.

Geologists believe that Aruba, a Netherlands West Indies isle near the coast of Venezuela, is the top of a now submerged peak that was once forced above the Caribbean Sea by violent subterranean movements.

NATO Worth Cost

By David Lawrence

Organization To Observe 10th Anniversary

LONDON

Can anyone really get a thrill out of the taxes he pays to his government? Well, this correspondent did just the other day when he visited Paris and looked at a certain map at the Supreme Allied Headquarters in Europe. It told in part the story of the 42 billion dollars which the United States is spending on armaments each year.

David Lawrence

It was like many a military map which shows, with its arrows, the location of potential forces. As one studied it, there was revealed at a glance the tremendous defense system which the Western allies have set up through what is known as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It reaches, on one side, all the way up to Britain and Norway. On the other side, it extends to Turkey, Greece, Italy, the west of Germany and France. In the Mediterranean there are some big dots that represent small specks on the vast sea but there one sees the submarines of the future, armed with missiles that can travel 1,500 miles or more into the territory of a possible enemy in the north.

THE EXPLANATION that accompanied the map is well understood in military circles but the people generally do not realize that NATO is tied into air bases in Spain, North Africa and strategic areas in other lands and waters adjacent to Europe.

How, it might be asked, can anyone get any satisfaction out of looking at a military map that means war?

This map somehow doesn't mean war. It gives assurance that an enemy could be deterred and war prevented.

Twice in his lifetime, this correspondent has surveyed the terrible destruction of two world wars. Nobody in his right mind could ever want to see war imposed again upon the men, women, and children of Europe.

There is one difference now as compared with the past. Whatever war comes will not be confined to other continents. The destruction would reach into the United States itself. How much would anyone pay to keep a war out of America? It is worth almost any cost. That's why 42 billions is a small sum, relatively speaking, to be spending annually for insurance. The money must, of course, be properly spent and not wasted and, in general, the armament that America, along with its allies, has developed is effective and is efficiently distributed.

THE UNITED STATES however, has developed not only weapons but able men to lead us in the foreign field. One of them is Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme commander of Allied Forces in Europe. He is a dynamic individual, young, energetic and competent in every sense. But he has an even greater asset. He knows how to mingle with military officers of other countries as well as with their diplomats.

He is humble and even deferential in the presence of the military men of other countries. He makes them feel that they are really members of a team. Above all else, Gen. Norstad has a penetrating grasp of the military problems of Europe. He is not swayed by the talk of "disengagement" or "disarmament."

He believes in the objects of the hour — to get an assurance of peace — but he insists on safeguards and they must be effective safeguards.

NATO is more than a military organization. It is more than a mere alliance for war. It has many branches and divisions that are slowly being welded together into one of the most effective international organizations yet created.

NATO IS an organization of governments whose ambassadors are specially appointed to sit in Paris and discuss diplomatic affairs of a common interest.

On the diplomatic side, the United States is represented by a special ambassador, W. Randolph Burgess, an able businessman of broad experience. His years in the Federal Reserve System and later as vice chairman of the National City Bank of New York have brought to the council table a background of economic experience which is of great value in understanding today's problems of Europe — for nowadays political and economic questions are intertwined.

London is getting ready to welcome on Saturday delegations from 14 of the countries in the alliance as the 10th anniversary of NATO is celebrated.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization is one of the positive achievements of our times.

Conversation Piece

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev are talking to each other with their elbows.

Now, after months of nudging and little progress, each man can say: Get your elbow out of my eye.

The Soviet premier started it with his threat last November that the West pull its troops out of Berlin—or else.

Why had he created this crisis? For various reasons, maybe.

The West thought this was one of them: To jimmy his way into a summit meeting with Eisenhower, which he had long wanted. Khrushchev made it plain that was in his mind.

He said the only way to settle the Berlin and other issues was at a meeting of the top men.

At first the West suggested — without strings—that the Western and Soviet foreign ministers meet to discuss Berlin and other German problems.

Eisenhower followed this up fast with a deliberate nudge to Khrushchev. He said there would be no use in a summit meeting unless:

1. There was some previous negotiation (meaning a foreign ministers meeting).

2. And—this has a big string attached—unless the foreign ministers showed progress.

For them to show progress — from the Western viewpoint — meant the Soviets would have to make concessions.

This could be interpreted as the stick and carrot technique used on a donkey. Khrushchev, who doesn't consider his ears long at all nevertheless agreed to a foreign ministers meeting at Geneva.

That meeting, which started almost a month ago, has shown no results.

But Eisenhower, having won his point on the foreign ministers conference, continued to insist there could be no summit meeting unless the ministers made progress (which would require Soviet concessions).

Maybe Khrushchev got fed up on the repetition. Or maybe the doesn't like carrots. At any rate, he nudged Eisenhower back by announcing there was no reason why the Soviet Union should make any concessions.

He said maybe this was not the right time for a summit meeting after all, and he could wait for the right time.

Still, Eisenhower went back to his old theme at his news conference this week, saying: There has not been any "detectable progress" that would "justify the holding of a summit meeting."

But Eisenhower does not have unanimous American support for his position.

Sen. J. William Fulbright this week questioned Eisenhower's wisdom in using progress at Geneva as a reason for meeting Khrushchev or the lack of it as a reason for not meeting him.

The Arkansas democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, took this stand:

"If a summit conference doesn't hold some prospect of benefit to the Western world, I wouldn't go. I think it is possible and logical to argue that the complete lack of accomplishment at the foreign ministers level might justify a summit meeting."

Gromyko Carries Out His Assignment

The question of what the Allied foreign ministers expected from their Russian counterpart at Geneva becomes more pressing as time runs on with nothing to show for it.

The theory that Premier Khrushchev was so anxious to have a summit meeting with President Eisenhower that he would let Andrei Gromyko make some important concession to get it is dying on the vine. There is still time for a concession, but it is not clear what the Soviet premier could get from a summit meeting with the American president that he will not be able to get without one.

He has achieved all the international prestige that could be hoped for by having it known in every part of the world that the major nations of the world are looking to him for some cue about their next move.

He has advertised in every capital on earth that the No. 1 man in the Soviet Union is credited by his corresponding numbers in other governments with the power of war and peace, which means in these thermonuclear days the power of life and death.

He has demonstrated beyond any shadow of doubt to the people of Russia and the governments dependent on Russia for survival that he, Nikita Khrushchev, is in every way the equal of his famed predecessor, Joseph Stalin.

It may well be that something will happen at Geneva to send everybody home in a gala mood of relief because of the happy outcome of what had turned into a frustrating meeting.

It might even turn out that Gromyko, famed for his dour appearance and manner, has been carrying on a masquerade all this time and there will be a happy climax, with singing and dancing.

But no one expects it, because the conference at Geneva has made it plainer than it was before that the Soviet Union knows how to use a conference to deepen the impression that it has won and knows how to hold the initiative in international relations.

It is willing to talk and even to be magnanimous about forgetting the deadlines it has set. But it is not willing to make concessions—and that may be what it was mainly interested in demonstrating.

Four Of Our Mice Are Missing

The Air Force's bad luck in putting mice into orbit and bringing them back alive is no joking matter, least of all for the earnest young men who are watching every detail of these early experiments in space exploration. Two years from now, they will be the "mice."

But the four black mice that disappeared mysteriously after Wednesday's launching, along with the missile that was supposed to bear them aloft, are at least bemusing, if not actually amusing.

No one ever can know what happened to them. The unsuccessful outcome of the experiment in which they involved is a matter for educated conjecture. But the official conjecture that the missile and the mice burned up before they could be located in outer space does not bar an unofficial conjecture that they may be safe and sound somewhere—the first earth beings to reach outer space.

At this very instant, the indefatigable bureaucrats who presumably will be found everywhere in the universe may be interviewing these earthlings and trying to interpret every squeak and nuance.

That recovery capsule which was supposed to plummet back to earth may have been recovered, instead, by the crew of a flying saucer cruising in outer space. It may be undergoing analysis in scientific laboratories, to determine its composition and the logic of its strange design.

But it's the behavior of the passengers that is of immediate concern. As the first emissaries in space from the earth, they have a great responsibility. Generalizations will be built on the way they hold their heads and wiggle their tails. There is no way to be sure their hosts "out in the great beyond" will understand that they are of a lower order — little more than vermin.

There's always the possibility that their hosts might be little more than vermin, themselves — spatial supermice that would greet four earthling mice like long lost relatives and jump to the conclusion that mice are the cream of the earthling crop.

Graduates: Shake Well Before Using

Each year when mountains of advice to members of graduating classes pile up on rostrums, the sight and sound of so much wisdom appalls the skeptical segment.

We hasten to explain "skeptical segment."

It is that part of every commencement audience which does not respond favorably to what is being said, particularly when the speaker's idea is to make it appear that the road ahead is fraught with dangers and hazards.

This is the prelude to telling the commencers that if they will benefit by the experience of those who have passed that way before they will do thus and so and be the better for it. The bright hope is, of course, that by doing thus and so they will be free from turmoil and trouble, stress and strain and so on and so forth.

That is when the "skeptical segment" gags.

The turmoil and trouble, the stress and strain and even the "so forth" are all part of the game. A life without them would be as bland as unseasoned macaroni. Furthermore, no good adviser knows how to eliminate them anyway, because for the most part they don't exist, except in his own mind.

He conjures them up to make living seem more arduous than he has found it to be, with the purpose of adding stature to himself as one of its hardy survivors.

The truth is, graduates, there is no special trick to living. Keep breathing. Try to take things one at a time. Cross no bridges until you come to them. Beware of trying to fill inside straights and people trying to sell a dime's worth of something for a nickel. You, too, may be a success story some day without ever knowing what you did to deserve it.

That's why everybody congratulates you at commencement time. It's a lark from now on. It's the first 18 years or so that are the hardest. The rest come easy.

Plenty To Do

With summer vacations at hand for many youngsters, programs already are under way to provide wholesome, entertaining activities during the interlude between now and the next term of school.

The YMCA Camp, the Presbyterian Beaver Creek camp, Vacation Bible schools and other forms of recreational and educational value will become available shortly.

There's no need for a parent to become agitated to the point of panic when the kids clamor: "What is there to do?"

There's plenty to do—and in the proper channels. All that's needed is a living room discussion by Mom, Dad and the kids as to what form the "doing" will take.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Gentlemen of the class of 1959: The world awaits you with skepticism, curiosity, hope and the question, "Will you promptly accept the golden opportunities offered or take time out to grill the company about retirement, take home pay and pension rights?" You have been educated for positions of advantage in the American way of life.

You are at the point to demand shorter hours, longer coffee breaks and the right to bring your hi-fi set to the office. Opportunity knocks at every man's door.

Do not hang a "Don't Disturb" sign on your door just because you made the football team and appeared on "Youth Wants To Know."

THESE FOUR YEARS have been the most important in your life. If I am wrong sue me. Your teachers have labored hard with you, and they look at it. They have struggled to give you better minds. And it has driven them out of their own heads. You have your sheepskins. Be fair to the sheep that gave it. You possess degrees. Do not be misled by the fact that Jimmy Hoffa, Dave Beck, Elvis Presley and comedians making $100,000 a year had none.

THERE IS A CLEAR CALL for you. It may be from a bugle, a draft board, a Gallup poll man or some Cape Canaveral scientist offering you a place in a nose cone. The important thing is to be ready for anything in a world that has become a psychopathic case. As dean of this college I give you this advice: Watch the lights, do not pass a truck on the right, throw no beer cans from a sports car window and do not leap at a big league offer as a bonus pitcher.

Your arm is apt to go after the first 10 years. Your Alma Mater wishes you the best possible office hours, fortitude, good luck and the ability to make a swift decision as between aspirin and bufferin. There is one certainty, gentlemen: You will encounter unprecedented traffic jams. In such situations remember it's what's up front that counts.

MAYOR WAGNER of Gotham has called in all special auto tags for "honorary" deputies, etc., and ordered all but a few city officials to turn in their Cadillacs and other expensive cars for cheaper ones. This will force pubic servants to journey from mistake to mistake like common folks. . . .

Eyebrow-raising in the country reached a new high when John L. Lewis on TV refused to express any disapproval whatever of Jimmy Hoffa and declared racketeering, misuse of funds, etc., in labor unions should be the concern of agencies "opposing sin," not a concern of labor leaders!

The question "Which comes first, chicken or egg?" is being replaced by "What difference does it make? The egg farmer comes last." Eggs are selling so low that poultrymen are quitting by the hundreds, saying government support prices are the only solution. It costs so much to raise a hen and get an egg that the whole operation seems a "turkey."

Jack Paar has won four day week. (Two under par for Paar.)

A man is being held in New York for "cattle rustling." Maybe his defense will be that he was just giving an audition for a part in one of the many "westerns."

IN AN INTERVIEW with Harmon Killebrew, Ike was not so much interested in how he put a ball over the fence but how he kept it straight.

Harvard and M.I.T. professors appearing before congressional committee urged a tax on "frivolities" as the only solution to national debt. They included lipsticks, high-heeled women's shoes, liquors, smokes and 40-cent banana splits. Presumably they would list Bermuda shorts, dancing lessons, boats, spinning reels and even four-decker strawberry shortcake. Imagine a world in which spinning reels and even four-decker strawberry shortcake. Imagine a world in which budgets have been balanced but all fun and glamor eliminated!

Hey, One Of 'Em Moved!

Has John L. Turned His Back?

By Victor Riesel

There are some who believe that the legendary John Llewellyn Lewis has turned his back on those who need him as easily as he turned a phrase on those who needled him during that national TV show the other day.

Victor Riesel

As always those who need the man the miners love to call "The Champ" are the women and youngsters who walked mournfully behind their dead men. The men found peace at last in the earth which killed them but which now gives them surcease from having to wrench a living from its bowels.

Twelve such men died in the swirling, muddy waters of the raging Susquehanna River on the morning of Jan. 22. The river ripped open the crust of the Port Griffith pit of the Knox Coal Co., near slag-heaped Pittston, Pa.

And intertwined with the veins of those tunnels was the life line of part of the Apalachin crime combine.

THAT LINE was strung by one of the crime convention delegates —Nick Alaimo, friend and partner of Russ Bufalino, another who supped at the Apalachin cookout.

For years, Alaimo was a hard-fisted official of the United Mine Workers Local 8005 in that area. The local covered the Knox mine. Alaimo, who spent some of his time between crime conventions running a dress shop and other allied interests, was duty bound to care for the men who went down in the pits for their daily bread.

As a union committeeman, it was his duty to see that all safety regulations were observed. Yet a Pennsylvania state commission probed the pit and found safety laws had been violated.

Recently Alaimo was indicted by a federal grand jury, charged with taking $30,755.21 from the Knox Coal Co. without rendering any service. This is a violation of the Taft-Hartley law. He was convicted on 34 counts. The scuttlebut was that he had taken the money for "keeping labor peace."

JOHN LEWIS suspended Alaimo. Lewis also suspended one August J. Lippi, president of the Mineworkers District No. 1—hard coal.

Mr. Lippi, one of the United Mine Workers executive board, also doubles as president of the First National Bank of Exeter, Pa. He refused to answer probers' questions on l'affaire Alaimo.

There are other probes of the region now being pushed by the union, federals and some state authorities, it is reported. John Lewis moved to keep his union clean of the mob and those who refuse to cooperate with him.

As usual, John L., hurler of Jovian insults in public duels with men his own size, moved without fanfare inside his own union. But in public last Sunday, he refused to discuss the infiltration of thugs and mobsters into the labor movement.

The impression he gave was that this infiltration is merely the imagination of an hysterical pack made up of newsmen, Senate probers and federal and local law agencies. He said he would not join that pack.

Lewis' grand scale scoffing has hurt the anti-crime coalition, some of whom have been injured more deeply than even Lewis' barbs can cut. One of those is Charles Zimmerman, the crusading vice president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

ZIMMERMAN was slugged in Miami Beach by a blackjack-wielding gorilla two weeks ago at the close of the union's convention. The McClellan committee, which John L. has been assailing, has been probing the assault.

A few days ago Bob Kennedy's investigators flew into the anthracite coal corner of Pennsylvania where muscle is harder than the fuel mined. The probers were seeking the assailants of Mr. Zimmerman or clues leading to the thugs behind the battering which put five stitches in his skull.

Mr. Zimmerman has been bucking the mob for 15 months with a special strike. This walkout is aimed at forcing tough-protected dress firms to pay the same wages as do legitimate employers.

The probers questioned Nick Alaimo and Russ Bufalino. You'll hear more of this from the McClellan racket busters in mid-July.

John Lewis, loved and respected by many, hasn't made it easier to fight back. Who is the pack, Mr. Lewis?

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I ran across one of those little stories in the news today that tell more about what is going on in the world than the big stories. It was an announcement by the French government that it would go ahead with tests of its nuclear weapons regardless of anything that might be done by the Big Three.

Every country on earth today, including the little ones, must be keeping an eye on the nuclear "equalizer," a word applied in my younger days to the ordinary revolver.

We should not forget, either, that big countries, like Red China and India, also are aware of the possibilities of the "equalizer."

You are too young to realize what the revolver meant to our country. It was small. It could be concealed. It was not expensive, compared with rifles and shotguns. All of a sudden, anyone who could get his hands on a revolver was the equal of everybody else in firepower.

To this day, the problem this created has not been solved. Proposals to ban revolvers have been uniformly turned down. Laws to control their use have been systematically violated and resisted.

The underworld, which always has been with us and always will be, never had a better break. The same weapon that was a tool of virtue in the hands of a law-enforcement agent became a tool of terror in the hands of a baddie.

I am not suggesting an invidious comparison between baddies and Frenchmen, but no one can deny that possession of a nuclear bomb by some nation on mischief bent would blow all preconceived ideas about international balances of power sky-high.

Come to think of it, possession by our United Nations associates, the Russians, has blown all preconceived ideas about power balances sky-high. I am inclined to say to the French, "Voila! Stick with it." What's good enough for Nikita is good enough for Pierre.

It might be worthy of a Nobel Peace Prize candidate to propose that every country that can raise the money should be equipped with a nuclear equalizer. That would take in Switzerland as well as Japan and Ghana and Israel as well as Egypt and Pakistan.

Naturally, such an idea would be rejected by the people who already have the weapon. But isn't it just a matter of time until sharpies get their hooks on the know-how and the wherewithal and bootleg nuclear bombs? It always has been that way before. Sharpies are still bootlegging revolvers. Whenever there's a revolution in Latin America, it means someone had to bring in the guns, not only revolvers but super-equalizers like machineguns and high-powered rifles.

Sooner or later, the Nuclear-Blast Club will cease to be an exclusive organization, as we intended it to be when we founded it in the last year of World War II. Remember how shocked we were when we learned that Russia had qualified for membership without our consent? Thereupon, we had to invite England to become an ex post facto charter member, if I may use such an expression. And now France is qualifying for membership. Tomorrow it may be Red China. Who can tell? Or it might be Japan, which would figure out how to make its equalizers at one-tenth the cost of ours.

We have settled down to summer here. The wheat is headed out and the farmers who got their corn in early are discouraging weeds. The air is full of the sound of forage cutters, and raspberries are as big as a small baby's thumb. Your aunt has switched to shorts, the peonies are prolific and the tomatoes are starting to blossom. Did I ever tell you about Hal Riley's young wife, who had heard about pinching off blossoms to make things grow better and pinched off all the tomato blossoms? Poor little gal; she never lived it down.

Your aunt is well, I am passable, and we hope you are no worse off then we are. Regards to the family. Cotton Corners UNCLE GEORGE

From The Ashes

Tokyo is a phoenix among capitals. It has risen from the ashes of World War II fire raids to become possibly the largest and fastest-growing city in the world.

Geographers generally agree that the 500-year-old Japanese metropolis has surpassed London and New York. The estimated populations are, respectively: 8,774,000, 8,251,000 and 7,795,500.

However, varying dates of census taking, heavy movements of people, explosive birthrates and differing concepts of metropolitan limits make it almost impossible nowadays to compare accurately the populations of the great cities.

Size notwithstanding, Tokyo has the dubious honor of being the world's most congested capital. It lacks the open spaces of comparable cities. Many streets are narrow and winding. And the city is growing at a rate of 300,000 a year.

Tokyo is bursting at its seams, spilling patternless and unchecked across the low, surrounding countryside. The huge concrete buildings and television towers planted so solidly in downtown Tokyo contrast, with the disorderly march outward of suburbs. The city is largely built of wood.

The national capital region has a radius of about 65 miles. It takes in 3 counties, 23 wards and 8 autonomous cities. The complex is administered by a governor and the 120-member Metropolitan Assembly.

Geologists believe that Aruba, a Netherlands West Indies isle near the coast of Venezuela, is the top of a now submerged peak that was once forced above the Caribbean Sea by violent subterranean movements.

NATO Worth Cost

By David Lawrence

Organization To Observe 10th Anniversary

LONDON

Can anyone really get a thrill out of the taxes he pays to his government? Well, this correspondent did just the other day when he visited Paris and looked at a certain map at the Supreme Allied Headquarters in Europe. It told in part the story of the 42 billion dollars which the United States is spending on armaments each year.

David Lawrence

It was like many a military map which shows, with its arrows, the location of potential forces. As one studied it, there was revealed at a glance the tremendous defense system which the Western allies have set up through what is known as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It reaches, on one side, all the way up to Britain and Norway. On the other side, it extends to Turkey, Greece, Italy, the west of Germany and France. In the Mediterranean there are some big dots that represent small specks on the vast sea but there one sees the submarines of the future, armed with missiles that can travel 1,500 miles or more into the territory of a possible enemy in the north.

THE EXPLANATION that accompanied the map is well understood in military circles but the people generally do not realize that NATO is tied into air bases in Spain, North Africa and strategic areas in other lands and waters adjacent to Europe.

How, it might be asked, can anyone get any satisfaction out of looking at a military map that means war?

This map somehow doesn't mean war. It gives assurance that an enemy could be deterred and war prevented.

Twice in his lifetime, this correspondent has surveyed the terrible destruction of two world wars. Nobody in his right mind could ever want to see war imposed again upon the men, women, and children of Europe.

There is one difference now as compared with the past. Whatever war comes will not be confined to other continents. The destruction would reach into the United States itself. How much would anyone pay to keep a war out of America? It is worth almost any cost. That's why 42 billions is a small sum, relatively speaking, to be spending annually for insurance. The money must, of course, be properly spent and not wasted and, in general, the armament that America, along with its allies, has developed is effective and is efficiently distributed.

THE UNITED STATES however, has developed not only weapons but able men to lead us in the foreign field. One of them is Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme commander of Allied Forces in Europe. He is a dynamic individual, young, energetic and competent in every sense. But he has an even greater asset. He knows how to mingle with military officers of other countries as well as with their diplomats.

He is humble and even deferential in the presence of the military men of other countries. He makes them feel that they are really members of a team. Above all else, Gen. Norstad has a penetrating grasp of the military problems of Europe. He is not swayed by the talk of "disengagement" or "disarmament."

He believes in the objects of the hour — to get an assurance of peace — but he insists on safeguards and they must be effective safeguards.

NATO is more than a military organization. It is more than a mere alliance for war. It has many branches and divisions that are slowly being welded together into one of the most effective international organizations yet created.

NATO IS an organization of governments whose ambassadors are specially appointed to sit in Paris and discuss diplomatic affairs of a common interest.

On the diplomatic side, the United States is represented by a special ambassador, W. Randolph Burgess, an able businessman of broad experience. His years in the Federal Reserve System and later as vice chairman of the National City Bank of New York have brought to the council table a background of economic experience which is of great value in understanding today's problems of Europe — for nowadays political and economic questions are intertwined.

London is getting ready to welcome on Saturday delegations from 14 of the countries in the alliance as the 10th anniversary of NATO is celebrated.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization is one of the positive achievements of our times.

Conversation Piece

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev are talking to each other with their elbows.

Now, after months of nudging and little progress, each man can say: Get your elbow out of my eye.

The Soviet premier started it with his threat last November that the West pull its troops out of Berlin—or else.

Why had he created this crisis? For various reasons, maybe.

The West thought this was one of them: To jimmy his way into a summit meeting with Eisenhower, which he had long wanted. Khrushchev made it plain that was in his mind.

He said the only way to settle the Berlin and other issues was at a meeting of the top men.

At first the West suggested — without strings—that the Western and Soviet foreign ministers meet to discuss Berlin and other German problems.

Eisenhower followed this up fast with a deliberate nudge to Khrushchev. He said there would be no use in a summit meeting unless:

1. There was some previous negotiation (meaning a foreign ministers meeting).

2. And—this has a big string attached—unless the foreign ministers showed progress.

For them to show progress — from the Western viewpoint — meant the Soviets would have to make concessions.

This could be interpreted as the stick and carrot technique used on a donkey. Khrushchev, who doesn't consider his ears long at all nevertheless agreed to a foreign ministers meeting at Geneva.

That meeting, which started almost a month ago, has shown no results.

But Eisenhower, having won his point on the foreign ministers conference, continued to insist there could be no summit meeting unless the ministers made progress (which would require Soviet concessions).

Maybe Khrushchev got fed up on the repetition. Or maybe the doesn't like carrots. At any rate, he nudged Eisenhower back by announcing there was no reason why the Soviet Union should make any concessions.

He said maybe this was not the right time for a summit meeting after all, and he could wait for the right time.

Still, Eisenhower went back to his old theme at his news conference this week, saying: There has not been any "detectable progress" that would "justify the holding of a summit meeting."

But Eisenhower does not have unanimous American support for his position.

Sen. J. William Fulbright this week questioned Eisenhower's wisdom in using progress at Geneva as a reason for meeting Khrushchev or the lack of it as a reason for not meeting him.

The Arkansas democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, took this stand:

"If a summit conference doesn't hold some prospect of benefit to the Western world, I wouldn't go. I think it is possible and logical to argue that the complete lack of accomplishment at the foreign ministers level might justify a summit meeting."

Texas Judge To Set Long's Sanity Airing

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A Texas judge is expected to set a date today for Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long's sanity hearing.

Probate Judge Hugh Gibson, who committed the 63-year-old governor to the protective custody of hospital here, has indicated he would hear arguments on June 16.

That would be two weeks to the day that a National Guard plane spirited the fiery Long in an unannounced flight from the state capital. Texas law requires a sanity hearing within 14 days of a commitment.

The governor's wife, Blanche, and a cousin, Dr. Arthur Long, requested a custody order for his own protection "and that of others."

Just what the governor's course of action will be at the hearing and whether the session will be open is still not known.

Meanwhile, indications are that Governor Long has accepted his confinement and continues to improve.

Sen. Russell Long (D-La) told newsmen in Baton Rouge, La., that his uncle "might be back (at the capital) within a month." Long had just returned from Galveston, where he conferred with attending physicians.

Long has announced he'll resign as governor and try for a fourth term. To do it, he would have to quit before his term ends, qualify by the Sept. 15 deadline, and run in the December primary.

Crowning Marks 6th Grade Party Staged By PTA

Crowning of Linda Rolley as queen and Dick Call as king highlighted the party for sixth grade students of MacDonald School of Wellsville, given by the Parent-Teacher Association Wednesday night. The students will enter Daw Junior High School in the fall.

John Mackcov, principal, placed gold crowns on the heads of the royal pair and presented them a trophy. Mrs. Raymond Rolley pinned corsages on her daughter and her attendants. Nancy Todd, Nancy Huston, Charles Murray and Ralph Andrews were in the court. The king and queen were chosen by a vote of the class.

Jack Amato was master of ceremonies and read the class will and prophecy.

The program was comprised of band music by Terry O'Hara, Carl Snediker, Bobby Milligan, Tommy Geer, Cindy Davidson, Faye Pickens and Judy Blackledge; tap dances, Linda Rolley and Faye Pickens; vocal selections, Nancy Todd, Linda Rolley, Juanita Daniels, Mary Moore, Vickie Curry, Cindy Davidson and Jane Culp; piano solos, Richard Bratt; hula dance, Donna D'Angelo; ballroom dance, Nancy Huston and Terry O'Hara; pantomime, Dick Call, Richie Bratt and Vickie Curry, and jokes, Jerry Medley.

A buffet lunch was served 72 students and their teachers, Miss Helene Beaumont and Mrs. Marie Merriman, guests, by Mrs. Bert Clark, PTA president, Mrs. Rolley and Mrs. J. L. Jackson, assisted by homeroom mothers. Rolls of candy, wrapped to represent diplomas, were favors. The room was decorated with spring flowers and balloons. Sam Parkes of East Liverpool led dancing, which concluded the party.

Union Of Globe Brick Plans For Negotiations

Local 647 of the United Brick & Clay Workers Union of the Globe Brick Co. voted at a meeting Thursday night to continue present officers pending negotiations for a new contract with the Newell firm.

Ernest Phillips, recording secretary, said William Brewer, president, and the other officers will continue to serve until after contract talks probably late in July. The union will begin discussing contract terms at its next meeting June 18 in the IOOF Hall at Newell.

The union was certified as bargaining representative for employes after an NLRB election about a year ago. The workers had no union previously, according to Phillips.

Pottery Locals Pick Delegates To Annual Convention In July

Eighteen East Liverpool local unions have elected delegates to the 65th annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which will open Monday, July 6, at the Sheraton-Mt. Royal Hotel in Montreal, Canada.

It's the first time an IBOP convention has been held in Canada, where the union has at least four locals. Locals elect delegates on the basis of their membership. The convention is expected to continue about a week.

Until a few years ago, the convention helped fix contract demands that would be presented to manufacturers — acting on petitions from local unions — but the job of negotiating wage pacts has been turned over to an international wage policy committee.

Will Pay For Use Of Plane If Billed, Ohio Senator Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Sen. Ray T. Miller Jr. (D-Cuyahoga) says if billed, he will pay for the use of an Ohio Air National Guard plane that flew him and other legislators to Cleveland.

The adjutant general's office said an investigation of the flight will be made and a report sent to the National Guard Bureau in Washington.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer reported that Miller and four other legislators, plus the Senate clerk, made the trip Tuesday to vote in the annual election of a fraternal organization in which Miller was a candidate for office.

Adj. Gen. Loren G. Windom said that when Miller made arrangements for the Columbus-to-Cleveland (and return) flight, he was warned that any use of the twin-engine C47 transport other than for official business might mean the legislators would have to pay costs.

Texas Judge To Set Long's Sanity Airing

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A Texas judge is expected to set a date today for Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long's sanity hearing.

Probate Judge Hugh Gibson, who committed the 63-year-old governor to the protective custody of hospital here, has indicated he would hear arguments on June 16.

That would be two weeks to the day that a National Guard plane spirited the fiery Long in an unannounced flight from the state capital. Texas law requires a sanity hearing within 14 days of a commitment.

The governor's wife, Blanche, and a cousin, Dr. Arthur Long, requested a custody order for his own protection "and that of others."

Just what the governor's course of action will be at the hearing and whether the session will be open is still not known.

Meanwhile, indications are that Governor Long has accepted his confinement and continues to improve.

Sen. Russell Long (D-La) told newsmen in Baton Rouge, La., that his uncle "might be back (at the capital) within a month." Long had just returned from Galveston, where he conferred with attending physicians.

Long has announced he'll resign as governor and try for a fourth term. To do it, he would have to quit before his term ends, qualify by the Sept. 15 deadline, and run in the December primary.

Crowning Marks 6th Grade Party Staged By PTA

Crowning of Linda Rolley as queen and Dick Call as king highlighted the party for sixth grade students of MacDonald School of Wellsville, given by the Parent-Teacher Association Wednesday night. The students will enter Daw Junior High School in the fall.

John Mackcov, principal, placed gold crowns on the heads of the royal pair and presented them a trophy. Mrs. Raymond Rolley pinned corsages on her daughter and her attendants. Nancy Todd, Nancy Huston, Charles Murray and Ralph Andrews were in the court. The king and queen were chosen by a vote of the class.

Jack Amato was master of ceremonies and read the class will and prophecy.

The program was comprised of band music by Terry O'Hara, Carl Snediker, Bobby Milligan, Tommy Geer, Cindy Davidson, Faye Pickens and Judy Blackledge; tap dances, Linda Rolley and Faye Pickens; vocal selections, Nancy Todd, Linda Rolley, Juanita Daniels, Mary Moore, Vickie Curry, Cindy Davidson and Jane Culp; piano solos, Richard Bratt; hula dance, Donna D'Angelo; ballroom dance, Nancy Huston and Terry O'Hara; pantomime, Dick Call, Richie Bratt and Vickie Curry, and jokes, Jerry Medley.

A buffet lunch was served 72 students and their teachers, Miss Helene Beaumont and Mrs. Marie Merriman, guests, by Mrs. Bert Clark, PTA president, Mrs. Rolley and Mrs. J. L. Jackson, assisted by homeroom mothers. Rolls of candy, wrapped to represent dipplomas, were favors. The room was decorated with spring flowers and balloons. Sam Parkes of East Liverpool led dancing, which concluded the party.

Union Of Globe Brick Plans For Negotiations

Local 647 of the United Brick & Clay Workers Union of the Globe Brick Co. voted at a meeting Thursday night to continue present officers pending negotiations for a new contract with the Newell firm.

Ernest Phillips, recording secretary, said William Brewer, president, and the other officers will continue to serve until after contract talks probably late in July. The union will begin discussing contract terms at its next meeting June 18 in the IOOF Hall at Newell.

The union was certified as bargaining representative for employes after an NLRB election about a year ago. The workers had no union previously, according to Phillips.

Somoza Says Rebel Threat 'About Over'

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza claimed Thursday night that the threat to his regime from invading rebels and a general strike is "about over."

The 37-year-old dictator said again that his 2,000-man army has the situation under control.

He told a news conference for foreign correspondents that the decision of the Organization of American States (OAS) to investigate the situation in Nicaragua guarantees peace.

Somoza had appealed to the OAS for hemispheric aid, but the organization's council voted 17-2 in Washington Thursday to empower a committee only to collect information. Council members stressed that they did not want to intervene if the rebellion is a purely internal affair, as Cuba's representative claimed.

"Crazy adventurers" was Somoza's term for the two planeloads of Nicaraguan exiles and others who landed from Costa Rica last weekend in an attempt to launch an uprising against his regime. He said the rebels "are running so fast we cannot catch them."

(In San Jose, Costa Rica, the Nicaraguan rebels issued a communique claiming that the rebel forces were being joined by volunteer insurgents. It said the two groups of rebels were planning to link up and then to march on Managua.)

Sighting Of Red Sub Off Iceland Reported By Navy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has reported sighting of a Soviet submarine in waters about 150 to 200 miles south of Iceland on May 29.

The vessel was spotted on the surface by the U.S. submarine Grenadier and a Navy patrol plane, engaged in exercises in the area.

The report was made public by the Navy in response to inquiries.

It was noted that the Soviet sub was operating in an area commonly used by Soviet ships in entering the Atlantic from the Barents Sea.

The reference to Navy exercises under way at the time may have meant the Russian sub was watching U.S. naval operations.

Somoza Says Rebel Threat 'About Over'

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza claimed Thursday night that the threat to his regime from invading rebels and a general strike is "about over."

The 37-year-old dictator said again that his 2,000-man army has the situation under control.

He told a news conference for foreign correspondents that the decision of the Organization of American States (OAS) to investigate the situation in Nicaragua guarantees peace.

Somoza had appealed to the OAS for hemispheric aid, but the organization's council voted 17-2 in Washington Thursday to empower a committee only to collect information. Council members stressed that they did not want to intervene if the rebellion is a purely internal affair, as Cuba's representative claimed.

"Crazy adventurers" was Somoza's term for the two planeloads of Nicaraguan exiles and others who landed from Costa Rica last weekend in an attempt to launch an uprising against his regime. He said the rebels "are running so fast we cannot catch them."

(In San Jose, Costa Rica, the Nicaraguan rebels issued a communique claiming that the rebel forces were being joined by volunteer insurgents. It said the two groups of rebels were planning to link up and then to march on Managua.)

The contract calls for a rate of 1.66 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 10,000 kilowatt hours, 1.16 cents per kilowatt hour for the next 90,000 kilowatt hours and .86 cents per kilowatt hour for all over 100,000.

Sprenz Given 2 More Terms In Bank Theft

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A trip to Akron will probably be the last before federal prison doors open to Frank L. Sprenz, dubbed the flying bank robber.

He was sentenced to two more prison terms Thursday in Butler County Common Pleas Court on charges stemming from a Hamilton bank robbery.

In Akron, Sprenz, 29, faces charges of robbery and jail breaking.

In court Thursday, he said, "Since I escaped from the Summit County jail in Akron, I have felt like I was walking on a glass sidewalk that might break at any moment.

"I have very many regrets for a very lonesome and regretful life."

Sprenz was convicted Thursday on state charges in the $25,955 holdup last March of a branch of the First National Bank here.

Judge Fred B. Cramer sentenced him to 20 years in Ohio Penitentiary, but allowed Sprenz to serve it concurrent with two federal prison terms.

In the afternoon, Sprenz was convicted of stealing an airplane after the bank holdup and sentenced to a 1-to-7 year term.

But the judge suspended that penalty until after federal officials release him from custody.

In the same case, Sprenz guilty plea to federal charges brought him a 25-year prison term.

Sprenz Given 2 More Terms In Bank Theft

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A trip to Akron will probably be the last before federal prison doors open to Frank L. Sprenz, dubbed the flying bank robber.

He was sentenced to two more prison terms Thursday in Butler County Common Pleas Court on charges stemming from a Hamilton bank robbery.

In Akron, Sprenz, 29, faces charges of robbery and jail breaking.

In court Thursday, he said, "Since I escaped from the Summit County jail in Akron, I have felt like I was walking on a glass sidewalk that might break at any moment.

"I have very many regrets for a very lonesome and regretful life."

Sprenz was convicted Thursday on state charges in the $25,955 holdup last March of a branch of the First National Bank here.

Judge Fred B. Cramer sentenced him to 20 years in Ohio Penitentiary, but allowed Sprenz to serve it concurrent with two federal prison terms.

In the afternoon, Sprenz was convicted of stealing an airplane after the bank holdup and sentenced to a 1-to-7 year term.

But the judge suspended that penalty until after federal officials release him from custody.

In the same case, Sprenz guilty plea to federal charges brought him a 25-year prison term.

He also drew 25 years on his guilty pleas to five federal charges of auto and plane theft. Judge John H. Druffel stipulated that these terms would be served concurrent with the holdup sentences.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My wife drinks. Not just a couple at a party or a highball before dinner—she must have liquor every day.

Our children (three boys) accept her drinking matter-of-factly. A pal of our 11-year-old son asked why his mother acted "so loud." He said openly, "She's drunk."

I've tried to get to the bottom of her problem but it's no use. She says liquor gives her temporary freedom from her worries. When I ask, "What worries?" she can't tell me. She says, "Liquor makes me happy. Let me drink if I want to."

I've begged her to get professional help but she has no faith in doctors. When I suggested AA she said, "It's not dignified." I know you can't solve this problem, but perhaps you can say something to help me understand it better.—JUST JOHN.

-:-

Dear John: Your wife needs outside help, and plenty of it. If she refuses, you've got to keep trying to persuade her.

AA does a magnificent job. Too bad it's not "dignified" enough for your wife. Perhaps it's more dignified to appear slopped to the eyeballs before her children and their friends?

People who think liquor makes them happy don't know what happiness is or where to look for it. One thing is certain—it's not at the bottom of that bottle.

Happiness is security; it's the ability to face daily tensions, disappointments and failure. Every living human has something to put up with. Happiness isn't a state of suphoria, complete freedom from anxiety or unlimited financial resources.

It's the ability to take it on the chin without buckling. It's accepting life's bum breaks without getting bitter or reaching for the bottle—or the pill box. Happiness is being able to think through your problems, not pretending they don't exist by fleeing into a state of fantasy.

Your wife needs to grow up. It's not what happens to us in this life but how we take it, that counts.

Interfering In-Law

Dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law is driving me nuts. Every day she phones me and says "Have another baby. You'll be sorry later if you don't.

We've been married six years and we have three. As far as I'm concerned, three is enough. My husband says it's up to me. He's perfectly satisfied either way.

She keeps telling me how "wonderful" a large family is. I came from a family of two children and I don't feel I missed anything. My husband has three sisters and four brothers and they all fight like cats and dogs. Three of them don't speak to each other and two don't speak to their mother.

I don't want to be rude, but my temper-string is short. Any suggestions?—FULL HOUSE.

Dear Full: The size of the family is nobody's business except the two people directly responsible, namely the mother and father. Ask your husband to tell his mother to stop boring you. She may mean well but she's off base.

It's Free Country

Dear Ann: My girl friend who pretends to be so faithful and loyal has been making a play for my best boy friend. We aren't going steady but we are going steadily.

I learned she invited him to her house last night to listen to records and he stayed until midnight. There's an unwritten law that you're supposed to leave other people's property alone. Shall I tell her and ruin our friendship?—GILDA.

-:-

Dear Gilda: What do you mean "property?" You bought this boy in a slave market? The quickest way to lose a fellow is to act as though you own him. If you're smart you'll say nothing, date others and let him know you believe in complete freedom for everybody.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My wife drinks. Not just a couple at a party or a highball before dinner—she must have liquor every day.

Our children (three boys) accept her drinking matter-of-factly. A pal of our 11-year-old son asked why his mother acted "so loud." He said openly, "She's drunk."

I've tried to get to the bottom of her problem but it's no use. She says liquor gives her temporary freedom from her worries. When I ask, "What worries?" she can't tell me. She says, "Liquor makes me happy. Let me drink if I want to."

I've begged her to get professional help but she has no faith in doctors. When I suggested AA she said, "It's not dignified." I know you can't solve this problem, but perhaps you can say something to help me understand it better.—JUST JOHN.

-:-

Dear John: Your wife needs outside help, and plenty of it. If she refuses, you've got to keep trying to persuade her.

AA does a magnificent job. Too bad it's not "dignified" enough for your wife. Perhaps it's more dignified to appear slopped to the eyeballs before her children and their friends?

People who think liquor makes them happy don't know what happiness is or where to look for it. One thing is certain—it's not at the bottom of that bottle.

Happiness is security; it's the ability to face daily tensions, disappointments and failure. Every living human has something to put up with. Happiness isn't a state of suphoria, complete freedom from anxiety or unlimited financial resources.

It's the ability to take it on the chin without buckling. It's accepting life's bum breaks without getting bitter or reaching for the bottle—or the pill box. Happiness is being able to think through your problems, not pretending they don't exist by fleeing into a state of fantasy.

Your wife needs to grow up. It's not what happens to us in this life but how we take it, that counts.

Interfering In-Law

Dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law is driving me nuts. Every day she phones me and says "Have another baby. You'll be sorry later if you don't.

We've been married six years and we have three. As far as I'm concerned, three is enough. My husband says it's up to me. He's perfectly satisfied either way.

She keeps telling me how "wonderful" a large family is. I came from a family of two children and I don't feel I missed anything. My husband has three sisters and four brothers and they all fight like cats and dogs. Three of them don't speak to each other and two don't speak to their mother.

I don't want to be rude, but my temper-string is short. Any suggestions?—FULL HOUSE.

Dear Full: The size of the family is nobody's business except the two people directly responsible, namely the mother and father. Ask your husband to tell his mother to stop boring you. She may mean well but she's off base.

It's Free Country

Dear Ann: My girl friend who pretends to be so faithful and loyal has been making a play for my best boy friend. We aren't going steady but we are going steadily.

I learned she invited him to her house last night to listen to records and he stayed until midnight. There's an unwritten law that you're supposed to leave other people's property alone. Shall I tell her and ruin our friendship?—GILDA.

-:-

Dear Gilda: What do you mean "property?" You bought this boy in a slave market? The quickest way to lose a fellow is to act as though you own him. If you're smart you'll say nothing, date others and let him know you believe in complete freedom for everybody.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Rail Unions Oppose Plan On Study Unit

CLEVELAND (AP)—The major railroad operating unions will not go along with a management proposal for a special presidential commission to study and recommend changes in railroad working rules.

In reply to a proposal by Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Assn. of American Railroads, top leaders of five rail unions said Thursday they would readily meet with management to discuss "all phases . . . of the industry" but would not join in proposing appointment of a presidential commission.

Their letter to Loomis said, "We believe it significant that you have completely ignored our condition that a complete study of the financial structure of the industry must be included, as well as management practices which adversely affect the economic soundness of this important public service."

The union leaders also brushed off as "false propaganda" management charges that work rules negotiated in the past with the unions sanction featherbedding.

Signing the letter were representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the Switchmen's Union of North America, and the Order of Railway Conductors.

Church May Retain Minister Who Admitted 'Involvement'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A San Antonio minister, who asked his congregation to replace him because he became involved with a woman member of the church, looked like a good bet today to be retained by the church.

Clarence Boatright, chairman of a special committee appointed to study the request of the Rev. W. S. McBirnie, said Thursday 90 per cent of the Board of Deacons of Trinity Baptist church favor retaining McBirnie.

There was no immediate reaction from the congregation. The standing-room-only crowd which heard McBirnie beg for forgiveness and ask to be replaced discussed the situation quietly after the meeting Wednesday night, but there were no demonstrations.

The 39-year-old pastor of San Anontio's second largest Baptist church went before the congregation to confirm published reports on an "improper involvement" between himself and an unnamed member of the church.

McBirnie, married and the father of a teen-age son, said the involvement—on which he did not elaborate—came after he took the side of the wife while trying to patch up a domestic quarrel between a husband and wife in his congregation.

When he failed to reconcile the couple, McBirnie said, he became involved with the wife.

McBirnie gave an exclusive interview to San Antonio News columnist Paul Thompson in which he admitted the situation. He told the church meeting he sought out Thompson because his action was a matter for public concern.

Construction Problem Solved By Television

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Closed-circuit television has solved a problem that long plagued the sidewalk superintendent, supervising construction work on the upper floors of Libbey-Owens-Ford office building office buildings.

When work on the new 15-story here reached the 10th floor, a television camera was installed to flash action to a screen located at eye-level on the sidewalk. The live drama features the steelworkers astride beams silhouetted against the Toledo skyline.

Sidewalk supers apparently like the new departure. One called it "the newest freedom, the freedom from strain."

Ugly Duckling Story Slander, Curator Says

ST. LOUIS (AP)—That old story about the ugly duckling is a slander, believes bird curator Henry Sanders of the St. Louis Zoo.

Looking over three week-old black swans at the zoo, Sanders said they have bright eyes, pearl-gray down, and beaks as shiny as patent leather.

"Swans go through a teen-age period when they do not look like much," he said, "but who doesn't?"

Resisted His Advances

Honor Student Confesses To Strangling Of Girl, 3

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A high school honor student confessed Thursday night that he strangled the 3-year-old daughter of a University professor when she resisted his advances.

"I did it," Edward Cooney Jr., 15, quietly told a detective who was participating in a house-to-house search for the missing child. He then led the detective to the basement of his home where they found the body of Becky Holt stuffed in a closet. She was fully clothed.

Cooney met the detective on the sidewalk as he returned from church. He said he confessed to a priest and the priest told him it was the boy's obligation to tell authorities.

For hours police and volunteers had been looking for Becky, who hadn't been seen since early afternoon. As news of the tragedy spread through the residential area, neighbors converged on the Cooney home, only six doors from the Holt house.

Edward's mother, Kay, kneeled beside the dead child praying and moaning, "It can't be. He couldn't have done it. He was outside all day."

Edward sat on a basement step, his head on his knees, repeating, "I did it. I did it. I don't know why. Something just came over me that I can't explain." His father, a construction engineer, stood silently nearby. Edward is his only son.

The boy was booked on a homicide charge and held at the youth study center.

Becky's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anatol Holt, were placed under a doctor's care. Her father is a mathematics professor from Latvia attached to the Sperry Rand Univac Project at the University of Pennsylvania.

Rail Unions Oppose Plan On Study Unit

CLEVELAND (AP)—The major railroad operating unions will not go along with a management proposal for a special presidential commission to study and recommend changes in railroad working rules.

In reply to a proposal by Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Assn. of American Railroads, top leaders of five rail unions said Thursday they would readily meet with management to discuss "all phases . . . of the industry" but would not join in proposing appointment of a presidential commission.

Their letter to Loomis said, "We believe it significant that you have completely ignored our condition that a complete study of the financial structure of the industry must be included, as well as management practices which adversely affect the economic soundness of this important public service."

The union leaders also brushed off as "false propaganda" management charges that work rules negotiated in the past with the unions sanction featherbedding.

Signing the letter were representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the Switchmen's Union of North America, and the Order of Railway Conductors.

Church May Retain Minister Who Admitted 'Involvement'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A San Antonio minister, who asked his congregation to replace him because he became involved with a woman member of the church, looked like a good bet today to be retained by the church.

Clarence Boatright, chairman of a special committee appointed to study the request of the Rev. W. S. McBirnie, said Thursday 90 per cent of the Board of Deacons of Trinity Baptist church favor retaining McBirnie.

There was no immediate reaction from the congregation. The standing-room-only crowd which heard McBirnie beg for forgiveness and ask to be replaced discussed the situation quietly after the meeting Wednesday night, but there were no demonstrations.

The 39-year-old pastor of San Anontio's second largest Baptist church went before the congregation to confirm published reports on an "improper involvement" between himself and an unnamed member of the church.

McBirnie, married and the father of a teen-age son, said the involvement—on which he did not elaborate—came after he took the side of the wife while trying to patch up a domestic quarrel between a husband and wife in his congregation.

When he failed to reconcile the couple, McBirnie said, he became involved with the wife.

McBirnie gave an exclusive interview to San Antonio News columnist Paul Thompson in which he admitted the situation. He told the church meeting he sought out Thompson because his action was a matter for public concern.

Construction Problem Solved By Television

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Closed-circuit television has solved a problem that long plagued the sidewalk superintendent, supervising construction work on the upper floors of Libbey-Owens-Ford office building office buildings.

When work on the new 15-story here reached the 10th floor, a television camera was installed to flash action to a screen located at eye-level on the sidewalk. The live drama features the steelworkers astride beams silhouetted against the Toledo skyline.

Sidewalk supers apparently like the new departure. One called it "the newest freedom, the freedom from strain."

Ugly Duckling Story Slander, Curator Says

ST. LOUIS (AP)—That old story about the ugly duckling is a slander, believes bird curator Henry Sanders of the St. Louis Zoo.

Looking over three week-old black swans at the zoo, Sanders said they have bright eyes, pearl-gray down, and beaks as shiny as patent leather.

"Swans go through a teen-age period when they do not look like much," he said, "but who doesn't?"

Resisted His Advances

Honor Student Confesses To Strangling Of Girl, 3

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A high school honor student confessed Thursday night that he strangled the 3-year-old daughter of a University professor when she resisted his advances.

"I did it," Edward Cooney Jr., 15, quietly told a detective who was participating in a house-to-house search for the missing child. He then led the detective to the basement of his home where they found the body of Becky Holt stuffed in a closet. She was fully clothed.

Cooney met the detective on the sidewalk as he returned from church. He said he confessed to a priest and the priest told him it was the boy's obligation to tell authorities.

For hours police and volunteers had been looking for Becky, who hadn't been seen since early afternoon. As news of the tragedy spread through the residential area, neighbors converged on the Cooney home, only six doors from the Holt house.

Edward's mother, Kay, kneeled beside the dead child praying and moaning, "It can't be. He couldn't have done it. He was outside all day."

Edward sat on a basement step, his head on his knees, repeating, "I did it. I did it. I don't know why. Something just came over me that I can't explain." His father, a construction engineer, stood silently nearby. Edward is his only son.

The boy was booked on a homicide charge and held at the youth study center.

Becky's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anatol Holt, were placed under a doctor's care. Her father is a mathematics professor from Latvia attached to the Sperry Rand Univac Project at the University of Pennsylvania.

Ex-Nazi POW Must Leave U.S. Or Face Deportation

CINCINNATI (AP)—Kurt Franz Rossmeisl, escaped prisoner of war who hid from U. S. officialdom for 11 years, has a fresh look at his future and his past.

He now knows he must leave this country or be deported. A U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service examiner ruled Thursday he is in this country illegally because he has no visa.

He now knows his Dutch wartime wife and daughter are still alive and well. But his wife, Anna, has remarried again and their daughter, Brunhilde, 17, says she might like to see her real father —but just once.

The World War II German Army officer said he walked nonchalantly out the front gate of Camp Butner, N. C., in August 1945, determined to stay in this country.

Rossmeisl, now 53, balding and afflicted by arthritis, agreed Thursday to voluntarily leave the United States, but vowed he would not go far away.

Rossmeisl asked for six weeks to get his affairs together, saying, "I hope to go to Mexico, and go to the nearest American consulate and apply for an American visa."

Rossmeisl, once a trained linguist with Rommel's Afrika Korps, said he lived quietly, anonymously, in Chicago as "Frank Ellis" for 14 years after his escape.

He surrendered to the FBI here May 10, after coming to Cincinnati to seek work.

Rossmeisl learned only Thursday about his former wife and their daughter who still live in The Hague, Holland. His wife remarried in 1953.

A German newspaper said she did not want to see her former husband and quoted her saying, "I hope that he never comes here."

Life Termer To Face New Trial For Murder

GRAYSON, Ky. (AP)—Eugene Henry, 34, of Hanging Rock, Ohio, near Ironton, already serving a life sentence for murder, will go on trial here June 16 for a fatal shooting connected with the previous episode.

He pleaded innocent and claimed self-defense when arraigned here Thursday, charged with killing Charles (Chad) Norris, 38.

Henry testified he shot and killed Pearlie Mae Bush accidentally when they tussled for a gun she held after she accused him of slaying Norris. The 23-year-old woman had been living with Norris.

Reds' Philosophy Outlined For Club

A talk on communism, its philosophy, recruiting methods and plans, was given by the Rev. Peter Varonof of Cleveland at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

An official of the Crusade for God and Freedom Against Communism, Inc., Rev. Varonof pointed out communism dwells on the unit or state rather than on the individual and discussed its recruiting methods.

Asia will be the next target for communism with the encirclement plans then being concentrated on Africa. The communists then will launch a drive to sell Europe, Rev. Varonof said.

Maj. William Murtaugh of the Salvation Army was program chairman.

Rowland T. Kaufman, president, announced the Board of Directors will meet Monday noon at the hotel. Atty. Guy Mauro of Salem, Kiwanis lieutenant governor, will speak at Thursday's meeting.

Gold Star Mother Sends Her Sixth Son Into Navy

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Widowed Mary Smith, a Gold Star mother, has only household duties to occupy her time these days.

She bade a familiar farewell last week to her 17-year-old son, Floyd, the sixth of her sons who joined the Navy. One never returned.

The pattern formed 17 years ago when her sons Howard and Donald enlisted together for Navy service in World War II. They trained as recruits at Great Lakes, Ill., and for a time served aboard the same sub chaser.

A new assignment sent Howard to armed guard duty aboard the merchant vessel SS Walter Gretchen in the North Atlantic. He was one of 17 crewmen who survived the ships sinking by a U-boat torpedo.

Howard and Donald were discharged in 1945.

Meanwhile, their brother Lionell had joined the Navy at the age of 17 in May 1944. He lost his life aboard the USS Hoel, a destroyer, in the battle for the Philippine Islands.

In June 1948, Charles E. Smith became the fourth of the sons to join the Navy. He served aboard a landing ship during the construction of a United States military base at Thule, Greenland.

The fifth brother, Alfred, joined the Navy in February 1955. After service aboard the battleship Iowa and heavy cruiser Salem, he was called home by his father's fatal illness in 1957 and completed part of his hitch at Muskegon Naval Reserve Training Center before being returned to destroyer duty. Alfred re-enlisted last week.

Three other children of Mrs. Smith, two boys and a girl, died in infancy.

Wellsville Youth To Get Degrees From 2 Colleges

A Wellsville youth will receive degrees from two colleges next week.

Richard Frederick (Fritz) Schneidmiller, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Schneidmiller, 992 Main St., will receive a bachelor's degree from Muskingum College Monday.

He will go to Pittsburgh Tuesday to receive a bachelor's degree in industrial management from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Schneidmiller spent three years at Muskingum and the last two years at Carnegie Tech. He was graduated from Wellsville High School in 1954.

Miss Mary Lee Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dawson of Manor Ln., also will be graduated from Carnegie Tech Tuesday, receiving a bachelor's degree in secretarial education.

A graduate of East Liverpool High School in 1955, she was a member of the Secretarial Club, Technon, Tartan newspaper staff and Delta Gamma Sorority, of which she was corresponding secretary.

Tea Planned To Honor Parochial Principal

A tea will be given by members of the parish of the Presentation Catholic Church of Midland Sunday afternoon in honor of Sister Margaretta, principal of the Parochial School.

Sister Margaretta is being recalled for a routine transfer and will leave July 5 for the mother house of Mt. Alvernia at Millvale, Pa.

She has been in Midland 10 years. She was a teacher from 1944 to 1949 and returned in 1953 as principal.

The tea, with Mrs. John Mueller and Mrs. Emeric Davis in charge, will be held from 2 to 3 p. m. in the church lyceum.

A new principal will be appointed about Aug. 20.

Canton Man Elected

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The new president of the National Assn. of Plumbing Contractors is Irvin Rechkemmer of Canton, Ohio, J. H. Sonhnlen of Louisville, near Canton, was elected secretary of the association at its meeting here Thursday.

Bids Due Monday On School Project

The Board of Education will receive bids Monday at 1 p. m. for construction of a fire escape at Lincoln School.

However, no action is expected to be taken until the board's regular meeting June 15 at 7:30 p. m., Supt. Ralph W. Betts said.

At least four firms have expressed interest in the project.

The board was ordered to install the fire escape from two second-floor rooms by the Division of Factory and Building Inspection of the Department of Industrial Relations.

The order was issued following an inspection of the school by Paul Baxter, state building inspector.

It calls for doorways to be cut from the middle and south rooms on the east side of the building and installation of a balcony with a fire escape to ground level.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures are expected to average 4-9 degrees above normal. Normal high 78 north, 81 south. Normal low 56-59. Continued warm through the five days with dry weather continuing over weekend. Some chance of showers early next week.

Detour Affects Travel Between Lisbon, Salem

Route 45 is closed at a point about five miles north of Lisbon because of a State Highway Department project to improve the main Salem-Lisbon road at Eagleton's Glen.

Temporary Route 45 takes traffic on Route 30 from Lisbon to Hanoverton and then along Route 9 to Salem. A shorter route for travel between East Liverpool and Salem is via Route 7 to Columbiana and then west on Route 14 to Salem.

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Widowed Mary Smith, a Gold Star mother, has only household duties to occupy her time these days.

She bade a familiar farewell last week to her 17-year-old son, Floyd, the sixth of her sons who joined the Navy. One never returned.

The pattern formed 17 years ago when her sons Howard and Donald enlisted together for Navy service in World War II. They trained as recruits at Great Lakes, Ill., and for a time served aboard the same sub chaser.

A new assignment sent Howard to armed guard duty aboard the merchant vessel SS Walter Gretchen in the North Atlantic. He was one of 17 crewmen who survived the ships sinking by a U-boat torpedo.

Howard and Donald were discharged in 1945.

Meanwhile, their brother Lionell had joined the Navy at the age of 17 in May 1944. He lost his life aboard the USS Hoel, a destroyer, in the battle for the Philippine Islands.

In June 1948, Charles E. Smith became the fourth of the sons to join the Navy. He served aboard a landing ship during the construction of a United States military base at Thule, Greenland.

The fifth brother, Alfred, joined the Navy in February 1955. After service aboard the battleship Iowa and heavy cruiser Salem, he was called home by his father's fatal illness in 1957 and completed part of his hitch at Muskegon Naval Reserve Training Center before being returned to destroyer duty. Alfred re-enlisted last week.

Three other children of Mrs. Smith, two boys and a girl, died in infancy.

Wellsville Youth To Get Degrees From 2 Colleges

A Wellsville youth will receive degrees from two colleges next week.

Richard Frederick (Fritz) Schneidmiller, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Schneidmiller, 992 Main St., will receive a bachelor's degree from Muskingum College Monday.

He will go to Pittsburgh Tuesday to receive a bachelor's degree in industrial management from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Schneidmiller spent three years at Muskingum and the last two years at Carnegie Tech. He was graduated from Wellsville High School in 1954.

Miss Mary Lee Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dawson of Manor Ln., also will be graduated from Carnegie Tech Tuesday, receiving a bachelor's degree in secretarial education.

A graduate of East Liverpool High School in 1955, she was a member of the Secretarial Club, Technon, Tartan newspaper staff and Delta Gamma Sorority, of which she was corresponding secretary.

Tea Planned To Honor Parochial Principal

A tea will be given by members of the parish of the Presentation Catholic Church of Midland Sunday afternoon in honor of Sister Margaretta, principal of the Parochial School.

Sister Margaretta is being recalled for a routine transfer and will leave July 5 for the mother house of Mt. Alvernia at Millvale, Pa.

She has been in Midland 10 years. She was a teacher from 1944 to 1949 and returned in 1953 as principal.

The tea, with Mrs. John Mueller and Mrs. Emeric Davis in charge, will be held from 2 to 3 p. m. in the church lyceum.

A new principal will be appointed about Aug. 20.

Canton Man Elected

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The new president of the National Assn. of Plumbing Contractors is Irvin Rechkemmer of Canton, Ohio. J. H. Sonhnlen of Louisville, near Canton, was elected secretary of the association at its meeting here Thursday.

Bids Due Monday On School Project

The Board of Education will receive bids Monday at 1 p. m. for construction of a fire escape at Lincoln School.

However, no action is expected to be taken until the board's regular meeting June 15 at 7:30 p. m., Supt. Ralph W. Betts said.

At least four firms have expressed interest in the project.

The board was ordered to install the fire escape from two second-floor rooms by the Division of Factory and Building Inspection of the Department of Industrial Relations.

The order was issued following an inspection of the school by Paul Baxter, state building inspector.

It calls for doorways to be cut from the middle and south rooms on the east side of the building and installation of a balcony with a fire escape to ground level.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures are expected to average 4-9 degrees above normal. Normal high 78 north, 81 south. Normal low 56-59. Continued warm through the five days with dry weather continuing over weekend. Some chance of showers early next week.

Detour Affects Travel Between Lisbon, Salem

Route 45 is closed at a point about five miles north of Lisbon because of a State Highway Department project to improve the main Salem-Lisbon road at Eagleton's Glen.

Temporary Route 45 takes traffic on Route 30 from Lisbon to Hanoverton and then along Route 9 to Salem. A shorter route for travel between East Liverpool and Salem is via Route 7 to Columbiana and then west on Route 14 to Salem.

Out Of The Air

It Has To Have A Format

John Crosby is on vacation. While he is away his column is being written by guest writers.

By NATHANIEL BENCHLEY

I recently saw a few of my father's old motion picture shorts, in preparation for a showing of them next Sunday, and it was a strange and rewarding experience.

Most of these pictures are about 17 years old, and yet it was somehow like seeing a friend whom you would swear you had seen only last week.

Two things impressed me about them (he made more than 50, of which I originally saw only about one-third, so I was seeing some for the first time), and one was that they were, all of them, deceptively simple.

A single idea served as the threat on which the eight or nine minutes of action was hung, and that idea could be anything from the question of physical fitness to the menace of inanimate objects.

ALL THE IDEAS were drawn from the general problems of life 17 or more years ago, and it is, I suppose, of some comfort to know that those problems, at least, haven't changed in the intervening time.

As a matter of fact, a good number of the shorts were based on ideas taken from his books, which in turn were collections of articles he had written for newspapers and magazines, so it is possible that some of the shorts stem from ideas that first saw the light of print in 1917.

THE OTHER THING that impressed me was the lack of gags. There was not a great deal of outright laughter from those of us who were watching, but everybody was smiling all the time — or chuckling, if you prefer the more repulsive word.

As far as I am concerned, eight minutes of chuckles are worth more than a half hour of yoks, but I began to wonder how, under the present conditions of humor on television, these shorts could find a sponsor, or even air-time, if they were to be presented as new.

New shows today have to be so heavily rewritten, and so carefully researched, and so theoretically foolproof audience-reactionwise (or reaction-proof audience fool-wise) that something as fragile and gentle as these wouldn't even survive the initial countdown of the thinking-off-the-top-of-the-head stage.

In the first place, somebody would be bound to demand dubbed laughter in where there couldn't possible be any, it would be like the man who laughs so hard at his own joke that he barely can get to the punch line, and when he does he finds he's forgotten it.

ANOTHER THING that's very important these days is format.

Not only must the pilot film be burnished to fit the predetermined specifications for audience enjoyment, but before a series is sold there must be a predictable format, so that anyone tuning in in the middle of any of the shows will know exactly where he is, and be able to settle back with the comfortable assurance that in a minute So-and-So is going to break a leg, or Such-and-Such is going to hit the fan.

The cry, "It must have a format!" is one that makes the Madison Ave. welkin ring, and even when some pioneer pipes up with "Let's do an offbeat show!" the reply is, "Splendid! Somebody think up an offbeat format!"

The shorts did, to be fair, have a format. They were illustrated lectures, and each one took a certain subject and discussed it from a certain point of view. But that was all.

I can hear now the reaction in the industry if a man should say, "I've got a kind of funny idea for an illustrated lecture; it's about the things wives do to annoy their husbands — you know, like messing up the paper, and things like . . ."

Which is about as far as he would get.

Court Income Gains Slightly

Bouncing back slightly from a sharp dip in April, Municipal Court's income hit $5,810 in May, out of which it turned over $5,344 to the city treasury, it was shown today in the monthly report of Clerk Harold L. Powell.

May's revenue was up $564 from the $5,246 shown in April while the city's share last month increased $665 over the $4,679 it was given in April. The downturn in April came after the court collected $6,800 in March, turning over $7,581 of the total to the city treasury.

Last month's revenue was made up of $645 in civil costs and $4,698 in fines, costs and forfeitures from criminal actions.

In addition to the amount paid the city, the court turned over $222 to the state as its share of fines resulting from Highway Patrol cases, $168 to the county — also from state cases — and $75 to the Law Library Association.

The total amount handled by the court last month was $11,622, off $123 from the $11,745 shown in the preceding month. The total included $5,480 in the civil branch and $6,141 in the criminal branch. The money includes receipts from trusteeships and judgments in civil actions, which are passed onto plaintiffs and creditors, and refunded bonds in criminal cases.

A breakdown of cases showed: 81 civil cases filed, 37 disposed of and 168 left pending; 106 city criminal cases filed, 104 disposed of and 20 left pending, and 25 state criminal cases filed, 26 disposed of and 74 left pending.

Special Buses To Serve City Picnic Crowd

Chartered buses will help carry East Liverpool crowds to Meyers Lake Park at Canton June 20 for the 31st annual Potters Picnic, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today.

Round - trip fares on Inter-City Bus Co. vehicles will be $2.65 for adults and $1.35 for children, the union's picnic committee said. The first runs will leave the Bus Terminal at 7 a. m. Others will depart as they are filled with passengers, with the last bus leaving the city at noon. On the return trip, the first bus will leave the Stark County resort at 7 p. m. and the last will depart at 11.

The picnic committee said it also is considering arranging chartered bus service for potters in other communities, including East Palestine, New Castle, Sebring, Alliance and Canonsburg.

There will be a "bonus" for early arrivals at Meyers Lake. From 10 a. m. until noon, virtually all rides in the park will be free. The only exceptions are the roller coaster and the so - called "putt-putt boats," the committee said.

Looking forward to favorable weather, the committee said the outing is expected to attract 30,000 potters, their families and friends from throughout the East. It added that three of the "old standards" are on the program again for this year: A baby contest, a penny scramble for youngsters and the "junior bathing beauty contest." As usual, there will be free coffee and cream available at meal times, the committee added.

Romance That Began In Pen 6 Years Ago Ends In Wedding

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — The first time lawyer Marjorie Sue King visited client Emory N. Brown in federal prison, an assistant warden told her:

"There is no need for you to go see Emory Brown; there's nothing you can do for him now."

"He was so wrong," said Miss King Wednesday.

That was after the 35-year-old Atlanta attorney had married ex-convict Brown, 38, at the home of a judge here.

The romance began six years ago in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. Brown was sentenced March 24, 1947 at Tampa, Fla., to 20 years in prison for bank robbery, five years for taking a stolen car across a state line and six months for contempt of court. All three charges grew out of the $9,000 holdup of a bank at Lake Alfred, Fla., in 1945.

After pleading unsuccessfully to have the sentence set aside, Brown hired Miss King, a member of an Atlanta law firm. Miss King frequently visited Brown in the prison and they fell in love.

In 1955, Brown was transferred to the federal prison here. He enrolled in a law course taught by Dist. Judge Joseph J. Dawes of Leavenworth.

Once he told the judge: "When I get out I'm going to get married. I would like you to perform the ceremony."

Dawes agreed but he had forgotten about it until Monday when Brown and Miss King showed up at the courthouse a few hours after Brown's release from prison. The judge waived Kansas' three-day waiting period and performed the wedding ceremony.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ralph King, and one of her law partners, Marie Leachman, witnessed the wedding.

Thursday, the couple began a honeymoon trip in a new, expensive auto. It was the bride's wedding present to her husband.

Ohioan Pleads Guilty To Aiding Jail Escape

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Robert Parker, 30, Canton, Ohio, pleaded guilty in federal court Thursday to a charge of helping his brother escape from the Allen County jail here.

Judge Robert A. Grant set sentencing for June 11. The maximum penalty would be five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Parker's brother, Darl Dee Parker, broke out of jail while awaiting trial on a charge of bank robbery. He was captured four hours later and was sentenced last week to 50 years in prison.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge
● Crybabies ● Pregnancy Toxemia ● Alcoholism

Q. Is it harmful to let a baby "cry it out"?
A. The era of letting babies "cry it out" is over, states a bulletin from the Minnesota Medical Association. Young babies should be accepted as human beings with justifiable demands and unquestionable needs to be met. A good many parents fear that attentions given a crying child may "spoil" him. This does not seem to be so. Quoting from the bulletin, "The baby whose physical needs have been supplied, who has received adequate mothering and love actually requires less and less of such attention as he grows older."

Q. "Would you please discuss toxemia of pregnancy?" — Mrs. S.
A. Pregnancy "toxemia" is usually said to be present when the expectant mother develops high blood pressure, with tissue swelling and perhaps albumin in the urine. If the condition is unchecked there may be convulsions and other developments which threaten the life of the mother. The exact cause of pregnancy toxemia isn't known but doctors now have drugs with which to control the high blood pressure, swelling, and convulsions, if the latter occur. Like everything else, it's best to check "toxemia" when the first symptoms are noticed. Regular visits to the doctor are "musts" for expectant mothers.

Q. Is alcoholism inherited?
A. Apparently not. According to most authorities, abnormal drinking and craving for alcohol are acquired traits which can not be handed down. That children of alcoholics often drink to excess is not evidence of an inherited craving but is more likely a reflection of poor home environment.

Out Of The Air

It Has To Have A Format

John Crosby is on vacation. While he is away his column is being written by guest writers.

By NATHANIEL BENCHLEY

I recently saw a few of my father's old motion picture shorts, in preparation for a showing of them next Sunday, and it was a strange and rewarding experience.

Most of these pictures are about 17 years old, and yet it was somehow like seeing a friend whom you would swear you had seen only last week.

Two things impressed me about them (he made more than 50, of which I originally saw only about one-third, so I was seeing some for the first time), and one was that they were, all of them, deceptively simple.

A single idea served as the threat on which the eight or nine minutes of action was hung, and that idea could be anything from the question of physical fitness to the menace of inanimate objects.

ALL THE IDEAS were drawn from the general problems of life 17 or more years ago, and it is, I suppose, of some comfort to know that those problems, at least, haven't changed in the intervening time.

As a matter of fact, a good number of the shorts were based on ideas taken from his books, which in turn were collections of articles he had written for newspapers and magazines, so it is possible that some of the shorts stem from ideas that first saw the light of print in 1917.

THE OTHER THING that impressed me was the lack of gags. There was not a great deal of outright laughter from those of us who were watching, but everybody was smiling all the time — or chuckling, if you prefer the more repulsive word.

As far as I am concerned, eight minutes of chuckles are worth more than a half hour of yoks, but I began to wonder how, under the present conditions of humor on television, these shorts could find a sponsor, or even air-time, if they were to be presented as new.

New shows today have to be so heavily rewritten, and so carefully researched, and so theoretically foolproof audience-reactionwise (or reaction-proof audience fool-wise) that something as fragile and gentle as these wouldn't even survive the initial countdown of the thinking-off-the-top-of-the-head stage.

In the first place, somebody would be bound to demand dubbed laughter in where there couldn't possible be any, it would be like the man who laughs so hard at his own joke that he barely can get to the punch line, and when he does he finds he's forgotten it.

ANOTHER THING that's very important these days is format.

Not only must the pilot film be burnished to fit the predetermined specifications for audience enjoyment, but before a series is sold there must be a predictable format, so that anyone tuning in in the middle of any of the shows will know exactly where he is, and be able to settle back with the comfortable assurance that in a minute So-and-So is going to break a leg, or Such-and-Such is going to hit the fan.

The cry, "It must have a format!" is one that makes the Madison Ave. welkin ring, and even when some pioneer pipes up with "Let's do an offbeat show!" the reply is, "Splendid! Somebody think up an offbeat format!"

The shorts did, to be fair, have a format. They were illustrated lectures, and each one took a certain subject and discussed it from a certain point of view. But that was all.

I can hear now the reaction in the industry if a man should say, "I've got a kind of funny idea for an illustrated lecture; it's about the things wives do to annoy their husbands — you know, like messing up the paper, and things like . . ."

Which is about as far as he would get.

Court Income Gains Slightly

Bouncing back slightly from a sharp dip in April, Municipal Court's income hit $5,810 in May, out of which it turned over $5,344 to the city treasury, it was shown today in the monthly report of Clerk Harold L. Powell.

May's revenue was up $564 from the $5,246 shown in April while the city's share last month increased $665 over the $4,679 it was given in April. The downturn in April came after the court collected $6,800 in March, turning over $7,581 of the total to the city treasury.

Last month's revenue was made up of $645 in civil costs and $4,698 in fines, costs and forfeitures from criminal actions.

In addition to the amount paid the city, the court turned over $222 to the state as its share of fines resulting from Highway Patrol cases, $168 to the county — also from state cases — and $75 to the Law Library Association.

The total amount handled by the court last month was $11,622, off $123 from the $11,745 shown in the preceding month. The total included $5,480 in the civil branch and $6,141 in the criminal branch. The money includes receipts from trusteeships and judgments in civil actions, which are passed onto plaintiffs and creditors, and refunded bonds in criminal cases.

A breakdown of cases showed: 81 civil cases filed, 37 disposed of and 168 left pending; 106 city criminal cases filed, 104 disposed of and 20 left pending, and 25 state criminal cases filed, 26 disposed of and 74 left pending.

Special Buses To Serve City Picnic Crowd

Chartered buses will help carry East Liverpool crowds to Meyers Lake Park at Canton June 20 for the 31st annual Potters Picnic, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today.

Round - trip fares on Inter-City Bus Co. vehicles will be $2.65 for adults and $1.35 for children, the union's picnic committee said. The first runs will leave the Bus Terminal at 7 a. m. Others will depart as they are filled with passengers, with the last bus leaving the city at noon. On the return trip, the first bus will leave the Stark County resort at 7 p. m. and the last will depart at 11.

The picnic committee said it also is considering arranging chartered bus service for potters in other communities, including East Palestine, New Castle, Sebring, Alliance and Canonsburg.

There will be a "bonus" for early arrivals at Meyers Lake. From 10 a. m. until noon, virtually all rides in the park will be free. The only exceptions are the roller coaster and the so-called "putt-putt boats," the committee said.

Looking forward to favorable weather, the committee said the outing is expected to attract 30,000 potters, their families and friends from throughout the East. It added that three of the "old standards" are on the program again for this year: A baby contest, a penny scramble for youngsters and the "junior bathing beauty contest." As usual, there will be free coffee and cream available at meal times, the committee added.

Romance That Began In Pen 6 Years Ago Ends In Wedding

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — The first time lawyer Marjorie Sue King visited client Emory N. Brown in federal prison, an assistant warden told her:

"There is no need for you to go see Emory Brown; there's nothing you can do for him now."

"He was so wrong," said Miss King Wednesday.

That was after the 35-year-old Atlanta attorney had married ex-convict Brown, 38, at the home of a judge here.

The romance began six years ago in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. Brown was sentenced March 24, 1947 at Tampa, Fla., to 20 years in prison for bank robbery, five years for taking a stolen car across a state line and six months for contempt of court. All three charges grew out of the $9,000 holdup of a bank at Lake Alfred, Fla., in 1945.

After pleading unsuccessfully to have the sentence set aside, Brown hired Miss King, a member of an Atlanta law firm. Miss King frequently visited Brown in the prison and they fell in love.

In 1955, Brown was transferred to the federal prison here. He enrolled in a law course taught by Dist. Judge Joseph J. Dawes of Leavenworth.

Once he told the judge: "When I get out I'm going to get married. I would like you to perform the ceremony."

Dawes agreed but he had forgotten about it until Monday when Brown and Miss King showed up at the courthouse a few hours after Brown's release from prison. The judge waived Kansas' three-day waiting period and performed the wedding ceremony.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ralph King, and one of her law partners, Marie Leachman, witnessed the wedding.

Thursday, the couple began a honeymoon trip in a new, expensive auto. It was the bride's wedding present to her husband.

Ohioan Pleads Guilty To Aiding Jail Escape

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Robert Parker, 30, Canton, Ohio, pleaded guilty in federal court Thursday to a charge of helping his brother escape from the Allen County jail here.

Judge Robert A. Grant set sentencing for June 11. The maximum penalty would be five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Parker's brother, Darl Dee Parker, broke out of jail while awaiting trial on a charge of bank robbery. He was captured four hours later and was sentenced last week to 50 years in prison.

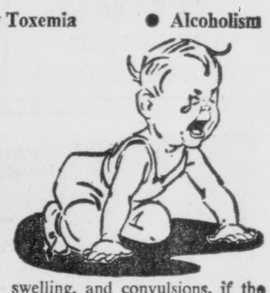
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge
● Crybabies ● Pregnancy Toxemia ● Alcoholism

Q. Is it harmful to let a baby "cry it out"?
A. The era of letting babies "cry it out" is over, states a bulletin from the Minnesota Medical Association. Young babies should be accepted as human beings with justifiable demands and unquestionable needs to be met. A good many parents fear that attentions given a crying child may "spoil" him. This does not seem to be so. Quoting from the bulletin, "The baby whose physical needs have been supplied, who has received adequate mothering and love actually requires less and less of such attention as he grows older."



Q. "Would you please discuss toxemia of pregnancy?" — Mrs. S.
A. Pregnancy "toxemia" is usually said to be present when the expectant mother develops high blood pressure, with tissue swelling and perhaps albumin in the urine. If the condition is unchecked there may be convulsions and other developments which threaten the life of the mother. The exact cause of pregnancy toxemia isn't known but doctors now have drugs with which to control the high blood pressure, swelling, and convulsions, if the latter occur. Like everything else, it's best to check "toxemia" when the first symptoms are noticed. Regular visits to the doctor are "musts" for expectant mothers.

Q. Is alcoholism inherited?
A. Apparently not. According to most authorities, abnormal drinking and craving for alcohol are acquired traits which can not be handed down. That children of alcoholics often drink to excess is not evidence of an inherited craving but is more likely a reflection of poor home environment.

Labor, Management Talks Given Over Pickets' Protest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Over protests of pickets outside, delegates to the General Federation of Women's Clubs Thursday night heard talks by leaders of both labor and management.

The picketers carried signs lambasting the speaker on the labor side of the program — Walter Reuther.

The president of the United Auto Workers warned the audience that America, for its own survival, must:

End racial discrimination, improve the quality of education, expand foreign aid, utilize its economic potential and revitalize its intellectual climate.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, told the national convention of the General Federal of Women's Clubs Thursday night: "Most of the people of the world are dark skinned, and they include 90 per cent of the uncommitted people who in the ultimate struggle between the forces of freedom and tyranny will hold the balance."

"They will either tip it our way, in favor of freedom; or they will tip the other way, in favor of the forces of tyranny which destroy these basic values," he said.

"As we face these people in the world, we need to get our credentials in order. You ought to sit down with peasants in India and try to explain Little Rock."

Half an hour earlier, the 3,000 delegates heard Charles R. Sligh Jr., executive vice president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers. Sligh said labor leaders are invoking the power of unions—which he described as the strongest political force in the country—to promote personal political aims.

Reuther did not refer to Sligh's assertion in his speech.

The association will conduct a fund - raising drive among homes in the playground area Monday night. Proceeds will be used for repairs and equipment.

Ohio Township

The Ohio Township Board of Supervisors agreed Thursday evening to oil township roads at requests of residents with the cost to be paid 50-50 by the township and householders.

Residents who wish to have their roads oiled should contact Michael G. Haydin, supervisor, at SP. 4-2158.

Joe Kadilak, chairman, presided. Routine business was handled. Next meeting will be July 1 in the Municipal Building.

An estimated 50 million persons a year visit New Jersey's ocean beaches.

Sugar Tosser Given Term On Intoxication

A Hookstown man has a "sweet" time after imbibing Thursday but now is serving a 20-day sentence in Hancock County Jail after Chester authorities were "soured" by his actions.

Squire Eugene Allison committed the man in default of a fine on charges that he was intoxicated and lying along the Route 30 roadside — throwing handfuls of sugar at passing automobiles, dipping into his sack of groceries.

He was arrested by Chester police last night and turned over to Hancock County sheriff's deputies when unable to pay his fine for acting in a disorderly manner.

Books Of Knowledge Replace Comic Books

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Comic books are taboo in Dr. Bruce Higley's waiting room.

Dr. Higley, a dentist, decided the youngsters might as well have something worthwhile to read while waiting their turns.

So he swept out the comic books and put a set of encyclopedias in his waiting room. Now the children do their homework at his office. Some even show up when they don't have appointments just to use the books.

He was arrested by Chester police last night and turned over to Hancock County sheriff's deputies when unable to pay his fine for acting in a disorderly manner.

Books Of Knowledge Replace Comic Books

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Comic books are taboo in Dr. Bruce Higley's waiting room.

Dr. Higley, a dentist, decided the youngsters might as well have something worthwhile to read while waiting their turns.

So he swept out the comic books and put a set of encyclopedias in his waiting room. Now the children do their homework at his office. Some even show up when they don't have appointments just to use the books.

Labor, Management Talks Given Over Pickets' Protest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Over protests of pickets outside, delegates to the General Federation of Women's Clubs Thursday night heard talks by leaders of both labor and management.

The picketers carried signs lambasting the speaker on the labor side of the program — Walter Reuther.

The president of the United Auto Workers warned the audience that America, for its own survival, must:

End racial discrimination, improve the quality of education, expand foreign aid, utilize its economic potential and revitalize its intellectual climate.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, told the national convention of the General Federal of Women's Clubs Thursday night: "Most of the people of the world are dark skinned, and they include 90 per cent of the uncommitted people who in the ultimate struggle between the forces of freedom and tyranny will hold the balance."

"They will either tip it our way, in favor of freedom; or they will tip the other way, in favor of the forces of tyranny which destroy these basic values," he said.

"As we face these people in the world, we need to get our credentials in order. You ought to sit down with peasants in India and try to explain Little Rock."

Half an hour earlier, the 3,000 delegates heard Charles R. Sligh Jr., executive vice president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers. Sligh said labor leaders are invoking the power of unions—which he described as the strongest political force in the country—to promote personal political aims.

Reuther did not refer to Sligh's assertion in his speech.

German Viewpoint Given About Normandy Invasion

When the Allies swarmed ashore on the French coast, a young German artillery officer was busy training green replacements for the defense of Hitler's Atlantic Wall. In this third of four eyewitness articles commemorating D-Day, Horst Fluegge — now on The Associated Press staff in Germany — recalls the momentous events from a German viewpoint.

By HORST FLUEGGE

BONN, Germany (AP)—We had waited for the phone call for a long time. It came around 8 o'clock on June 6. A sergeant picked up the receiver. He listened for a while, then turned to us and said, "They have landed."

That was D-Day, 15 years ago

I was a lieutenant stationed with a German army mobile artillery unit at Avranches, 60 miles from the main Allied beachhead at Cherbourg on the Normandy coast of France.

I didn't see what happened at Cherbourg that morning, for we were marshaling the curious mixture of youthful veterans of the Russian front and the kids and old men hastily recruited for the defense of the Atlantic Wall.

We marched for two days until we reached the Orne River near Caen and there we ran into the powerful barrages of the Allied naval vessels that lay offshore.

We were an exhausted, defeated bunch, the men of Artillery Unit 1154. We knew we had lost the war, but there was nothing to do but fight it out. To us it did not appear honorable to surrender.

It's difficult to remember what I thought and felt then. I was tired, worn out from four years in Russia and from trying to train our inexperienced replacements.

From the middle of May I had been adjutant to the commander of Artillery Unit 1154 in Avranches. I was moved there with our other officers from the Eastern front.

Our men were mostly youngsters and old men who had held staff jobs in Berlin. They were inexperienced and unable to cope with the superior weapons and manpower of the enemy.

We were not at all surprised that the Allies struck at Cherbourg. The coastal area of Normandy was the most vulnerable region in the Atlantic Wall whose defenses had been planned by Field Marshals Rommel and Von Rundstedt.

Our main forces lay 60 miles from the coast and we had to rush men to the beaches to combat the Americans, British and Canadians who stormed ashore.

From the first it was clear that the Allies had air superiority, more than the Russians had managed in the East. And the naval artillery on the Allied ships had greater range than our big guns. They could hit us while our shells fell far short.

Never during the war, including the dismal days in Russia, did I find the morale of our troops as low as it was in the first days of the Allied invasion.

I remember talking to our staff chief in those first invasion days and hearing him say with a defeatist grin: "Let's take a Messerschmitt and go off to Spain."

On July 20, 1944, the plot to assassinate Hitler took place and failed. Word got around fast and we felt then that the war would last until we were driven back into Germany.

We fought hard, though it is difficult now to explain why. We fell back slowly before the advancing American and British tanks.

On Aug. 11 we underwent a particularly severe attack. Most of the men of Unit 1154 were killed or taken prisoner. I was hit in the side by a tank machinegunner and removed to a hospital in Holland.

When the Allies moved into Holland I was shipped back to Germany and eventually found myself in command of a newly organized artillery unit on the Eastern front. I was in Czechoslovakia when the war ended in May, 1945.

New Contract Averts Dayton Bus Strike

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A Dayton bus strike was averted an hour before last night's midnight deadline when 370 drivers and mechanics got together with the City Transit Co. on a new contract.

Federal Mediator Irwin Gerard said no details of the settlement will be made public until a contract ratification vote is taken by the union membership today and tonight. He said the union's negotiating committee will recommend contract acceptance.

The old contract with Local 1385, Street Railway and Motor Coach Operators Union, expired May 3.

Senate Okays Two Of Ike's Nominations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's nomination of Ogden R. Reid as ambassador to Israel and George M. Johnson as a member of the Civil Rights Commission have been confirmed by the Senate.

Both won approval Thursday on voice votes, with little of the opposition that had been forecast.

The nomination of Thomas S. Gates Jr. to be deputy secretary of defense also was approved. There had been no controversy over the naming of Gates, former secretary of the Navy, to succeed the late Donald A. Quarles.

Reid, 33, formerly was president and editor of the New York Herald Tribune. He had been recommended for confirmation by a 10-4 vote of the Foreign Relations Committee over the opposition of the committee chairman, Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark).

Johnson, 58, is a Negro lawyer and educator. He succeeds the late J. Ernest Wilkins, also a Negro. Johnson, whose home is at Berkeley, Calif., was dean of the Howard University Law School here until last year.

A few Southerners voted against him but none of them asked for a roll call.

The Review Sports

FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1959 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 16

The Sports Bench

By BOB DUFFY
Sports Editor

An Inspiration To Others . . .

The value of organized baseball leagues for youngsters was demonstrated earlier this week when Don Shaw of Chester signed a pro contract with the Chicago Cubs.

Don is typical of many other boys who take part in the various baseball programs in East Liverpool—the Little, Pony, Prep and City Leagues.

As a Little Leaguer, Don was quite a star. He, then developed fast in the Pony League.

Don recalled the other day that Dick and Eddie Vocial, two former Potter athletes, showed him the ropes when they managed the Pony League team on which he played and said they were very instrumental in his development.

After Pony League, Don pitched high school and Prep League baseball. Dom Amedeo was his coach in high school and must be proud of the fact that one of his boys is good enough for a shot at the major leagues.

"It always has been my ambition to play professional baseball," Don said. He received his big break when John Streza, chief scout for the Cubs in the Ohio-Indiana area, saw him pitch at Lisbon one afternoon.

The big righthander, who hurled two no-hitters for Chester this past spring, will report to Morristown, Tenn., in the Class D Applachian League on June 13.

Don tells us that this is a "rookie league" consisting mostly of college players and boys fresh out of high school.

Shaw is the first baseball player from Chester to sign in many years. The last players to sign from this district were Rudy Trbovich of East Liverpool and Phil Hewitt of Georgetown.

Don isn't planning to attend college. He was a fullback in football, where he starred for Chester the last year.

Wade Influenced By Oldtimers . . .

HORACE WADE, director of Waterford Park, is mentioned in a book "Bury Me In An Old Pressbox" written by Fred Russell, sports editor of the Nashville Banner.

Russell writes that he can't see any project failing if it were in the hands of Wade. He calls Wade "imaginative".

Russell says that Wade, who devised gimmicks in his staging of the Florida Derby before he resigned at Gulfstream Park, admits to being influenced by some of the old-time operators he knew—among them Martin Nathanson, who at Charleston, S.C., in 1910 was trying desperately to capture some customers for his track.

Wade recalled that a circus was in town and the thought suddenly struck Nathanson that a camel race would stir interest. The circus boss agreed readily.

Five camels were entered and 15,000 Carolinians packed the small track. The bookmakers were swarmed with business. They had no form on the camels so they called it 4 to 1 on each of the five.

Shortly before the race, however, the bookies noticed the Arab drivers and other handlers of the camels all were betting on a thing called Ben Ali. When the odds went to 7 to 5 on the camel, the bookies closed shop.

The bookies and track officials were suspicious and when the race started the action of the drivers was studied closely.

From the very start, Ben Ali ran faster than the other camels and led the entire four miles.

The bookies paid off sullenly to the Arabs. And that night they learned the secret.

After some persuasion, one of the Arabs declared: "There could be no other result. Ben Ali is what we call the bell camel. All their lives, other camels are taught to follow a bell camel.

"You couldn't have driven those other comels past Ben Ali with a bull whip!"

Trbovich 2-1 At Grand Forks . . .

SHOWING NO SIGNS of a sore arm which plagued him in 1958, Rudy Trbovich, the former East Liverpool and University of Tennessee pitching star, has a 2-1 record for Grand Forks in the Northern League.

Rudy lost his first start, but then pitched six innings and received credit for the victory in his second game.

His last appearance on the mound gave an indication that he was his old self again. Rudy hurled a neat six - hitter as Grand Forks defeated Eau Claire, 14-3.

At one stage he retired 11 batters in a row, had seven strikeouts and walked only two batters.

Yes, Rudy is still the hitting pitcher he was when he played in leagues around East Liverpool. In the last two games he had belted a double in each contest.

Grand Forks is a Class "C" club associated with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

"VOTED TO the bowler who enjoined the most of John's many good points." This was the inscription on the "Johnny Greene Memorial Trophy" won by Buck Wilson at Wednesday night's banquet for the City Bowling Association.

The presentation was the first and will be an annual award. It is a fitting memorial to a great all - around guy — Johnny Greene.

Wilson received a warm ovation from the 100 bowlers who attended the banquet. Buck, who is 68, has bowled for more than 40 years.

THERE IS one district basketball coach who has found a way to relax at the cage wars.

Jack McDevitt, head mentor at Wellsville, is an artist in his spare time. And he is a pretty good one!

A winter scene he painted and entered in a recent art show at Carnegie Library took second prize. The painting is on display in the lobby of the First National Bank.

McDevitt says he paints as a hobby and it "relaxes" him sometimes in the midst of the basketball season.

The Wellsville mentor has a minor in art from college.

It was the first time he has entered a painting in a contest.

—:—

THE DETROIT Tigers paid over $60,000 for a 17-year-old hitting sensation, Andy Kosco, from Struthers, Ohio.

The big outfielder, who batted .700 in 11 high school games this season, was sought by all 16 major league clubs.

Kosco, a righthander all the way, hit eight home runs in high school competition this year and averaged 14 strikeouts while pitching in three games.

—:—

BELLAIRE ST. John's—a new football opponent of East Liverpool this fall will visit Patterson Field under the guidance of a new coach.

He is Jerry Ippoliti, 23, a former three-sports standout at Dillonvale High School in Jefferson County and football star at Miami University of Ohio.

Ippoliti, the Ohio Valley's leading scorer in football in 1953, succeeds Frank Nassida, who resigned to accept an appointment as line coach at Central Missouri State College.

The Irish squad posted a lone victory last season over Barnesville. Wellsville was dropped from St. John's schedule this year.

Victory Over Orioles Gives Sox 1st Place

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

"What we need," said Manager Al Lopez the other day in appraising his Chicago White Sox, "is a spurt. And we could get it with some big hits at the right time."

Al should have spoken up sooner. The White Sox have taken him at his word. They jumped past idle Cleveland into the American League lead by winning their second in a row Thursday, defeating Baltimore 6-5 in the majors' longest game of the season with the big hit at the right time—Earl Torgeson's two-out homer in the 17th inning.

It was their sixth victory in seven extra-inning games this season, and their 10th success in 13 one-run decisions. Both marks are tops in the AL.

While taking a half-game (.007 percentage points) lead over the Indians, the White Sox also shoved third place Baltimore 1½ games back. Fourth place Kansas City fell 2½ games behind when Boston ended the A's winning streak at five, 5-2. The New York Yankees slipped Detroit to sixth by bombing the Tigers 14-3.

The White Sox did things the hard way, blowing a 2-0 lead, battling back for a 4-all tie on Larry Doby's single in the eighth, and then matching a 13th-inning Oriole run with Torgy's single and one of five Oriole errors.

The Birds, helped along by three Sox boots, chased starter Dick Donovan with four hits and four runs in the third. But relievers Barry Latman, Gerry Staley, Rudolfo Arias and Turk Lown then blanked the Birds on two hits for the next nine innings.

Bob Shaw (5-2) finally won it. Jerry Walker (4- 2) was the loser.

Gary Geiger drove in three runs for the Red Sox, one with his third homer. Jerry Casale (3-4) went all the way for Boston, giving up seven hits. Rip Coleman (1-4) lost it.

The Yankees, who have won six of their last seven, made it two in a row over the Tigers. The Yankees smacked 15 hits, 10 for extra bases — seven doubles and home runs by Hector Lopez, Elston Howard and winning pitcher Whitey Ford. Jim Bunning (5-4) was a quick loser, trailing 7-1 when he left after three innings.

Litten Hitters Rack Up Third Straight Victory

Unleashing a 14-hit attack, Littens picked up its third straight victory in the Pony League Thursday at Dopler Field.

Two big innings — the fourth and sixth — when Littens scored six times in each frame decided the issue.

While his mates were having a field day with two Burbick hurlers, Dave Myer won his second start by turning in a three-hitter. In his first game of the season Myer tossed a no-hitter.

Myer had Burbicks shutout for six innings before the losers scored in the seventh on a home run by Eddie Pruden.

Gary Shaw and Dave Bowersock collected three hits apiece for the winners. One of Bowersock's went for a double.

Ronnie Burns was checked with the loss.

Herrera's Potent Bat Reason For Buffalo On Top

By The Associated Press

Want to know why the Buffalo Bisons probably will stay at the top of the International League standings? Answer — Frank Herrera.

The 25-year-old first baseman has been on a hitting tear the past eight games that has enabled the Bisons to keep pace with the equally torrid Columbus Jets, with whom they share the IL lead.

Buffalo won its second shutout in a row from Havana, 7-0. Thursday night with Herrera driving in six runs with a pair of homers. The Jets defeated the Montreal Royals, 6-3 for their 14th victory in 18 games, and took their fifth straight series.

In other IL action, Rochester handed Miami its 14th loss in 18 games, 4-3 and Richmond handed Toronto its seventh straight loss, 7-5.

Hal Newhouser Scouts Talent For Baltimore

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The big business of baseball scouting is typified by Hal Newhouse, former Detroit Tigers pitching great.

Hal has driven more than 1,000 miles in the last several days as a supervisor scout of the Baltimore Orioles, looking over high school talent in state tournaments in Akron, Nashville, Lexington, Ky., and the Illinois meet at Bradley University.

"I think the best time to watch a boy is in pre-game practices," said Newhouser, who combs a 10-state Midwest area. "During a game you might never get a chance to see an outfielder throw, or maybe not even do much running. You can get a pretty good line on them in pre-game drills.

"The two most important things in my book when I watch a youngster is his running and throwing ability. If he hasn't got much in these departments, then he has to be awfully powerful at the plate to get consideration.

"As for a pitcher, I rate his poise No. 1. If he has no awkwardness out on the mound and if he keeps his head under pressure, I'll keep looking. The next thing he has to show me is speed, and if he has any stuff on his fast ball.

"The curve is the last thing I consider. You can teach a boy to throw a curve or a slider, but you can't teach him speed."

"As for bonuses, the Orioles leave that up to my judgment. After I study a boy and rate him in my book I establish the amount of a bonus I think he is worth. With me there is no haggling. I approach a boy and tell him honestly what the Orioles can and cannot do with him.

"I tell him how much I think he is worth. That's the price and I don't change it."

Golden Star, McBurneys Win Little League Tilts

The powerful Chester Legion nine and Travelers Hotel stretched their winning strings to five straight after posting victories when all eight teams saw action in the East Liverpool Little League Thursday.

Chester Legion, led by its hard-hitting catcher Gary Cashdollar, waltzed to an easy 20-8 win over Burbicks, but Travelers were extended to nip Homer Laughlin, 5-4.

The victories kept Chester Legion on top in the National Division while Travelers stayed ahead of the field in the American Loop.

Golden Star, which is giving Travelers a run for their money, won its fourth in five starts by tripping Millirons, 16-3, and in one other game, McBurneys humbled Medics, 8-4.

Cashdollar had a perfect night at the plate with five hits in the same number of trips. Two of the safeties were two-run homers while he added a double and a pair of singles. He wound up with 7 RBI's for the evening.

Walt Elliott helped the Chester Legion with four hits in five trips while Ray Betteridge had 3-for-3. T. Chema led Burbicks attack with three singles.

Chester scored 20 runs on 20 big hits. Southpaw Tom Hanson was the winning pitcher.

Travelers were coasting along with a 5-0 lead when Homer Laughlin came up to score four runs in the final two innings to give the league leaders a scare.

The Travelers nine collected only three hits off Dick Whittington, but made the most of them. Terry Robinson's home run was the big blow for the winners while Jerry Vaughn led the losers with four hits.

McBurneys collected 10 hits and scored in every inning but one to dump Medics.

A home run by Collins and Cheny's three singles paced the winners, while Chetwynd's home run for the Medics went to no avail.

Null was the winning pitcher and struck out nine. Myer fanned 10, but was marked down as the loser.

Golden Star went on a hitting spree, collecting 16 to down Millirons.

Joe Massey's home run was the big blow for Golden Star while Blaine Clendenning had two doubles and a single.

Bailey, Burke and Johnson collected two hits apiece for the losers.

An Inspiration To Others . . .

The value of organized baseball leagues for youngsters was demonstrated earlier this week when Don Shaw of Chester signed a pro contract with the Chicago Cubs.

Don is typical of many other boys who take part in the various baseball programs in East Liverpool—the Little, Pony, Prep and City Leagues.

As a Little Leaguer, Don was quite a star. He then developed fast in the Pony League.

Don recalled the other day that Dick and Eddie Vocial, two former Potter athletes, showed him the ropes when they managed the Pony League team on which he played and said they were very instrumental in his development.

After Pony League, Don pitched high school and Prep League baseball. Dom Amedeo was his coach in high school and must be proud of the fact that one of his boys is good enough for a shot at the major leagues.

"It always has been my ambition to play professional baseball," Don said. He received his big break when John Streza, chief scout for the Cubs in the Ohio-Indiana area, saw him pitch at Lisbon one afternoon.

The big righthander, who hurled two no-hitters for Chester this past spring, will report to Morristown, Tenn., in the Class D Applachian League on June 13.

Don tells us that this is a "rookie league" consisting mostly of college players and boys fresh out of high school.

Shaw is the first baseball player from Chester to sign in many years. The last players to sign from this district were Rudy Trbovich of East Liverpool and Phil Hewitt of Georgetown.

Don isn't planning to attend college. He was a fullback in football, where he starred for Chester the last year.

Wade Influenced By Oldtimers . . .

HORACE WADE, director of Waterford Park, is mentioned in a book "Bury Me In An Old Pressbox" written by Fred Russell, sports editor of the Nashville Banner.

Russell writes that he can't see any project failing if it were in the hands of Wade. He calls Wade "imaginative".

Russell says that Wade, who devised gimmicks in his staging of the Florida Derby before he resigned at Gulfstream Park, admits to being influenced by some of the old-time operators he knew—among them Martin Nathanson, who at Charleston, S.C., in 1910 was trying desperately to capture some customers for his track.

Wade recalled that a circus was in town and the thought suddenly struck Nathanson that a camel race would stir interest. The circus boss agreed readily.

Five camels were entered and 15,000 Carolinians packed the small track. The bookmakers were swarmed with business. They had no form on the camels so they called it 4 to 1 on each of the five.

Shortly before the race, however, the bookies noticed the Arab drivers and other handlers of the camels all were betting on a thing called Ben Ali. When the odds went to 7 to 5 on the camel, the bookies closed shop.

The bookies and track officials were suspicious and when the race started the action of the drivers was studied closely.

From the very start, Ben Ali ran faster than the other camels and led the entire four miles.

The bookies paid off sullenly to the Arabs. And that night they learned the secret.

After some persuasion, one of the Arabs declared: "There could be no other result. Ben Ali is what we call the bell camel. All their lives, other camels are taught to follow a bell camel.

"You couldn't have driven those other comels past Ben Ali with a bull whip!"

Trbovich 2-1 At Grand Forks . . .

SHOWING NO SIGNS of a sore arm which plagued him in 1958, Rudy Trbovich, the former East Liverpool and University of Tennessee pitching star, has a 2-1 record for Grand Forks in the Northern League.

Rudy lost his first start, but then pitched six innings and received credit for the victory in his second game.

His last appearance on the mound gave an indication that he was his old self again. Rudy hurled a neat six - hitter as Grand Forks defeated Eau Claire, 14-3.

At one stage he retired 11 batters in a row, had seven strikeouts and walked only two batters.

Yes, Rudy is still the hitting pitcher he was when he played in leagues around East Liverpool. In the last two games he had belted a double in each contest.

Grand Forks is a Class "C" club associated with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"VOTED TO the bowler who enjoined the most of John's many good points." This was the inscription on the "Johnny Greene Memorial Trophy" won by Buck Wilson at Wednesday night's banquet for the City Bowling Association.

The presentation was the first and will be an annual award. It is a fitting memorial to a great all - around guy — Johnny Greene.

Wilson received a warm ovation from the 100 bowlers who attended the banquet. Buck, who is 68, has bowled for more than 40 years.

THERE IS one district basketball coach who has found a way to relax at the cage wars.

Jack McDevitt, head mentor at Wellsville, is an artist in his spare time. And he is a pretty good one!

A winter scene he painted and entered in a recent art show at Carnegie Library took second prize. The painting is on display in the lobby of the First National Bank.

McDevitt says he paints as a hobby and it "relaxes" him sometimes in the midst of the basketball season.

The Wellsville mentor has a minor in art from college.

It was the first time he has entered a painting in a contest.

THE DETROIT Tigers paid over $60,000 for a 17-year-old hitting sensation, Andy Kosco, from Struthers, Ohio.

The big outfielder, who batted .700 in 11 high school games this season, was sought by all 16 major league clubs.

Kosco, a righthander all the way, hit eight home runs in high school competition this year and averaged 14 strikeouts while pitching in three games.

BELLAIRE ST. John's—a new football opponent of East Liverpool this fall will visit Patterson Field under the guidance of a new coach.

He is Jerry Ippoliti, 23, a former three-sports standout at Dillonvale High School in Jefferson County and football star at Miami University of Ohio.

Ippoliti, the Ohio Valley's leading scorer in football in 1953, succeeds Frank Nassida, who resigned to accept an appointment as line coach at Central Missouri State College.

The Irish squad posted a lone victory last season over Barnesville. Wellsville was dropped from St. John's schedule this year.

Victory Over Orioles Gives Sox 1st Place

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

"What we need," said Manager Al Lopez the other day in appraising his Chicago White Sox, "is a spurt. And we could get it with some big hits at the right time."

Al should have spoken up sooner. The White Sox have taken him at his word. They jumped past idle Cleveland into the American League lead by winning their second in a row Thursday, defeating Baltimore 6-5 in the majors' longest game of the season with the big hit at the right time—Earl Torgeson's two-out homer in the 17th inning.

It was their sixth victory in seven extra-inning games this season, and their 10th success in 13 one-run decisions. Both marks are tops in the AL.

While taking a half-game (.007 percentage points) lead over the Indians, the White Sox also shoved third place Baltimore 1½ games back. Fourth place Kansas City fell 2½ games behind when Boston ended the A's winning streak at five, 5-2. The New York Yankees slipped Detroit to sixth by bombing the Tigers 14-3.

The White Sox did things the hard way, blowing a 2-0 lead, battling back for a 4-all tie on Larry Doby's single in the eighth, and then matching a 13th-inning Oriole run with Torgy's single and one of five Oriole errors.

The Birds, helped along by three Sox boots, chased starter Dick Donovan with four hits and four runs in the third. But relievers Barry Latman, Gerry Staley, Rudolfo Arias and Turk Lown then blanked the Birds on two hits for the next nine innings.

Bob Shaw (5-2) finally won it. Jerry Walker (4- 2) was the loser.

Gary Geiger drove in three runs for the Red Sox, one with his third homer. Jerry Casale (3-4) went all the way for Boston, giving up seven hits. Rip Coleman (1-4) lost it.

The Yankees, who have won six of their last seven, made it two in a row over the Tigers. The Yankees smacked 15 hits, 10 for extra bases — seven doubles and home runs by Hector Lopez, Elston Howard and winning pitcher Whitey Ford. Jim Bunning (5-4) was a quick loser, trailing 7-1 when he left after three innings.

Golden Star, McBurneys Win Little League Tilts

The powerful Chester Legion nine and Travelers Hotel stretched their winning strings to five straight after posting victories when all eight teams saw action in the East Liverpool Little League Thursday.

Chester Legion, led by its hard-hitting catcher Gary Cashdollar, waltzed to an easy 20-8 win over Burbicks, but Travelers were extended to nip Homer Laughlin, 5-4.

The victories kept Chester Legion on top in the National Division while Travelers stayed ahead of the field in the American Loop.

Golden Star, which is giving Travelers a run for their money, won its fourth in five starts by tripping Millirons, 16-3, and in one other game, McBurneys humbled Medics, 8-4.

Cashdollar had a perfect night at the plate with five hits in the same number of trips. Two of the safeties were two-run homers while he added a double and a pair of singles. He wound up with 7 RBI's for the evening.

Walt Elliott helped the Chester Legion with four hits in five trips while Ray Betteridge had 3-for-3. T. Chema led Burbicks attack with three singles.

Chester scored 20 runs on 20 big hits. Southpaw Tom Hanson was the winning pitcher.

Travelers were coasting along with a 5-0 lead when Homer Laughlin came up to score four runs in the final two innings to give the league leaders a scare.

The Travelers nine collected only three hits off Dick Whittington, but made the most of them. Terry Robinson's home run was the big blow for the winners while Jerry Vaughn led the losers with four hits.

McBurneys collected 10 hits and scored in every inning but one to dump Medics.

A home run by Collins and Cheny's three singles paced the winners, while Chetwynd's home run for the Medics went to no avail.

Null was the winning pitcher and struck out nine. Myer fanned 10, but was marked down as the loser.

Golden Star went on a hitting spree, collecting 16 to down Millirons.

Joe Massey's home run was the big blow for Golden Star while Blaine Clendenning had two doubles and a single.

Bailey, Burke and Johnson collected two hits apiece for the losers.

British Empire Champ Faces Calhoun Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) —Television fans will see a brand new face tonight. It will be that of Dick Tiger, the British Empire middleweight champion.

Tiger will meet Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N. Y., in a nationally televised 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden. Despite the newcomer's credentials, the 24-year-old Calhoun has been established as a 7-5 favorite.

Tiger, 29, has won 32 with one draw.

Calhoun's record is 39-7-1 with 20 knockouts.

Hal Newhouser Scouts Talent For Baltimore

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The big business of baseball scouting is typified by Hal Newhouse, former Detroit Tigers pitching great.

Hal has driven more than 1,000 miles in the last several days as a supervisor scout of the Baltimore Orioles, looking over high school talent in state tournaments in Akron, Nashville, Lexington, Ky., and the Illinois meet at Bradley University.

"I think the best time to watch a boy is in pre-game practices," said Newhouser, who combs a 10-state Midwest area. "During a game you might never get a chance to see an outfielder throw, or maybe not even do much running. You can get a pretty good line on them in pre-game drills.

"The two most important things in my book when I watch a youngster is his running and throwing ability. If he hasn't got much in these departments, then he has to be awfully powerful at the plate to get consideration.

"As for a pitcher, I rate his poise No. 1. If he has no awkwardness out on the mound and if he keeps his head under pressure, I'll keep looking. The next thing he has to show me is speed, and if he has any stuff on his fast ball.

"The curve is the last thing I consider. You can teach a boy to throw a curve or a slider, but you can't teach him speed."

"As for bonuses, the Orioles leave that up to my judgment. After I study a boy and rate him in my book I establish the amount of a bonus I think he is worth. With me there is no haggling. I approach a boy and tell him honestly what the Orioles can and cannot do with him.

"I tell him how much I think he is worth. That's the price and I don't change it."

Cepeda Poles Two Homers In 11-5 Victory Over Braves

Bucs Move Within 3½ Games Of 1st

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Say hey! Look at Orlando Cepeda muscling in on Willie Mays' racket!

The Giants' big first baseman has left Mays behind in home runs and RBI—and it all began after he was benched with a .267 average.

Since getting back into the starting line-up May 16, Cepeda has been hitless in only three of 18 games, smacking six homers, six doubles and two triples and driving in 23 runs. He's hit at a .427 clip in that span.

The 21-year-old Puerto Rican drove in seven runs Thursday, five with his 11th and 12th homers, and powered the second place Giants from behind for an 11-5 victory over Milwaukee that cut the Braves' lead to 2½ games once again.

Both homers — the second a whale of a wallop estimated up to 500 feet—came off Lew Burdette, who hadn't lost to the Giants in five years.

Third place Pittsburgh moved within 3½ games of the top by rapping St. Louis 9-3. In night games, Cincinnati defeated Los Angeles 5-3 and the Chicago Cubs beat Philadelphia 3-2 in 10 innings.

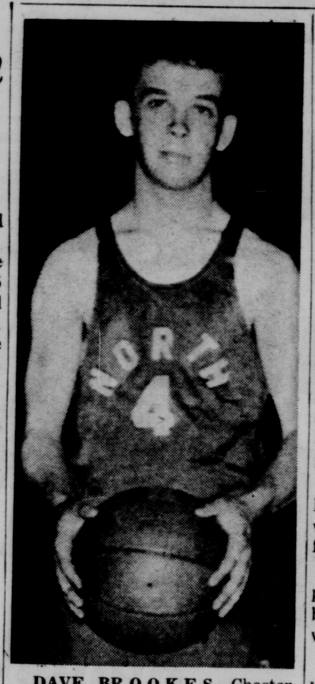
Cepeda's two-run homer in the fourth started the Giants' comeback after home runs by Del Crandall and Wes Covington had given the Braves a 5-1 edge.

The Giants pounded Burdette (8-4), and two relievers for 15 hits. Gordon Jones (3-2) worked one inning of relief for the victory, although Stu Miller blanked the Braves on three hits over the last five frames.

A two-run triple by Bill Mazeroski clinched a three-game sweep for the Pirates as they scored four in the third inning against Ernie Broglio (0-4). Ron Kline (4-3) was the winner. Stan Musial of the Cards tied Honus Wagner's National League record with his 651st double.

The Reds scored three runs in the first against southpaw Danny McDevitt (3-5), then put it away with a 4-0 lead on doubles by Johnny Temple and Vada Pinson in the second. Joe Nuxhall (3-3) finished with an eight-hitter.

A one-out triple by George Altman and Sammy Taylor's sacrifice fly won it for the Cubs against Gene Conley (2-3), who allowed only five hits. The Cubs were shut out on one hit until Taylor homered in the sixth. Walt Moryn added an inside-the-park homer in the eighth for a 2-all tie after the Phils, blanked on four hits for six frames, chased Bob Anderson in a two-run seventh. Don Elston (4-1) won it with 3 1-3 innings of hitless relief.



DAVE BROOKES, Chester High cage star, will see action tonight at Parkersburg in the fourth annual North-South all-star basketball game. Brookes, who was named to the North squad, will be opposing all-state selection Rod Thorn of Princeton. A second game will be played Saturday at Williamson and a third game at Parkersburg Monday, if necessary.

Reds Earn 5-3 Victory Over Los Angeles

CINCINNATI (AP) — Catcher Dutch Dotterer is a rookie at 27 because his reputation is of a major league backstop but a minor league hitter.

But he may find an increasing work load if he can continue to hit big league pitching as he did Thursday night.

The Reds beat Los Angeles, 5-3, and Dotterer was in the thick of it, driving in one run in a 2-for-3 performance.

The Reds' front line catcher, Ed Bailey, who doesn't hit unusually well, either, said of Dotterer, "So far I like what I've seen of Dutch.

"He's a fine receiver, handles pitchers well, can throw with the best and can hit a ball downtown when he connects.

"Whether he'll hit often enough . . . remains to be seen."

The Reds Thursday night were riding high, stacking up an early 5-0 cushion for veteran southpaw Joe Nuxhall.

He got in a jam in the seventh inning and lost his shutout but Manager Mayo Smith just let him pick his own way out of the trouble.

In the first inning, Vada Pinson walked and singles by Pete Whisenant, Frank Robinson and Dotterer put over two runs. A hit batsman, Walt Dropo, filled the bases and Robinson scored a third run on a sacrifice.

A fourth Cincinnati run came in the second on straight doubles by Johnny Temple and Pinson. The fifth came in the fifth inning on another pair of doubles, by Frank Thomas and Roy McMillan.

Two innings later, the Dodgers broke through Nuxhall's control for their three runs. Three doubles in a row—by Gil Hodges, Rip Repulski and Ron Fairly — put over two runs and Don Zimmer singled in the third.

San Francisco moves in here tonight for the first of four games. Johnny Antonelli is slated to oppose Bob Purkey.

Bell Set To Hurl Against New York

CLEVELAND (AP) — If Cleveland's pennant hopes are built on more than dreams, the Indians will have to snap out of their batting trance in the four-game series starting tonight with the New York Yankees.

Gary Bell (4-4) was given the big assignment to open against Art Ditmar (2-4).

The Indians, losers of five in a row and seven of their last eight, dropped to second place Thursday as Chicago's White Sox won 6-5 in 17 innings to grab a half-game lead. The Yanks, who've won six of their last seven, now are only 4½ games behind the Tribe, who were idle Thursday.

Manager Joe Gordon has ordered the Indians to relax and try to forget their hitting troubles. There will be no pre-game batting practice, just the usual infield drill.

Here's how bad the Cleveland hitters have been during the last eight games:

Jim Piersall three hits in 21 at bats (.143), Vic Power 7-30 (.233), Rocky Colavito 3-27 (.111), Woodie Held 6-27 (.222), Billy Martin 4-19 (.211), Jim Baxes 2-16 (.125) and Russ Nixon 1-9 (.111).

The only batters doing any decent hitting have been Minnie Minoso with nine safe blows in 29 trips (.310), Ed FitzGerald 7-20 (.350) and Tito Francona 3-10 (.300).

The Indians have produced only 16 runs in those eight games, while the opposition has made 34.

Cleveland has its pitching rotation set up for the Yankee series this way: Bell tonight, Don Ferrarese against New York's Bob Turley Saturday afternoon, and Herb Score and Cal McLish facing the Yanks' Don Larsen and Duke Maas in the Sunday doubleheader.

A's Manager Pleased Over Trade With Yanks

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Count Manager Harry Craft of the Kansas City Athletics as among those "very pleased" with the latest trade involving the A's and the New York Yankees.

"Thus far the trade has made us a definitely stronger club," Craft said Thursday after the A's lost their first game in the last six — to Boston, 5-2.

The Athletics and Yankees appear to have gotten new spark from the deal of little more than a week ago. Kansas City gained infielder Jerry Lumpe, pitchers Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant, (plus another player to be named later) for Hector Lopez, long ball hitting infielder, and pitcher Ralph Terry.

The Athletics are only 2½ games out of first place. The Yankees, in last place at the time of the trade, are just 4½ from the top.

"Lumpe is fitting in real well at second base," Craft said. "The infield is beginning to jell for the first time as a defensive unit."

Kucks and Sturdivant, Craft said, are proving their worth. Kucks had won one and lost one since joining the A's. Sturdivant has won one here after two losses with the Yankees.

Gene Littler Takes Lead In Eastern Open

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Gene Littler is building up the belief that 1959 may be the year for him to reach the golf pinnacle freely predicted for him.

The way he methodically stroked out a 65, seven under par, in the opening round Thursday of the Eastern Open demonstrated his game was at its peak with the United States Golf Assn. championship a week away.

The 28-year-old from Singing Hills, Calif., came up to the Eastern with one of the best performance charts of the year. He had three Professional Golfers Assn. tourney titles on it, more than other tourist, and $15,936 for his best showing in six years of dollar competition.

Littler had absolutely no trouble solving the new Pine Ridge course being used for the $20,000 Eastern Open.

Despite his fast start, Littler was barely able to make it alone at the head of the pack of the 130 contestants. Ed (Porky) Oliver of Denver, a 20-year-veteran of the pro circuit, and Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., a sophomore without a victory, were breathing down his neck with 66 strokes.

Another quartet, Don January of Denver, Bill Lanton of Coronado, Calif., amateur John Eisenger of Bethesda, Md., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., stayed in hot contention with 67.

Twenty-seven more were under par 72 and 19 level with it.

Frank Beley, Canton, Ohio, shot a 38-37—75.

Stengel's Not Making Any Rash Predictions

CLEVELAND (AP) — Casey Stengel is pleased at the way things have been going lately for his New York Yankees, but he isn't making any rash predictions.

"We've won a few and we've looked better, but how long it's gonna last I don't know," Stengel observed cautiously as the Yankees arrived here from Detroit, where they bombed the Tigers 14-3 Thursday.

The Yankees now are 4½ games back and are in a three-way tie for fifth.

'Ban Boxing,' Magazine Says

LONDON (AP) — An influential British medical magazine has called for the total abolition of boxing and urged headmasters and parents to combine in a campaign to outlaw the sport.

The independent magazine Lancet, founded in 1823 and boasting a world-wide circulation, said individual doctors could help by warning boxers, headmasters, parents and sports enthusiasts who run boys' clubs about the danger of delayed brain injury.

Lancet reaches most of Britain's 45,000 doctors and is read by many more doctors in foreign countries.

"Sixty four deaths, including 25 amateurs, in four years is a prohibitive price to pay for a sport which makes the brain, and its exquisitely sensitive extensions such as the eye, legitimate — in fact main — targets," said Lancet's editorial. Those figures, it said, were based on a world-wide tally.

"If boxing causes fatal cerebral damage in a few contestants," the magazine said, "the natural conclusion is that it causes material brain damage in many more."

44-Night Meet Opens At Hamilton Raceway

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A leg of the "cross - country harness tracks of America pace" heads a 44-night meeting that starts tonight at Hamilton Raceway.

The featured pace is scheduled June 13 and is worth a guaranteed $5 victor.

Hamilton track officials said they plan 10 stake races during the meeting, with a total value of $15,000.

The track plans nine races nightly.

Rigney Predicts Giants, Pirates, Braves Flag Fight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bill Rigney, fiery manager of the San Francisco Giants, looks for a "dog-fight down to the finish" for the National League pennant with his club, Milwaukee and Pittsburgh scrapping for the title.

Warren Spahn, the Braves' veteran southpaw ace, however, couldn't see the Giants finishing on top despite the fact that San Francisco trounced Milwaukee 11-5 Thursday.

"When that final bell rings," said Spahn, "you can look for the Giants to finish third at the most. These guys are nothing more than a strong third or fourth place club. The Pirates are the club we've got to beat."

There will be anew pennant winner in the Carolina League this year. Danville, 1958 champion, dropped out due to the lack of a working agreement with a team in higher classification.

Yesterday's Stars

Hitting — Orlando Cepeda, Giants, drove in seven runs, five with a pair of homers, and had four hits in five trips in 11-5 victory over the Braves.

Pitching — Don Elston, Cubs, earned 3-2, 10-inning victory over the Phillies with 3 1-3 innings of hitless relief.

Bonnie Randolph Has 2-Point Edge In Golf

SUMMIT, N.J. (AP) — Bonnie Randolph carried a 2-point lead into the second round of the women's round robin tournament at Canoe Brook Country Club today.

The attractive 31-year-old Columbus, Ohio, shotmaker teed off against Fay Crocker, who trails by only six points; Betty Jameson, seven points in arrears, and Marlene Bauer Hagge, who had a shaky start and is minus-10.

Miss Randolph gained a plus-16 score in Thursday's opening round by shooting a par 72, one of the three par-matching scores of the day. She disposed of Louise Suggs, last year's winner; Ruth Jessen and Marilynn Smith.

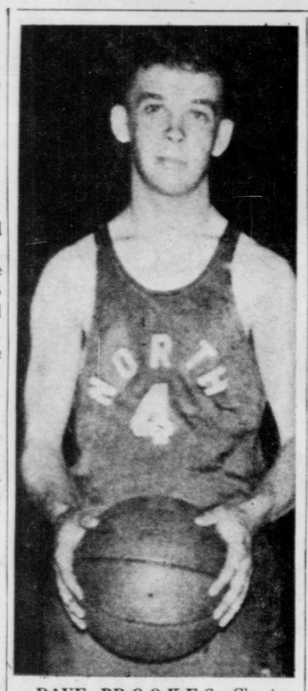
The Giants pounded Burdette (8-4), and two relievers for 15 hits. Gordon Jones (3-2) worked one inning of relief for the victory, although Stu Miller blanked the Braves on three hits over the last five frames.

A two-run triple by Bill Mazeroski clinched a three-game sweep for the Pirates as they scored four in the third inning against Ernie Broglio (0-4). Ron Kline (4-3) was the winner. Stan Musial of the Cards tied Honus Wagner's National League record with his 651st double.

The Reds scored three runs in the first against southpaw Danny McDevitt (3-5), then put it away with a 4-0 lead on doubles by Johnny Temple and Vada Pinson in the second. Joe Nuxhall (3-3) finished with an eight-hitter.

A one-out triple by George Altman and Sammy Taylor's sacrifice fly won it for the Cubs against Gene Conley (2-3), who allowed only five hits. The Cubs were shut out on one hit until Taylor homered in the sixth. Walt Moryn added an inside-the-park homer in the eighth for a 2-all tie after the Phils, blanked on four hits for six frames, chased Bob Anderson in a two-run seventh. Don Elston (4-1) won it with 3 1-3 innings of hitless relief.



DAVE BROOKES, Chester High cage star, will see action tonight at Parkersburg in the fourth annual North-South all-star basketball game. Brookes, who was named to the North squad, will be opposing all-state selection Rod Thorn of Princeton. A second game will be played Saturday at Williamson and a third game at Parkersburg Monday, if necessary.

Reds Earn 5-3 Victory Over Los Angeles

CINCINNATI (AP) — Catcher Dutch Dotterer is a rookie at 27 because his reputation is of a major league backstop but a minor league hitter.

But he may find an increasing work load if he can continue to hit big league pitching as he did Thursday night.

The Reds beat Los Angeles, 5-3, and Dotterer was in the thick of it, driving in one run in a 2-for-3 performance.

The Reds' front line catcher, Ed Bailey, who doesn't hit unusually well, either, said of Dotterer, "So far I like what I've seen of Dutch.

"He's a fine receiver, handles pitchers well, can throw with the best and can hit a ball downtown when he connects.

"Whether he'll hit often enough . . . remains to be seen."

The Reds Thursday night were riding high, stacking up an early 5-0 cushion for veteran southpaw Joe Nuxhall.

He got in a jam in the seventh inning and lost his shutout but Manager Mayo Smith just let him pick his own way out of the trouble.

In the first inning, Vada Pinson walked and singles by Pete Whisenant, Frank Robinson and Dotterer put over two runs. A hit batsman, Walt Dropo, filled the bases and Robinson scored a third run on a sacrifice.

A fourth Cincinnati run came in the second on straight doubles by Johnny Temple and Pinson. The fifth came in the fifth inning on another pair of doubles, by Frank Thomas and Roy McMillan.

Two innings later, the Dodgers broke through Nuxhall's control for their three runs. Three doubles in a row—by Gil Hodges, Rip Repulski and Ron Fairly — put over two runs and Don Zimmer singled in the third.

San Francisco moves in here tonight for the first of four games. Johnny Antonelli is slated to oppose Bob Purkey.

Bell Set To Hurl Against New York

CLEVELAND (AP) — If Cleveland's pennant hopes are built on more than dreams, the Indians will have to snap out of their batting trance in the four-game series starting tonight with the New York Yankees.

Gary Bell (4-4) was given the big assignment to open against Art Ditmar (2-4).

The Indians, losers of five in a row and seven of their last eight, dropped to second place Thursday as Chicago's White Sox won 6-5 in 17 innings to grab a half-game lead. The Yanks, who've won six of their last seven, now are only 4½ games behind the Tribe, who were idle Thursday.

Manager Joe Gordon has ordered the Indians to relax and try to forget their hitting troubles. There will be no pre-game batting practice, just the usual infield drill.

Here's how bad the Cleveland hitters have been during the last eight games:

Jim Piersall three hits in 21 at bats (.143), Vic Power 7-30 (.233), Rocky Colavito 3-27 (.111), Woodie Held 6-27 (.222), Billy Martin 4-19 (.211), Jim Baxes 2-16 (.125) and Russ Nixon 1-9 (.111).

The only batters doing any decent hitting have been Minnie Minoso with nine safe blows in 29 trips (.310), Ed FitzGerald 7-20 (.350) and Tito Francona 3-10 (.300).

The Indians have produced only 16 runs in those eight games, while the opposition has made 34.

Cleveland has its pitching rotation set up for the Yankee series this way: Bell tonight, Don Ferrarese against New York's Bob Turley Saturday afternoon, and Herb Score and Cal McLish facing the Yanks' Don Larsen and Duke Maas in the Sunday doubleheader.

A's Manager Pleased Over Trade With Yanks

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Count Manager Harry Craft of the Kansas City Athletics as among those "very pleased" with the latest trade involving the A's and the New York Yankees.

"Thus far the trade has made us a definitely stronger club," Craft said Thursday after the A's lost their first game in the last six — to Boston, 5-2.

The Athletics and Yankees appear to have gotten new spark from the deal of little more than a week ago. Kansas City gained infielder Jerry Lumpe, pitchers Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant, (plus another player to be named later) for Hector Lopez, long ball hitting infielder, and pitcher Ralph Terry.

The Athletics are only 2½ games out of first place. The Yankees, in last place at the time of the trade, are just 4½ from the top.

"Lumpe is fitting in real well at second base," Craft said. "The infield is beginning to jell for the first time as a defensive unit."

Kucks and Sturdivant, Craft said, are proving their worth. Kucks had won one and lost one since joining the A's. Sturdivant has won one here after two losses with the Yankees.

Gene Littler Takes Lead In Eastern Open

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Gene Littler is building up the belief that 1959 may be the year for him to reach the golf pinnacle freely predicted for him.

The way he methodically stroked out a 65, seven under par, in the opening round Thursday of the Eastern Open demonstrated his game was at its peak with the United States Golf Assn. championship a week away.

The 28-year-old from Singing Hills, Calif., came up to the Eastern with one of the best performance charts of the year. He had three Professional Golfers Assn. tourney titles on it, more than other tourist, and $15,936 for his best showing in six years of dollar competition.

Littler had absolutely no trouble solving the new Pine Ridge course being used for the $20,000 Eastern Open.

Despite his fast start, Littler was barely able to make it alone at the head of the pack of the 130 contestants. Ed (Porky) Oliver of Denver, a 20-year-veteran of the pro circuit, and Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., a sophomore without a victory, were breathing down his neck with 66 strokes.

Another quartet, Don January of Denver, Bill Lanton of Coronado, Calif., amateur John Eisenger of Bethesda, Md., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., stayed in hot contention with 67.

Twenty-seven more were under par 72 and 19 level with it.

Frank Beley, Canton, Ohio, shot a 38-37—75.

Stengel's Not Making Any Rash Predictions

CLEVELAND (AP) — Casey Stengel is pleased at the way things have been going lately for his New York Yankees, but he isn't making any rash predictions.

"We've won a few and we've looked better, but how long it's gonna last I don't know," Stengel observed cautiously as the Yankees arrived here from Detroit, where they bombed the Tigers 14-3 Thursday.

The Yankees now are 4½ games back and are in a three-way tie for fifth.

'Ban Boxing,' Magazine Says

LONDON (AP) — An influential British medical magazine has called for the total abolition of boxing and urged headmasters and parents to combine in a campaign to outlaw the sport.

The independent magazine Lancet, founded in 1823 and boasting a world-wide circulation, said individual doctors could help by warning boxers, headmasters, parents and sports enthusiasts who run boys' clubs about the danger of delayed brain injury.

Lancet reaches most of Britain's 45,000 doctors and is read by many more doctors in foreign countries.

"Sixty four deaths, including 25 amateurs, in four years is a prohibitive price to pay for a sport which makes the brain, and its exquisitely sensitive extensions such as the eye, legitimate — in fact main — targets," said Lancet's editorial. Those figures, it said, were based on a world-wide tally.

"If boxing causes fatal cerebral damage in a few contestants," the magazine said, "the natural conclusion is that it causes material brain damage in many more."

Rigney Predicts Giants, Pirates, Braves Flag Fight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bill Rigney, fiery manager of the San Francisco Giants, looks for a "dog-fight down to the finish" for the National League pennant with his club, Milwaukee and Pittsburgh scrapping for the title.

Warren Spahn, the Braves' veteran southpaw ace, however, couldn't see the Giants finishing on top despite the fact that San Francisco trounced Milwaukee 11-5 Thursday.

"When that final bell rings," said Spahn, "you can look for the Giants to finish third at the most. These guys are nothing more than a strong third or fourth place club. The Pirates are the club we've got to beat."

There will be anew pennant winner in the Carolina League this year. Danville, 1958 champion, dropped out due to the lack of a working agreement with a team in higher classification.

Bonnie Randolph Has 2-Point Edge In Golf

SUMMIT, N.J. (AP) — Bonnie Randolph carried a 2-point lead into the second round of the women's round robin tournament at Canoe Brook Country Club today.

The attractive 31-year-old Columbus, Ohio, shotmaker teed off against Fay Crocker, who trails by only six points; Betty Jameson, seven points in arrears, and Marlene Bauer Hagge, who had a shaky start and is minus-10.

Miss Randolph gained a plus-16 score in Thursday's opening round by shooting a par 72, one of the three par-matching scores of the day. She disposed of Louise Suggs, last year's winner; Ruth Jessen and Marilynn Smith.

Between Recruit, Captain

Personal Grudge Ignited Current Unrest In Ecuador

By THOMAS J. STONE

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP)—Ecuador's biggest disturbance in years grew out of a personal grudge between a raw army recruit and his spit-and-polish captain.

Within a week at least 25 persons were dead, including the soldier and officer, and 150 were injured.

The entire country is under martial law.

President Camilo Ponce in decreeing martial law declared he was acting "to save the republic from anarchy and aggression." His press officer charged that Communists exploited last week's initial outbreak at Porto Viejo, brought on by a squabble between recruit Pablo Antonio Garcia and Capt. Galo Quevado.

The trouble between the soldier and his captain broke out May 28 in Porto Viejo.

A witness said the recruit thought the captain was assigning him all the dirty details, and taking away some of his privileges.

When the recruits started out on a training exercise, the soldier lagged behind. At the first chance, he opened fire on the captain.

The officer fell to the ground and the soldier turned the gun on himself and committed suicide. The captain was unhurt.

When the captain showed up the next day at the soldier's funeral, the youth's mother threw rocks at him. Others began pushing him around and in seconds the mourners were ready to lynch him. The captain fled.

Recruits, soldiers and even youngsters, marched to the officers club and set fire to the building and fired shot after shot into it. The captain—his uniform and hair aflame—staggered out.

The rioters pumped bullets into the captain.

They threw a rope around his neck and dragged him through the streets, then dumped his body in a cemetery.

Charge Is Reduced

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A kidnaping charge against Allen Harold Knupp, 20, one of four youths accused in connection with an attack on a 15-year-old Struthers girl last fall, has been reduced to simple assault. Common Pleas Judge Erskine Maiden Jr. reduced that charge and dismissed a rape indictment Thursday. Sentence was deferred pending a probation hearing.

Five More Ohio Schools Face Loss Of Their Charters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Five more Ohio high schools appear on the verge of losing their charters because of failing to meet minimum state standards.

Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, says he will recommend to the Board of Education Monday that these schools lose their charters:

Carbon Hill and Gibisonville locals in Hocking County, Amity in Knox County, Whestone in Crawford County and Moscow in Clermont County.

The Education Department says they are among 22 schools whose curricula, equipment or other requirements do not meet state standards.

A number of the other schools have requested hearings before the department's attorney - referee, whose recommendations are being studied by the board.

Holt also announced that Congress has appropriated an additional $1,448,521 for Ohio schools which meet standards of the National Defense Education Act.

The allocation means that each approved classroom teacher unit will get $32 for strengthening instruction in foreign languages, science and mathematics.

Personnel Needs Outlined For Club

A "Need for Trained Personnel" was the topic of a talk by Glenn Roberts, supervisor of employment at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., at a meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday at Larry's Restaurant.

Roberts explained how tests are used and how personnel is classified. Concerning problems in Midland, he said Crucible is concerned with keeping its employment limited to a certain area — East Liverpool, Midland and vicinity—due to distance workers must travel.

John Scully was program chairman. David Schwerha president, said that service clubs of Beaver County, including Rotary, Kiwanis and Optimist, will sponsor the kick-off dinner June 23 for the Conscience Crusade at the New Brighton firemen's hall.

The Midland club is planning a Rotary Ann outing June 17 at the Country Club. Scully will be program chairman. Next meeting will be Thursday.

Fourth Suspect Jailed In Robbery At Lisbon

LISBON — Jennings (Jiggs) Eakle, 29, of Carrollton R. D. 2 was bound over to the Grand Jury Thursday evening by Mayor John Todd after pleading not guilty to armed robbery. Bond was set at $3,000.

Eakle is one of four men alleged to have held up Henry Poage, 219 S. Market St., on April 28. They threatened Poage with a pistol, took $20 then fled with two shot guns and a rifle.

The others, who also pleaded innocent and were bound over, are Donald Eakle, 18, of Carrollton R. D. 2 and Roy Elliott, 18, and Noah Boggess, 20, both of Amsterdam.

Arrest of the older Eakle had to await his release from jail in Jefferson County, where he had been held on another charge.

'No Gasoline In A Jug,' District Dealers Warn

Gasoline dealers in Tri-State communities joined in a reminder today the fuel cannot be sold for "carry-out" in glass containers.

Spokesmen said the warning came as the result of a flood of requests in Chester for gasoline in jugs, apparently for use in power lawn mowers.

State law forbids sale of gasoline in anything but metal containers in Ohio and West Virginia and a Midland dealer said gasoline can be sold only in cans in Pennsylvania.

The principal complaint against glass or stone jugs is that the fuel expands and cracks the container if left in the sun, creating a fire hazard.

Salem Man Sentenced

LISBON — Paul Lester Elson, 36, of Salem was sentenced to 1-15 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp after his request for probation was denied. Elson pleaded guilty Jan. 19, to attempted rape of a minor female. He was sent to the Lima State Hospital for 60 days observation and report before sentencing.

Air Force Experts Make Desert Drive To War II Plane

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—U.S. Air Force experts drove through the heat of the Libyan desert today on their way to an American Liberator bomber that 16 years ago made an amazing unmanned landing.

The big World War II plane lies in the desert about 380 miles south of Bengasi. A team of exploring geologists found it recently. There was no trace of the crew.

An Air Force spokesman said today it seemed likely the crew had bailed out after a bombing raid on Naples in 1943, and that the plane landed on its own after its fuel ran out.

"The water jugs were still full," he said. "If they had tried to make it across the desert, they certainly would have taken all the water they could."

The spokesman said efforts are being made in Washington to identify the crew.

The farm produces corn, oats and wheat, and livestock. Some of its stock goes for meat for the County Infirmary.

Some of Mayhew's conservation practices included contour strip farming, tree planting and improved watering troughs.

Between Recruit, Captain

Personal Grudge Ignited Current Unrest In Ecuador

By THOMAS J. STONE

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP)—Ecuador's biggest disturbance in years grew out of a personal grudge between a raw army recruit and his spit-and-polish captain.

Within a week at least 25 persons were dead, including the soldier and officer, and 150 were injured.

The entire country is under martial law.

President Camilo Ponce in decreeing martial law declared he was acting "to save the republic from anarchy and aggression." His press officer charged that Communists exploited last week's initial outbreak at Porto Viejo, brought on by a squabble between recruit Pablo Antonio Garcia and Capt. Galo Quevado.

The trouble between the soldier and his captain broke out May 28 in Porto Viejo.

A witness said the recruit thought the captain was assigning him all the dirty details, and taking away some of his privileges.

When the recruits started out on a training exercise, the soldier lagged behind. At the first chance, he opened fire on the captain.

The officer fell to the ground and the soldier turned the gun on himself and committed suicide. The captain was unhurt.

When the captain showed up the next day at the soldier's funeral, the youth's mother threw rocks at him. Others began pushing him around and in seconds the mourners were ready to lynch him. The captain fled.

Recruits, soldiers and even youngsters, marched to the officers club and set fire to the building and fired shot after shot into it. The captain—his uniform and hair aflame—staggered out.

The rioters pumped bullets into the captain.

They threw a rope around his neck and dragged him through the streets, then dumped his body in a cemetery.

Charge Is Reduced

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A kidnaping charge against Allen Harold Knupp, 20, one of four youths accused in connection with an attack on a 15-year-old Struthers girl last fall, has been reduced to simple assault. Common Pleas Judge Erskine Maiden Jr. reduced that charge and dismissed a rape indictment Thursday. Sentence was deferred pending a probation hearing.

Five More Ohio Schools Face Loss Of Their Charters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Five more Ohio high schools appear on the verge of losing their charters because of failing to meet minimum state standards.

Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, says he will recommend to the Board of Education Monday that these schools lose their charters:

Carbon Hill and Gibisonville locals in Hocking County, Amity in Knox County, Whestone in Crawford County and Moscow in Clermont County.

The Education Department says they are among 22 schools whose curricula, equipment or other requirements do not meet state standards.

A number of the other schools have requested hearings before the department's attorney - referee, whose recommendations are being studied by the board.

Holt also announced that Congress has appropriated an additional $1,448,521 for Ohio schools which meet standards of the National Defense Education Act.

The allocation means that each approved classroom teacher unit will get $32 for strengthening instruction in foreign languages, science and mathematics.

Personnel Needs Outlined For Club

A "Need for Trained Personnel" was the topic of a talk by Glenn Roberts, supervisor of employment at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., at a meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday at Larry's Restaurant.

Roberts explained how tests are used and how personnel is classified. Concerning problems in Midland, he said Crucible is concerned with keeping its employment limited to a certain area — East Liverpool, Midland and vicinity—due to distance workers must travel.

John Scully was program chairman. David Schwerha president, said that service clubs of Beaver County, including Rotary, Kiwanis and Optimist, will sponsor the kick-off dinner June 23 for the Conscience Crusade at the New Brighton firemen's hall.

The Midland club is planning a Rotary Ann outing June 17 at the Country Club. Scully will be program chairman. Next meeting will be Thursday.

Fourth Suspect Jailed In Robbery At Lisbon

LISBON — Jennings (Jiggs) Eakle, 29, of Carrollton R. D. 2 was bound over to the Grand Jury Thursday evening by Mayor John Todd after pleading not guilty to armed robbery. Bond was set at $3,000.

Eakle is one of four men alleged to have held up Henry Poage, 219 S. Market St., on April 28. They threatened Poage with a pistol, took $20 then fled with two shot guns and a rifle.

The others, who also pleaded innocent and were bound over, are Donald Eakle, 18, of Carrollton R. D. 2 and Roy Elliott, 18, and Noah Boggess, 20, both of Amsterdam.

Arrest of the older Eakle had to await his release from jail in Jefferson County, where he had been held on another charge.

The fifth in a series of six weekly classes on home preparedness against natural or enemy caused disaster was conducted for women of the Salvation Army Wednesday night at the E. 3rd St. Citadel.

Mrs. Ila Shingler, instructress of Nurses at City Hospital, spoke on emergency sanitation in the home. She was assisted by Mrs. Freda Toft and Miss Mary Burkhart of the Women's Civil Defense Council, which sponsors the course.

In the final class, Fire Chief Charles Bryan will speak on "Fire-Fighting for Householders" next Wednesday night. He will be assisted by Mrs. Evelyn Balser and Mrs. Doris Freeman of the women's CD group. A film, "The House in the Middle," also will be screened.

'No Gasoline In A Jug,' District Dealers Warn

Gasoline dealers in Tri-State communities joined in a reminder today the fuel cannot be sold for "carry-out" in glass containers.

Spokesmen said the warning came as the result of a flood of requests in Chester for gasoline in jugs, apparently for use in power lawn mowers.

State law forbids sale of gasoline in anything but metal containers in Ohio and West Virginia and a Midland dealer said gasoline can be sold only in cans in Pennsylvania.

The principal complaint against glass or stone jugs is that the fuel expands and cracks the container if left in the sun, creating a fire hazard.

Salem Man Sentenced

LISBON — Paul Lester Elson, 36, of Salem was sentenced to 1-15 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp after his request for probation was denied. Elson pleaded guilty Jan. 19, to attempted rape of a minor female. He was sent to the Lima State Hospital for 60 days observation and report before sentencing.

Air Force Experts Make Desert Drive To War II Plane

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—U.S. Air Force experts drove through the heat of the Libyan desert today on their way to an American Liberator bomber that 16 years ago made an amazing unmanned landing.

The big World War II plane lies in the desert about 380 miles south of Bengasi. A team of exploring geologists found it recently. There was no trace of the crew.

An Air Force spokesman said today it seemed likely the crew had bailed out after a bombing raid on Naples in 1943, and that the plane landed on its own after its fuel ran out.

"The water jugs were still full," he said. "If they had tried to make it across the desert, they certainly would have taken all the water they could."

The spokesman said efforts are being made in Washington to identify the crew.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Inspiration Offered Teen-Age Fatties

Which type of friend do you think helps an overweight find happiness? Is it the one who laughs and remarks, "Who wants to diet, come on, let's have a soda!" Or is it the one who promises, "Dieting isn't hard after the first few days. I wouldn't give up my new found figure and happiness for anything!"

Ida Jean Kain

A real friend encourages you to be a stronger person, for it is victory over self that brings the greatest happiness. A teenager, hoping to help other girls, sends in this inspiring report:

"I am a 16-year-old girl, a junior in high school, and I've just discovered that the teenage years don't have to be an ordeal. . .they can be a joy.

"AFTER NUMEROUS attempts at reducing, I found myself facing a new school term at a most ungainly weight. . .165 pounds. I decided it was no longer 'baby fat' and that it was high time I decided to do something definite about reducing.

"I must admit it was hard for the first week, but from then on, calorie curbing turned into a challenge. I know that I will have to eat right and avoid the fatteners always. But it's worth it! I wouldn't give up my new found figure and happiness for anything.

"I now weigh 134 and would like to lose another 4 or 5 pounds. I'm 5 feet 7½ and I'm not sure what my weight should be. But what a difference 30 pounds off makes. . . it's like emerging from night into sunshine! Whereas before I took a 15 full dress (no sheaths for this gal then) and an 18 skirt (luck), I now wear a size 11 full dress and 13 sheath, and a 12 or 14 skirt.

"I no longer walk into a store and buy the first thing that fits. Now there's a choice. . .it's great. My friends and relatives have nothing but compliments for my new figure, and miracle of miracles, even my older brother (the monster) enjoys introducing me to his buddies. I hope other overweight teen-agers will learn the joys that come with reducing—the way I have."

Cheers! You're exactly the right weight. For your height you are entitled to carry 135 pounds. Stick with exercise — you will keep your shapely proportions and it will be easier for you to control your weight. Toned muscles rebuff the fat and also help you to look and feel willowy slim.

THANK YOU for sharing your victory with us. I know from the letters that success stories really do "catch on."

Teenagers, get with calorie curbing. Do you want to be fat all through your dating years?

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for leaflet entitled "Teenage Slimming Challenge." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Ignore Tantrums To Avoid Repetition

If you say No to a child when you are sure you should, and stick to it, no matter what his age, he may have a tantrum. If you don't say No, you encourage more tantrums later. He surely will have more tantrums if you say No and then change to Yes when he goes into a rage. An unrewarded tantrum now may prevent a hundred tantrums later. The surest way to encourage a little child to have tantrums is to pay him for them by eventually letting him have his way. Another source of tantrums, especially with the youngster from two to five, is to force the child to do what you want him to do—pick up a block, bring you a book, close the door.

By Garry Meyers

You can beat the child, but he won't do such things if he is determined not to do them.

EXCEPT FOR most routine matters, it is wise not to command the little child to do this or not to do that. If you do command him, and he refuses, you may have a violent tantrum on your hands.

A wiser way, in such instances, is to make a request. Then be so winsome as to cause him to choose to comply and co-operate. Having requested him, you should have no more occasion to force his compliance than you would if the request had been made of your husband.

Before making the request, be sure you have the resources to win the child's compliance. If you observe these simple rules, you will prevent many needless tantrums.

Daddy is romping with his son, 3. If he suddenly says, "No more," the lad may fly into a rage. He hardly would if Dad had said: "Just two more times."

—:—

OR IF DAD is reading to this child, announcement of "Just one more story" might easily prevent a tantrum or even crying. Or if, while the tot is playing outdoors, you give him a warning that he will be called to come in "after a few minutes," he may come in without resistance.

When a rage is on, you must not be indecisive. Your word must be dependable. You must also be sure you are not affected by his tantrums.

My bulletins, "Tantrums: Prevention and Correction" and "Stubbornness," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Steps Are Taken To Remedy Ohio Mental Hospitals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The man who directed a survey of Ohio's mental hospital conditions has been told what steps are being taken by state officials to remedy the situation.

Dr. Robert A. Haines, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, met Thursday with Jay W. Collins, the survey chief, but did not go into details of their talk.

Collins, director of a Euclid hospital, told newsmen after the conference that he plans to make it a regular monthly practice of reviewing the department's progress.

After each monthly meeting, he said, he will report to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, who appointed him to make the survey, on the adequacy of the department's approach. He conferred briefly with DiSalle after yesterday's session.

Strikers Reject Offer Of Ice Cream Group

CLEVELAND (AP) — Striking plant workers and drivers of 22 ice cream manufacturers here rejected a new wage offer proposed by management Thursday night, 120-101.

The plants were struck May 26. A union spokesman said the companies offered a six-cent hourly increase for plant workers. The union wants eight cents. The drivers are seeking an increase in their commission on frozen novelties from two to three cents a dozen. The company offered drivers an increase in weekly base pay of $2.25 to $68.75.

Film Director Dies

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Charles Vidor, 59, one of Hollywood's leading film directors for 30 years, died Thursday of a heart attack. Vidor was in Vienna to direct a film based on the life of Franz Liszt.

Celebrezze Proposes Plan To Fight Floods

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze is proposing an area-wide program to combat flash floods.

The mayor said Thursday he will ask suburban and Cleveland officials to meet next week to discuss an interrelated sewer construction program.

The mayor said it is ridiculous for area communities "to be going separate ways on building various size sewers that do not meet the problem properly."

Flash floods Monday caused damage to public property in the greater Cleveland area up to an estimated 10 million dollars. Celebrezze and three suburban mayors still are awaiting word on their requests that greater Cleveland be declared a disaster area, eligible for federal funds.

Putka Plans Move To Gain 'Spent Fund'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Supt. Andrew Putka of the Ohio Building and Loan Division says he will institute civil action to recover money spent from the division's liquidation fund.

A state auditor's report, released Wednesday, questioned the expenditure of more than $400,000 in fund money during a period from Jan. 1, 1946 to last April 1. It also questioned the legality of the fund itself.

Putka said Thursday he will institute the civil action against Mrs. Mary Nagle, suspended deputy supervisor of the liquidation section; Francis L. Vesy and Benson S. Smith, former division superintendents, and Nicholas J. Cziamba, ex-deputy superintendent.

Mrs. Nagel put in claims for 3,690 hours of what Putka called unauthorized overtime in 1952-53. Putka said only two savings and loan institutions were involved in liquidation proceedings during that period.

Mrs. Nagle, he added, didn't file the $9,418.50 overtime claim until 1958. He said she previously had received some overtime payments for 1952-53.

Inspiration Offered Teen-Age Fatties

Which type of friend do you think helps an overweight find happiness? Is it the one who laughs and remarks, "Who wants to diet, come on, let's have a soda!" Or is it the one who promises, "Dieting isn't hard after the first few days. I wouldn't give up my new found figure and happiness for anything!"

Ida Jean Kain

A real friend encourages you to be a stronger person, for it is victory over self that brings the greatest happiness. A teenager, hoping to help other girls, sends in this inspiring report:

"I am a 16-year-old girl, a junior in high school, and I've just discovered that the teenage years don't have to be an ordeal. . .they can be a joy.

"AFTER NUMEROUS attempts at reducing, I found myself facing a new school term at a most ungainly weight. . .165 pounds. I decided it was no longer 'baby fat' and that it was high time I decided to do something definite about reducing.

"I must admit it was hard for the first week, but from then on, calorie curbing turned into a challenge. I know that I will have to eat right and avoid the fatteners always. But it's worth it! I wouldn't give up my new found figure and happiness for anything.

"I now weigh 134 and would like to lose another 4 or 5 pounds. I'm 5 feet 7½ and I'm not sure what my weight should be. But what a difference 30 pounds off makes. . . it's like emerging from night into sunshine! Whereas before I took a 15 full dress (no sheaths for this gal then) and an 18 skirt (luck), I now wear a size 11 full dress and 13 sheath, and a 12 or 14 skirt.

"I no longer walk into a store and buy the first thing that fits. Now there's a choice. . .it's great. My friends and relatives have nothing but compliments for my new figure, and miracle of miracles, even my older brother (the monster) enjoys introducing me to his buddies. I hope other overweight teen-agers will learn the joys that come with reducing—the way I have."

Cheers! You're exactly the right weight. For your height you are entitled to carry 135 pounds. Stick with exercise — you will keep your shapely proportions and it will be easier for you to control your weight. Toned muscles rebuff the fat and also help you to look and feel willowy slim.

THANK YOU for sharing your victory with us. I know from the letters that success stories really do "catch on."

Teenagers, get with calorie curbing. Do you want to be fat all through your dating years?

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for leaflet entitled "Teenage Slimming Challenge." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Ignore Tantrums To Avoid Repetition

If you say No to a child when you are sure you should, and stick to it, no matter what his age, he may have a tantrum. If you don't say No, you encourage more tantrums later. He surely will have more tantrums if you say No and then change to Yes when he goes into a rage. An unrewarded tantrum now may prevent a hundred tantrums later. The surest way to encourage a little child to have tantrums is to pay him for them by eventually letting him have his way. Another source of tantrums, especially with the youngster from two to five, is to force the child to do what you want him to do—pick up a block, bring you a book, close the door.

By Garry Meyers

You can beat the child, but he won't do such things if he is determined not to do them.

EXCEPT FOR most routine matters, it is wise not to command the little child to do this or not to do that. If you do command him, and he refuses, you may have a violent tantrum on your hands.

A wiser way, in such instances, is to make a request. Then be so winsome as to cause him to choose to comply and co-operate. Having requested him, you should have no more occasion to force his compliance than you would if the request had been made of your husband.

Before making the request, be sure you have the resources to win the child's compliance. If you observe these simple rules, you will prevent many needless tantrums.

Daddy is romping with his son, 3. If he suddenly says, "No more," the lad may fly into a rage. He hardly would if Dad had said: "Just two more times."

—:—

OR IF DAD is reading to this child, announcement of "Just one more story" might easily prevent a tantrum or even crying. Or if, while the tot is playing outdoors, you give him a warning that he will be called to come in "after a few minutes," he may come in without resistance.

When a rage is on, you must not be indecisive. Your word must be dependable. You must also be sure you are not affected by his tantrums.

My bulletins, "Tantrums: Prevention and Correction" and "Stubbornness," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Steps Are Taken To Remedy Ohio Mental Hospitals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The man who directed a survey of Ohio's mental hospital conditions has been told what steps are being taken by state officials to remedy the situation.

Dr. Robert A. Haines, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, met Thursday with Jay W. Collins, the survey chief, but did not go into details of their talk.

Collins, director of a Euclid hospital, told newsmen after the conference that he plans to make it a regular monthly practice of reviewing the department's progress.

After each monthly meeting, he said, he will report to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, who appointed him to make the survey, on the adequacy of the department's approach. He conferred briefly with DiSalle after yesterday's session.

Strikers Reject Offer Of Ice Cream Group

CLEVELAND (AP) — Striking plant workers and drivers of 22 ice cream manufacturers here rejected a new wage offer proposed by management Thursday night, 120-101.

The plants were struck May 26. A union spokesman said the companies offered a six-cent hourly increase for plant workers. The union wants eight cents. The drivers are seeking an increase in their commission on frozen novelties from two to three cents a dozen. The company offered drivers an increase in weekly base pay of $2.25 to $68.75.

Celebrezze Proposes Plan To Fight Floods

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze is proposing an area-wide program to combat flash floods.

The mayor said Thursday he will ask suburban and Cleveland officials to meet next week to discuss an interrelated sewer construction program.

The mayor said it is ridiculous for area communities "to be going separate ways on building various size sewers that do not meet the problem properly."

Flash floods Monday caused damage to public property in the greater Cleveland area up to an estimated 10 million dollars. Celebrezze and three suburban mayors still are awaiting word on their requests that greater Cleveland be declared a disaster area, eligible for federal funds.

Putka Plans Move To Gain 'Spent Fund'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Supt. Andrew Putka of the Ohio Building and Loan Division says he will institute civil action to recover money spent from the division's liquidation fund.

A state auditor's report, released Wednesday, questioned the expenditure of more than $400,000 in fund money during a period from Jan. 1, 1946 to last April 1. It also questioned the legality of the fund itself.

Putka said Thursday he will institute the civil action against Mrs. Mary Nagle, suspended deputy supervisor of the liquidation section; Francis L. Vesy and Benson S. Smith, former division superintendents, and Nicholas J. Cziamba, ex-deputy superintendent.

Mrs. Nagel put in claims for 3,690 hours of what Putka called unauthorized overtime in 1952-53. Putka said only two savings and loan institutions were involved in liquidation proceedings during that period.

Mrs. Nagle, he added, didn't file the $9,418.50 overtime claim until 1958. He said she previously had received some overtime payments for 1952-53.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

3 CARD OF THANKS

WE wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all our kind friends, neighbors, relatives and Local 138 whose expressions of sympathy meant so much to us in the death of our beloved wife and mother Mrs. Jennie Fraser. Especially we thank the McLean Funeral home and Major Murtaugh and his coworkers of the Salvation Army for their beautiful service.
The Family

MANY heartfelt thanks and prayers go out from us to those who were so near and helpful to the Cameron family during the recent tragic death of our two loved ones William and Frank L. Cameron in auto and truck accident. Special thanks to City Hospital Nursing staff, Dr. Lauva, Dr. Gerace, the many ministers who were so dear, the floral offerings which were so beautiful and the Martin Funeral Home for their kindness and wonderful work, and all those who helped assist us in the arrangements and donated cars. Thanks to my friends and former neighbors on Valley Ave., Price St. and Lisbon, Ohio. Also special thanks to blood donors and those who brought foods and baked goods to our home. —Mrs. Helen Reed & Children, Mrs. Frank Cameron & Sons Richard & Robert.

Senate Ready For Debate On Strauss Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate was ready today to start debate on the nomination of Lewis L. Strauss to be secretary of commerce.

Opposing sides drew their battle lines in majority and minority reports filed Thursday night by the Senate Commerce Committee.

The committee previously had divided 9-8 in recommending confirmation of Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. He has been serving since last November under a recess appointment.

Strauss' nomination, submitted to the Senate Jan. 17, has stirred up the hottest fight of any appointment made by President Eisenhower. The Senate is not expected to reach a vote on it before the week after next.

Senators generally have been predicting a close vote, with many agreeing a margin of one or two votes either way will decide the issue.

If all the 98 senators vote, Strauss would need 49 or 50 to win. Vice President Richard M. Nixon could break a deadlock in Strauss' favor if a 49-49 tie should develop.

Meanwhile, Nick Zubick, 45, of 1705 Etruria St. told police the rear of his 1959 model auto was damaged in a mishap Thursday at 3:30 p. m. on Harvey Ave. 100 feet west of Putnam St. Zubick said he was halted in the traffic lane when his car was hit from the rear by an unidentified auto.

The case is being heard by Hooper and Judge Boyd Sloan, without a jury. Both men have ruled against segregation in recent cases.
